

Was Terribly Afflicted With Lame Back.

Could Not Sweep The Floor.

It is hard to do house work with a weak and aching back.

Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for lame, weak or aching backs and for all kidney troubles.

Mrs. Napoleon Larmour Smith's Falls, Ont., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, and was so bad I could not even sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and with the greatest benefit. I only used three boxes and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back and kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

DR. WILLIAMS' Fly & Insect Destroyer

MANUFACTURED BY BAKER & BOUCK

Have you money to invest? How would you like to make 1,000% on your investment? You can do it.

We have it on the word of one of the largest breeders of thoroughbred cattle in Canada, that for every dollar's worth of DR. WILLIAMS' FLY & INSECT DESTROYER he uses he gets in-direct returns $10. His books prove his statement.

ATTENTION, STOCKMEN!

It thieves broke into your bank and stole your hard-earned deposits, you could not punish them severely enough, but flies and lice on your cattle and poultry do the same thing, yet few raise their voices in protest or their hands to restrain them, though they are fully aware that DR. WILLIAMS' FLY & INSECT DESTROYER will render their stock and poultry safe from these pests as the bank. Try it, and be convinced.

Josephine, the Missouri Chief, the most wonderful cow in the world, valued at $20,000, producing 17,008.8 lbs. of milk in 6 months and 529 lbs. butter, was subjected to the annoyance of flies for one day, and the quantity of milk was reduced by 18 lbs. from the day previous. Calculate what that means for the season, and add the result to your bank account, and see what DR. WILLIAMS' FLY & INSECT DESTROYER can do for you.

If your local dealer does not carry it, see that he orders it at once.

In these days of high-priced meats many thousands of people have discovered that good, well-cooked oatmeal provides an admirable breakfast. It furnishes more vim and vitality than any other food and the cost is so small as to be insignificant.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

BINDWEED—WILD CARROT.

1. Have a small patch of the weeds of which I enclose specimen for identification. Is a climbing plant, with long, white roots.

2. Is wild carrot a noxious weed, and how can it be destroyed? R. C.

Ans.—1. This is bindweed, the hardest of all perennials to eradicate. It can be destroyed, however, by cultivating every five days for a whole summer with some implement that will cut off every plant an inch or two below the surface. Possibly a well-cultivated hoe crop may be needed to finish it the next year. A very small patch may be smothered with tar paper extending well past the borders of the patch and suitably weighted.

2. Wild carrot is not a very noxious weed, though sometimes troublesome in old pastures, and on land where a regular rotation of crops is not practiced. Sheep are said to suppress it in pasture lands.

PLUM POCKETS.

Twelve years ago three large wild plums were cut down, and those formations grow on sprouts that grew up from the stumps and roots. For several years those sprouts have blossomed; plums have formed and dropped off. There have also formed many of such as I am enclosing in this box. I would like to know what they are, and what causes them to grow on the trees? Trees have never produced any ripe fruit.

C. B.

Ans.—The formations referred to are hollow, spongy growths, of a yellow-green color, several times as large as the healthy fruit of the same age. The cause is a fungus growth, commonly called "plum-pocket" or "curl," and by botanists Exoascus or Taphrine Pruni. On the plum the fruit is most generally attacked, but sometimes the twigs and leaves are also. The disease is nearly allied to the "leaf-curl" of the peach. Pruning and burning all affected parts is recommended. Spraying when in bud with a fungicide—either lime sulphur or Bordeaux—and later when the fruit is set, ameliorates the attack, but does not eradicate the parasite.

CURING PORK.

Last February I dry-cured some pork hams by rubbing a mixture of salt, sugar, pepper and saltpetre into them. Had them piled in a dish in the cellar; began rubbing them as soon as cooled, and continued rubbing every alternate day until all the mixture was used. In April some time I brought them up and hung them against the wall near the kitchen stove to dry, and when dry put them in a cotton sack and hung them in a cool place in the woodshed. The other day I used some of it, and found it quite rusty-tasting. The cellar is pretty much underground, and was quite cold while they were in it, but not damp. Can you tell me what caused them to have that rusty taste; also the best way of curing hams for summer use? Will smoking them help to preserve them, and how should one do it to make as little work as possible? Can I do anything to get rid of the rusty taste? A SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—One method of curing pork is by dry salting. In this method it is customary to thoroughly rub the meat with salt and pile it on a table and allow it to stand for a few days, when it is again re-rubbed and sprinkled with salt. This must be continued until the meat is cured through, and, so far as I know, the only way to ascertain when the meat is cured through is by cutting and tasting. In the wet-salting process, a brine is made and the meat placed in this. A strength that is very frequently used is one that is strong enough to float an egg. The meat may be left in this until the salt has penetrated through the whole of the substance, or until it is cured through, then, as in the case of the dry salting, it may be hung up and smoked. Some are very successful in curing pork by putting it into a strong brine and allowing it to stay there until they are ready to use it. There are a number of different methods, and the flavor is sometimes influenced by spices being added, but these conditions vary so with the individual taste that it would be hard to give any general method.

"BAKER" Back Geared Pumping Mill

Years of practical demonstration have brought our Back Geared Mill up to a point as near perfection as possible, not only in strength and mechanical construction, but in details, every item has been watched under various conditions of the mill in service and changes made with a view or improvement to the mill in mechanical principles, durability, efficiency for heavy work and self government, as well as to maintain simplicity of design and convenience of adjustment.

The mill will turn itself out of gear at a maximum speed or when wind is strong.

The correct mechanical principle of carrying the wheel on the independent steel spindle, permits the ball-bearing "BAKER" mills to pump in the lightest wind. The gears are free from all weight and resistance and work free and easy.

Parts subject to the greatest strain and wear are made to provide for these conditions. The entire mill is constructed with a view of giving long service. All gears are machine-moulded from cut patterns.
