There used to be some funny stories told about the "High Church" proclivities of Mrs. Tait, the recently deceased wife of the English layman who is styled Archbishop of Canterbury. According to one of these, a Ritualist parson of the diocese, who was also a friend of the Taits, and was staying with them at Adduncton was received and in a fairfully Mary looked up calmly, and replied:
"Well, John, I suppose you went down

John jumped up, looked at his wife in dismay and wanted to know what such language from her lips meant.

"It means just this, John; you are the head of the family, and just as long as you think it manly to swear in my presence, I intend to do the same! If you don't like to hear it you know how to prevent it."

of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known the diseases it is intended to cure. Its ingredients are so skilfully com-bined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease. The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.
