

Governor Due This Afternoon.

At 7 p.m. yesterday, the Bruce was 25 miles ahead of St. Pierre and is due in port at 3.30 p.m. from Sydney with a number of passengers and a large mail and freight. The ship had much ice to contend with in the Gulf and all last night encountered a snow storm which lasted until she had passed Cape Race at 11 a.m. The passengers on the ship are His Excellency Governor Davidson, Lady and, suite and when the ship is berthed at Shea & Co's pier a throng of citizens will doubtless give the Vice Regal party a hearty welcome. There will be present to receive the Governor His Honor the Administrator, the Premier and members of both branches of the Legislature. A guard of honor from the police force under I. G. Sullivan, will do the honors as the party land.

Congregational Church

A very successful Floral Sociable was held in the basement of the Congregational Church last night. The room had been very tastefully decorated with evergreen and a profusion of artificial flowers, wonderfully life-like in color and form, made by members of the Ladies' Aid and Congregation. The newly-appointed minister made a few preliminary remarks. This was followed by the production of a charming little sketch entitled "Meeting Among the Flowers," conceived and written by Mrs. T. J. Duley. This capable lady has evolved many clever dialogues, but none in which true and coherent ideas have been more enthusiastically elaborated by means of clear and expressive language into a well-proportioned whole, than the work which gave all so much pleasure last night. The age-long question of the rose among the flowers was disputed. Certain new and highly-evolved specimens of the carnation and chrysanthemum appeared before Mother Nature to plead their superior claims. The poppy, too, at first joined the mutineers but eventually retired, her grievance appeased by Nature's assurance that she was universally loved. The rest of the flowers would have none of the nearer sovereignties and clearly manifested and permanently confirmed their unchanging and unchangeable loyalty and affection towards the rose. Miss Barbara Langmead combined dignity and charm as Mother Nature, and her anger at the mutinying flowers was restrained in an effective manner by the sweet pity of Miss Mildred Thomas as Mother Earth, in whose breast love of her offspring contended with a sense of their guilty conduct. The chrysanthemum of Miss Ethel Barnes was finely saucy and the carnation of Miss Belle Russell splendidly arrogant. Miss Mabel Thomas well expressed the soothing characteristics of the poppy and the Rose was sweetly incarnated by Miss Olive Hutchings. The rest of the "flowers" did their part well and a tiny "messenger," dressed as a wood-eel, took her wordless part easily and naturally. All the artists were dressed up to represent the different flowers.

After an interval for refreshments, a programme of songs and recitation was contributed by Misses Butler, Honlon and Beale Thomas and Messrs. Crocker, Willis and W. H. Jones. Every item was deservedly encored and Miss Hanlon had to appear a third time, so enthusiastic was the audience in its appreciation of her finely rendered recitations.

Mrs. Langmead and the members of the Ladies' Aid and helpers are highly to be congratulated on their preparations and arrangements and thoroughly deserved the success with which their efforts were crowned.

LONDON, To-day.
L. J. Condemnation to the Clock Tower of the Commons is the usual fate of offenders in such cases.

MEXICO CITY, Yesterday.
From early yesterday morning the sharp crack of rifles or the crash of cannon could be heard in some quarters of the city almost every minute of the day. Diplomatic representatives of the Powers protested and an armistice was arranged so that an envoy from these Diplomats could enter rebel lines and confer with Diaz, but doubtless wing to inability of Federal Commander to control all points on his lines this envoy was fired upon by troops, although riding under the White Flag, Dehamer was chosen carry message protest to Diaz. He entered an auto which with the White Flag flying moved through the Federal lines. It was supposed that troops had been advised of this mission, but the automobile was instantly made a target for numerous rifles, and bullets rattled about it. It continued on its way, however, the diplomat's envoy being apparently unhurt. The bombardment reached Diaz's chancellery yesterday morning when Diaz shelled the very centre of the business districts in an effort to silence the cannon of the Government and drive from the roofs of the taller buildings the Federal Sharpshooters and the men serving the machine guns. This smothering action continued for more than two hours, shrapnel fell like hail, and occasionally bursting shells tore holes in the sides of the buildings. Meanwhile fire from the opposite direction rendered the far out resident district uninhabitable. The Federal guns replied occasionally but without serious damage to the rebel position, not doubting the intentions of the government to assume action on an augmented scale and reminded from moment to moment by the desultory and scattering firing from both sides that homes in almost every quarter of the city would be rendered unsafe. Foreigners, particularly Americans, British and Germans sent throughout yesterday afternoon autos under white flags to collect women and children and transfer them to a section around the American Embassy which is considered relatively free from danger.

Mrs. H. W. Holmes, wife of an employee of Dun's Agency, was killed, and Mrs. Percy Griffiths, wife of another employee of the street railway company, was mortally wounded, both her legs being shot off. Allie Bland, a printer, was shot through the arm. Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Griffiths were preparing dinner in their kitchen in apartment buildings close to the arsenal, when a shell of Federal lines burst through the walls instantly killing Mrs. Holmes and leaving Mrs. Griffiths in a dying condition.

Goodwinking the Army

The officers of a certain regiment arranged a football match with a team of lawyers and when the visitors arrived they were given a splendid lunch before the game.

Both officers and lawyers enjoyed the meal, but the lawyers ate very heartily indeed and drank more champagne than a football club trainer would think necessary. The officers, noting this, came to the conclusion that they themselves, being more abstemious, would simply have a walk-over.

Towards the end of the lunch the captain of the military team happened to glance through the window from whence he could see the football ground. To his great surprise he saw a remarkably fit-looking lot of men kicking the ball about.

"Who are these men?" he asked.

"Oh," one of the lawyers explained, "we generally send out two teams: a lunching team and a playing team. That is our playing team who are looking forward to the pleasure of meeting you; we are the lunching team who already have that pleasure!"

A Reforming Influence

"That automobile I bought has been doing wonders for me," said Mr. Chuggins.

"Fresh air and all that sort of thing?"

"It has benefited me morally as well as physically. It has led me to avoid intoxicants and to lead a life that will insure me as beautiful an obituary as possible."

MARCONI EXPENSES.

The writer in the Daily News, this morning, who tells how the improvements in the Marconi system have materialized, does not tell how the money has been dematerialized and disposed of out the chest. We will supply something he deems it polite to suppress. Last session a return was tabled in the House of Assembly which showed $9,411.35 had been spent between March 11, 1911 to Feb. 28th, 1912. Of this $3,620.06 had gone to the Marconi Co.; $1,294.08 to W. H. Bartlett, $1,998.27 to Albert Morgan and crew; $464 to the Reid Nid. Co. for freight. Mr. Tasker Cook received $759.57 for three spars. His spars are evidently not like the Crosbie spars, which fetched the price so often quoted and which staggered the public. Mr. Cook is reasonable. The other items were of smaller dimensions.

ETHIE CLEAR.—To-day the Reid Company were advised that the Ethie got out of Placentia yesterday, a S.E. wind having "canted" the ice off. She is bound around the bay and it is feared will have trouble in getting about owing to the ice. The Coban will be ordered here.

BECAME FROZEN.—The pipes leading from the reservoir on the upper Southside Hill to the Sudbury Tannery, became frozen yesterday and last night men had large fires lit on the hill side to thaw them. They were kept going until after midnight and many thought a conflagration was in progress.

My Daddy.

When the light settles down in the west,
And the work of the day has been done;
Then my daddy sits down for a rest,
And he don't seem to want any fun.

My daddy just sits by the fire
While his spectacles hang on his nose;
And he don't seem to have a desire
But to sit by the chimney and doze.

'Tis the twilight of life with him now
Though he seems to be hearty and strong;
But some wrinkles appear on his brow
And a croak has got into his song.

So he dreams of the joys that's departed,
Of the tale of the years that are told;
And confesses, tho' half broken hearted,
That somehow he is growing old.

So he sits by the fire and dozes
And dreams of the days that are past.
May the vision of life as it closes,
Bring peace to my daddy at last.
