LETTER

From Corporal W. H. Snyder

Army Remount Depot, Durban, Natal, June 22nd, 1901.

Dear Mr. Editor,—It is raining as it only rains in Africa. Consequently I am at leisure and shall try and get off a letter to the ADVERTISER. I as you doubtless know was transferred from my headquarters at Heidelberg in the Transvaal to Durban along with five other Canadians to oversee the unloading and despatch of horses up country. So far we have sent up about a thousand. There are 6000 yet to come. I expect however to rejoin my corps very soon as Capt. Moore said as soon as our troop was supplied with horses he wanted me.

I went up country last week with a train load of Australian horses leaving on Sunday and arriving at Heidelberg on Saturday. After we left Natal we could not travel by night. We had something to break the monotony, as after we left Standerton our train all but two links ran off the track. The Boers had derailed us, but our engineer had noticed it, so, although too late to stop running off, yet we were going so slow no damage was done. I had to have all the horses entrained and with six Kaffirs drove them to Vonkrust.

When I got to Heidelberg I found a great many changes. I was glad to find Lamont of Biltown back, looking all right after his sickness. But a great many of the boys are away in Hospital, some very ill indeed. Lockhart I did not see as he was on guard, but he is well I only had six hours there when I had to start back.

Captain Moore and Lieut. Willets of Windsor, are fairly idolized by the boys. The troop started off as escort over a convoy just as I left. There has been a great shaking up in the squadron, which is called a troop, consisting of one captain, one lieutenant, a sergeant major, quartermaster sergeant, two sergeants, six corporals and eighty seven troopers, four of whom are first class troopers, four second class the rest third class commissioned officers are:

Sergeant major	$2.74 a day
Quartermaster sergeant	2.52
Sergeants	2.40
Corporals	2.28
1st class trooper	2.16
2nd "	1.92
3rd "	1.68

This of course is clear as everything is found. So you see the rate of pay is very good. To those who wish to indulge in the luxury of a wife $25, a month extra is allowed. The boys have formed football, cricket and baseball clubs.

Its very cold in the Transvaal now, quite different from here in Durban where some days its most awfully hot, yet this is African winter.

I had a letter from Captain Moore saying he had been ordered to take his troop to Roodekop, so I guess the boys will soon get what a lot of them are looking for, viz an "introduction to the Boers." I found everybody is wishing for one thing, some long distractedly for it, some merely wish despondently for it, in a sudden way, and others just "wish it" to happen as soon as possible or sooner. The officer thinks of, and longs for the time to come, when he shall once again be seated amongst his magnificence, his town and country houses, his club, his shooting boxes; when he shall again whirl with a charming partner on a glassy ball room floor, to the strains of a first class band in the dreamy waltz or the exhilarating lancers.

"Tommy" longs for the return to his "old woman" his favorite "pup" his "kids" and his jovial though perhaps noisy companions. If he has no "old woman" he thinks of his "girl." He remembers the "preees" he had, the black eyes he got in certain "shakes," and those he presented to other people, and he smacks his lips as he thinks of good old English ale and he longs for dear old England again.

The old Boer who has surrendered and who sees there is no hope for his side, thinks of his two roomed house on the farm, its low ceiling hung with drying tobacco, he remembers the old black cow he bought from some Kaffir for a sovereign and that he had been offered ten pounds for just before the war, the stone wall round his little garden and his old brown pony that could keep up his one easy, gentle pace, hour after hour, mile after mile without seeming tired. He thinks of when he was at home with his old "brou" and half grown children smacking away in dreamy bliss hour after hour and drinking coffee with all his friends and he shakes his head mournfully as he realizes that some of his friends will pay him no more calls.

The native wishes the war over, he feels its a long time since his cattle, or horses and sheep came home in safety, a mile or more away from his kraal. His crops may be burned by the British to save them from falling into the hands of the Dutch and vice-versa. His kraal may happen to be in the firing line at any moment. In fact everyone is sick of the war. For my part I should not be surprised to see it last another twelve months.

But I must close this rambling letter. Hoping dear old "King's" is having its full share of prosperity and that Lockhart, Lamont and myself may in the future return safe and sound. I am,

Most sincerely yours,
Corporal W. H. SNYDER,
17th Troop, S. A. C. Division,
