BEAUTIFYING HOMES.

Upon more than one occasion The Planet has strongly advocated municipal improvement in the way of beautifying the lawns and boulevards. There is no better advertisement for any city than for a stranger to come in and see clean and beautiful streets and lawns. It gives a refreshing impression and speaks volumes for the thriftiness, taste and prosperity of the place. Not only that, but it is a source of comfort and pleasure to those who take a pride in having their homes beautified and improved.

Professor Nazro, of Plymouth, Mass., in the course of a lecture in Galt the other evening, gave some timely advice on the matter of home improvement, and as this is the time of the year most suitable for this work, a portion of his address is reproduced for the benefit of Chathamites. The people of this city should be especially interested in this subject, for there is not another city in the provinces which offers more natural advantages for beautiful homes.

Pro. Nazro said:
"We find that houses that have good gardens about them are more enjoyed as true homes, for it is here that the occupant spends a great deal of his time, cultivating his garden."

"The desire for gardening is in-born, and even in the city tenements in the dark and grimy courtyards, you will find that desire expressed in little boxes of seeds and plants, which decorate the windows."

"We may say also that the consideration of the arrangement of the house is not the only question to solve, for close attention should also be given to the environment, besides an ample garden the environment itself should be healthy and pleasant. With the stimulant of a pleasing environment we will find its influence reflected in the desire of the workingman to beautify his own home."

"I have seen many men, who have the good fortune to live in such surroundings, spend their leisure hours among their flowers and vegetables, which, otherwise would have been spent in idleness about social halls. As we look upon the problem, not confining it to sections, but upon a broad field, we find many different solutions of interest. Perhaps the foremost of these are carried into execution by manufacturing concerns, and we find manufacturers and other employers of labor of all sexes and nationalities, being impressed more and more of the need of producing, as much as possible, a pleasing and stimulating influence upon the general environments of the persons with whom they work day by day in conjunction with co-operation, for the one great aim of making the industry with which they are associated grow and extend in magnitude."

Right Breathing Cures Catarrh

Simple Way to Kill Catarrhal Germs in Nose, Throat and Lungs.

If you cut your finger, you don't attempt to heal it by swallowing a pill or a dose of medicine. It is just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the nose and throat with pills and stomach dosing, for catarrh is a local disease, and needs special local healing treatment.

The only natural and common sense method known for the cure of catarrhal troubles is Hy-o-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that its medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membranes, and restoring a healthy condition.

If you suffer from catarrhal troubles, such as offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing, or a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, you should begin to use Hy-o-mei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, and provide the blood with additional ozone.

The complete Hy-o-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00. So strong is C. H. Gunn & Co's faith in the power of Hy-o-mei to cure all catarrhal troubles, that with every dollar outfit they give an iron-clad guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

It is a curious paradox that the more one likes a sermon the shorter he wants it.

They scowled and looked sour from morn till night,
They never would agree;
Now they are healthy, happy and bright,
They both take Rocky Mountain Tea at night.

ENLISTS IN THE RANKS.

English Army Officer's Mysterious Disappearance Accounted For.

Debonair Lieutenant Tryon, who mysteriously disappeared from the Hotel Metropole on the early morning of January 31, has for three weeks past been the darling recruit of the Seaforth Highlanders in Edinburgh Castle. Now, to the great regret of his comrades, he is again a prisoner in the castle.

It was at the beginning of the frenzied search for him by private detectives and Scotland Yard that on Thursday, February 7, a tall, clean-shaven young fellow walked up to a recruiting sergeant in Stirling, and after an introductory word remarked: "I would like to enlist in the Seaforth Highlanders." The recruiting officer, with a keen eye for a fine man, regarded the young six-footer as a "find." He asked him particulars as to himself.

"My name is John Fraser," said the young man, "and for eighteen months I have been at a place near Stirling." There was more conversation, the upshot of which was that the stranger was given a railway warrant for Edinburgh, and on February 9 found himself with the Seaforth Highlanders at Edinburgh Castle, an accepted recruit. He entered himself as having been born in the parish of Waterloo, London, and his trade or profession as that of a laborer.

John Fraser soon proved himself no ordinary laborer. A giant in physique, he had the upright carriage and the high movements of the athlete. Critical drill sergeants turned an approving eye on him. He was really a wonderful recruit. Within a week John Fraser had been tentatively selected to beat the big drum, though it was feared that he should never reach that honor.

Scrubbing the Floors.
His comrades liked him very much because, speaking and behaving as a cultured man, he yet showed nothing in the shape of "swagger." In athletics he excelled, and he carried out his new duties as though to the manner born. On getting up in the morning he would quickly make his bed, and after recruits' drill would take his turn at the ordinary duties of the newly joined soldier, helping to carry in the food of his colleagues, sweeping the floors and scrubbing them. The men were instinctively impressed with John Fraser, and in the course of a week or two he became a favorite. He put on no airs, talked the canteen with the others, but never revealed a great deal or no information about himself.

It was in the canteen on Monday evening last that there arose a dramatic scene. A lance-corporal was reading a paper which contained a portrait of the missing Lieutenant Tryon, and suddenly looking up at Private John Fraser near him, he called his attention to the picture and the strong resemblance.

The new recruit turned not a hair. Smilingly he admitted that he and Lieutenant Tryon were one. The men were staggered into silence. But then came the surprising thing. These star-wart Scotsmen, having found a good man, had no idea of telling tales about him. The news spread like wildfire among the Highlanders, but although many scores knew of the identity of John Fraser, all kept the news religiously from the authorities. How it eventually crept out is not known, but two days later, on the Wednesday night, John Fraser was placed under arrest. Under the name of Lieutenant Tryon he still remains under arrest.

Colonel's Statement.

The following statement was issued the other morning by Colonel Macintosh commanding the regiment: "Private Fraser, who enlisted three weeks ago into the Seaforth Highlanders, quartered at Edinburgh Castle, has been identified as Lieutenant Tryon, who absented himself without leave from his unit at Gosport. He is at present detained at Edinburgh Castle."

Speaking the other day, Colonel Macintosh remarked: "I do not think there is anything else to say. A large number of the men knew of his identity, but they kept it to themselves. Now, all I have to do is detain him. What action the authorities will take I cannot say. As to any explanation of the lieutenant's action, I have heard nothing."

Break. The sergeant major of the Seaforths, a splendid specimen of the muscular Scot, was a little dejected the other day. "You ought to have seen him," (Lieutenant Tryon) walking at the end of that detachment of recruits on parade. He was great. There was only one other man in the regiment to equal him in physique," said the sergeant major sadly.

A fellow-private with Lieutenant Tryon remarked on the evening with which he did his military tasks. "You ought to have seen him, sewing the buttons on his clothes. He did it perfectly." Another private remarked: "One of the smartest chaps we ever had. A splendid fellow," and a sergeant added: "He was just the man for our big drum, and we shan't get another like him." Altogether, an air of melancholy lies over Edinburgh Castle.

Some Peersesses' Jewels.

Many society women are the owners of jewels worth the proverbial king's ransom. Perhaps the largest collection belongs to the Duchess of Portland and the Duchess of Marlborough, but Viscountess Ivesagh is the possessor of one of the most valuable necklaces in England. Her pearls are worth over £70,000, and took Lord Ivesagh a long time to collect. Lady Rothschild, the Countess of Dudley, the Countess of Annesley and Lady Denman all own most beautiful pearls. The Duchess of Roxburghe and the Marchioness of Dufferin both have a large number of turquoises.

Lord Mayor Soldier and Sailor.
"You would hardly think, to look at me that I am colonel of the regiment," said the Lord Mayor of London at the distribution, at Guildhall of the prizes to the First City of London Royal Garrison Artillery, of which he is honorable colonel. He is also Admiral of the Port of London.

Foot Cut Off With Rope.

Winnipeg, April 6.—B. J. Smith met with a horrible accident while loading cars at the Anchor elevator Thursday. His foot caught in a noose on the pulley rope, and he was jerked into the air, where he hung until the rope cut his foot off, permitting him to fall upon a cement floor 12 feet below. His head was badly cut, but he will recover.

A CASE IN WEST ARICHAT.

Mrs. A. P. Ferguson, a well known Cape Bretoner, has cured asthma by Catarrhazone. Her statement is convincing: "Although I was troubled for years it was only recently I tried Catarrhazone. When an attack started I got out my inhaler and invariably of relief. Feeling satisfied Catarrhazone would cure, I continued the treatment until one bottle was finished. I didn't use more because I was cured and the asthma has never returned." Catarrhazone is sure death to asthma and bronchitis. Try it and be convinced. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

Immigrant Slashes Throat.

St. John, N.B., April 6.—Charles Minus, an immigrant, made a sensational attempt to commit suicide at the immigration sheds yesterday. He slashed his throat with a razor, but bystanders prevented him doing further injury.

He is being deported on account of a suicidal mania and will be sent back in the next boat.

WHEN THAT COLD COMES.

How is it to be cured? This method is simplicity itself. Rub the chest and throat well with Nervine, use it as a gargle and take some in hot water before retiring along with one of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Next morning find you refreshed, free from cold and as bright as a dollar. These household remedies are wonderfully successful, and certainly won't fail in your case. For sale at all dealers.

Premier Sails.

St. John, N.B., April 6.—The C.P.R. steamer Empress of Britain, bearing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, who are off to attend the colonial conference, sailed for London via Halifax at 6 o'clock last night. Sir Frederick Borden continued to Halifax and will join the steamer there.

That's all. 'Nuf said, when you say that Hollier's Rocky Mountain Tea is the greatest family remedy on earth. It does you good going and coming. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets.
