

Want, Sale and Exchange

All advertisements under this heading will be charged for at the rate of 5c per word per insertion; no insertion given for the price of five.

This department will be made a special feature of The Guide from now on, and is designed to better serve the interests of our subscribers by furnishing space where they may make known their wants and get in touch with prospective buyers at a nominal cost. Under this heading will be inserted all miscellaneous advertising, such as Farms for Sale, or Wanted, Machinery, Help Wanted, Articles Wanted and For Sale, Auction Sales, etc.

In this column, as in every part of The Guide, any advertisement of a false or questionable character will not be accepted, but the space will be confined exclusively to the use of legitimate advertisers who seek help, or wish to buy, sell or exchange Stock, Machinery, etc. A condensed advertisement in The Grain Growers' Guide should be a business getter for you. Try it and be convinced.

The Patient Man

Mr. Henpeck had hesitated a long while about doing this bold thing, but he felt that now was the time or never. "Dear," he said in a timid voice, "I wish you wouldn't call me 'Leo' any more."

"Why not?" demanded his wife explosively. "Leo is your given name."

"I know, my dear, but it makes my friends laugh when you call me that. I was thinking you might call me 'Job,' just for a pet name."

It is not difficult for a young man to earn a good living if he has a rich dad.

No Respector of Persons

A short time ago a surgeon had three leg amputations in a week. The unusual number caused talk in the surgeon's household, and his little daughter, Dorothy, was greatly interested. A few days after the last operation, the surgeon's wife and little Dorothy were running in the attic. In a trunk was found a daguerreotype depicting a girl about eight years of age. The portrait showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled up under her.

"Whose picture is that, Mamma?" asked Dorothy.

"Mine. It was taken when I was a child not much older than you are now."

"Did you know papa then?"

"No, dear. Why do you ask?"

"I thought maybe you did, 'cause you've only got one leg."

Christmas Sweets

A newly-engaged couple were enjoying some blissful moments alone after the Christmas dinner. They had broken the wishbone at the table.

"Tell me what you wished," she said shyly.

"Tell me what you wished," he returned.

"Well—I will if you will."

"I hate to do it—it might not come true."

"But maybe it would. Now, you promised, you know."

"Well, I—er—I wished you'd let me kiss you. Now, what do you wish?"

"Oh, I daren't tell!"

"But you promised."

"Well—I wished you'd get your wish!"

Old Mrs. Firefly: There'll surely have to be something done with that old codger over there. Why, he's so near sighted he's been trying to light his cigar with my husband for the last five minutes.

What Strawberries Will Do

Eugene Field was a guest at an English country house, and the hostess had, as a special mark of honor to her guest, reserved for his visit the finest strawberries of her raising. When the berries came to the table they were certainly beautiful, but the hostess noticed with horror that Field didn't touch the fruit, but sat looking at it in deep thought.

"Why, Mr. Field," anxiously asked the hostess, "don't you like my strawberries?"

"Oh, yes," replied Field, "I know I shall love them. But I was thinking, if I ate them, how they would spoil my appetite for prunes."

Nothing New About This, is There?

"My dear, listen to this," said an economical little housewife to her husband. "This evening's paper advertises a man who makes a business of taking new tables and chairs and treating them in some way so they look as if they were a hundred years old. And he makes a great deal of money by it," she added, reading on.

"Does he, indeed?" replied her husband doubtfully. "Well, I'd trust our Tommy to make a new table look as if it were a good deal more than a hundred years old, but I hadn't thought of it as a paying business."

Make The Guide the Market Place

Through which to sell what you do not want and through which to buy what you require.

For example, if you have good seed for sale, advertise it in The Guide. For a very small sum your advertisement will be brought before over twenty thousand of the best farmers of the West. Some of them are almost sure to be looking for the very thing you have to offer. In this way you effect your sale and at the same time you help to build up your own paper.

Mr. Turner, of Hamiota, recently tried this method of selling his Timothy Seed, and his letter, which is reproduced below, shows that The Guide has done the work.

Hamiota, May 10th.

The Grain Growers' Guide
Winnipeg

Gentlemen:
Your bill of May 1st to hand. I will enclose $1.20 to pay the same, and also for two more insertions, as I had more sales from it than from any two sources.

TIMOTHY SEED FOR SALE, GOOD AND clean, price $5.00 per cwt., f.o.b.—Geo. S. Turner, Hamiota.

An advertisement similar to that inserted by Mr. Turner costs 42 cents for one week or $2.10 for six weeks. If there is anything around the farm you do not require, try a small "want ad" in The Guide.

BREEDERS' DIRECTORY

Cards under this heading will be inserted weekly at the rate of $4.50 per line, per year. No card accepted for less than six months, or less space than two lines.

Under this heading should appear the names of every breeder of Live Stock in the West. Buyers and Breeders everywhere, as you are well aware, are constantly on the lookout for additions to their herds, or the exchange of some particular animal, and as The Guide is now recognized as the best market authority, and in every way the most reliable journal working in the interests of the West, nothing is more natural than for you to seek in its columns for the names of reliable men to deal with when buying stock.

Consider the smallness of the cost of carrying a card in this column compared with the results that are sure to follow, and make up your mind to read so your card today.

Willie's Resolution was Shattered

A little boy came home one day from school in a very bad humor. Another boy, Jack Jones, had given him a thrashing and he wanted revenge.

"Oh," said his mother, "don't think of revenge, Willie. Be kind to Jack. Heap coals of fire on his head. Then he will become your friend."

Willie thought he would try this method. So the next day at recess, just as he was buying a lemon pie for luncheon, Jack appeared and said:

"Look here, I licked you yesterday, but I didn't give you enough. Now I'm going to lick you again."

And he planted a hard blow on Willie's little stomach.

Willie gasped, but instead of striking back he extended his pie to Jones.

"Here," he said in a kindly voice, "I'll give you this. I make you a present of it."

Jack, in glad amazement, fell upon the pie greedily, and it had soon disappeared.

"Gosh, it was good!" he said. "What did you give it to me for?"

"Because you struck me," said the heaper of the coals.

Instantly Jack hauled off and struck him again. "Now go and get another pie," he said.

Brother Gardner stated that he was in receipt of the following queries, propounded by the Concord School of Philosophy:—"Why do not cows sit down to rest the same as dogs? Why does a dog turn round a few times before he lies down? Why does a cow get up from the ground hind end first, and a horse fore end first? Why does a squirrel come down a tree head first, and a cat tail first? Why does a mule kick with its hind foot, and a sheep with its fore foot?" "Natur' has her own ways, and her ways am k'rect," said the old man, as he laid the letter aside. "I once lost a week's sleep in tryin' to fin' out why cats didn't sit on nests for fo'teen days, same as a hen, to bring fo'th dar young, an' I finally arrove to the conclusion to tackle suthin easy. De huss an' de aas, an' de dog an' de cat were all made fur artin reasons, an' to fill saryin spheres in life. Natur' didn't intend do hoss to climb trees, not de cat to pull street cars, an' de less we keer to know why she didn't do so, de better it will be fur our headache."

Tommy—"Ma, what is an average man? Mrs. Firg—"He is a man who is pleasant, and smiling in the city all day, but who comes home and gives his wife fits to make up the average."
