"I catch but the near light, the far light, Of eyes that are luming for me." The second of the night, the far light, Of eyes that are luming for me." The second of the night, the far light, Of eyes that are luming for me." The second of the night, of the roses, "May burden the air for thee, Sweet,- "Tie only the breath of thy sighting I know, as I lie at thy feet. The winds may be sobbing or sinving. "Their touch unay be fervent or cold." The air touch unay be for your or not for The night bells may toll or be ringing The are not, with the oin my hold The feast may go on, and the music Be scattered in cestacy round "The though the out in the sound." I think not of time that is flying. How whort is the hour I have won. How near is the living to dying. "How the shadow still follows the sun : There is anught upon earth, no desire." "Worth a thought, though 'twere had by a sign! I love thee? I love thee? I for January. Mr. Gladstone to hold aloof from Parliament Work. London, Dec. 11. The report of Mr. Gladstone's intention to hold aloof from Parliamentiary work next session is corroborated by the an- nouncement that his residence in Carl- ton-house. Terrace is for sale, or that the lease of it is, which is probably all he owns, and in one form or another, all that can usually be bought in London in the shape of house property.
