THE OL' TUNES. You kin talk about yer anthems, An' yer arias an' sich, An' yer modern choir singin' That you think so awful rich; But you orter heard us youngster In the time now far away, A-singin' o' the ol' tunes In the ol' fashioned way.

There was some o' us sang treble,
An' a row o' us growled bass,
An' the tide o' seng flowed smothly
With its complement o' grace:
There was sperrit in that music,
An' a kind o' solemn sway,
A singin' o' the ol' tunes.
In the ol' fashioned way.

remember oft o' staudin' In my home-spun pantaloons, on my face the bronze an' freckles O' the suns o' youthful Junes— thinkin' that no mortal minstrel Ever chanted such a lay s the ol' tunes we was singin' In the ol' fashioned way.

The boys ud' always lead us,
An, the girls 'ud all chime in;
Till the sweetness o' the singin'
Robbed the list 'nin' soul o' sin;
And I ust to tell the parson
'Twas as good to sing as pray,
When the people sung the ol' tunes
In the ol' fashioned way.

How I long agin to hear it.
Pourin' forth from soul to soul.
With the treble high and meller,
An' the bass's mighty roll;
But the times is very different,
An' the puris heart to day. An' the music heerd to day Ain't the singin' o' the ol' tune In the ol' fashioned way.

Little screechin' by a woman,
Little squakin' by a man,
Then the organ's tweedle twadle,
Jest the empty space to span.
An' if you should even think it, "Tisn't proper fer to say That you want to hear the ol' tune In the ol' fashioned way.

But I think that some bright mornin'
When the toils of life is o'er.
An' the suu o' heaven arisin'
Glads with light the happy shore,
I sha'll hear the angel chorus,
In'the realms of endless day,
A singin' o' the ol' tunes
