The Murray Raids Antique Shop

"BROADWAY ROSE" SETTINGS

practically the entire contents of an antique shop were borrowed by Mae Murray for use in her photoplay, "Broadway Rose," in which the star, presented by Robert Z. Leonard, as a night scene in which Miss Murray as the Broadway dancer returns to her former home in the country for a strikingly realistic effect. There's a very, very old shop, up Madison Avenue which contains no less than one would expect to find in an old-fashioned country house, said Miss Murray recently at the Tiffany Studios in New York. Consequently, when Mr. Leonard and his team of decorators decided to use the scenes, we decided to pay it a visit. We didn't know in advance exactly what we wanted for our set, but we didn't resist the marvelous things that we saw. As a result, we carried off two wagon-loads of furniture, curios, and things, including the old square piano. We were delighted with the effects we have been able to obtain with the articles. This old hall-staircase back to the Revolution; these same leather dining-room chairs over one hundred years old, too, the little crystal candelabra that were on the table is one of the most beautiful discoveries we made. It is only article which we didn't get from the antique shop. I got it myself another little place up along the Hudson River, not far from the city. I remembered one day when we were on location in the country in an antique picture, I passed an antique shop that fascinated me. There was the collection of precious things played. But one thing drew my eye immediately, and that was this fine candelabra. I did not buy it at the time, and I regretted it ever since. I thought of it when we began furnishing the country interiors for "Broadway Rose." I decided that I would buy it; and one afternoon when I was nothing to do at the studio I drove up to the village shop, fearing I wouldn't find the thing I came for. Just sure enough it was there, and I was delighted. And I'm not going to let it out of my hands. Although my collection is check full of antiques that I gathered from time to time there's no room for more—like this.

Lecture on Poultry Raising.

On Thursday night in the Star Hall, Wabana Bell Island, the eighth lecture of the Nfld. Poultry Association was given, at the invitation of President John Hughes of the Bell Island Poultry Club. The speakers from St. John's were:—President Williams, Vice-President, Dr. Arch. Tait, and Treasurer W. R. Butler, with Mr. Errol Munn managing the illustrating lanterns. Some 200 pictures were shown of Canadian, U.S. and Nfld. poultry scenes, birds, etc., houses and appliances. The pictures of Mr. Leonard Marie's poultry farm were also shown, as well as poultry yards of Rev. C. Wood, Westport, White Bay, an honorary member of the Nfld. Poultry Association, and also of yards at Grand Falls of Mr. N. Cohen. Gradually people are taking interest in the work of poultry culture and these lectures are a great help. The lecturers were greatly assisted by Father Ravlin in fitting up their electrical apparatus, to whom they express their thanks as the voltage was different there than used in other places. The visitors were entertained by the Bell Island Committee at the Methodist Church, Grand Falls, held the same day, and all had a very pleasant evening. President Hughes and his Secretary, Mr. Fred Jardine, J.P., presided at the lecture and most courteously looked after all the arrangements. On arrival at the Beach, Bell Island, Mr. Errol Munn, who is breeding longhorn or carrier pigeons, having imported three pairs some seven months ago, liberated one of his local bred birds with a message attached advising his home folks of having arrived at the Island. The bird flew straight across the bay for St. John's and arrived safely. Mr. Munn has been training his birds all the summer having had birds flying from Holyrood, Harbor Grace, Cape Breton and Arnold's Cove station. This last place being a flight of ninety-eight miles. Next spring he hopes to send some birds out to the west fishery to test them. He has now seventeen young birds in his loft and will exhibit them at the 1923 Poultry Show. These carrier pigeons should be very useful in various ways in Newfoundland.

AT HOME.—Mrs. J. P. Evans will be "At Home" on Monday and Tuesday from 3 to 5 p.m., at her residence, 46 Power St.

Presentation to Mr. A. G. Gibb.

Yesterday afternoon a pleasing ceremony took place at the firm of Messrs. Ayre & Sons, Ltd., when the staff presented their late colleague, Mr. Gibb with an illuminated address, a case of pipes and an umbrella. The address, which appears below, was read on behalf of his fellow-workers by Mr. R. W. Cramm, and is fully expressive of the esteem and regard which Mr. Gibb had gained by his never-failing courtesy and by his marked ability.

ADDRESS:
To A. G. Gibb, Esq., on the occasion of his severing his connection with Ayre & Sons, Ltd., St. John's, Newfoundland, Aug. 31st, 1923.

Dear Mr. Gibb.—We regret that you are leaving us and wish to take this opportunity of assuring you of our good will and high esteem. Only a few of us were in this employ when first you came here over 21 years ago, instituting many new and practical methods into the general management of the store; but we all wish to congratulate you on the courtesy, tact and business experience that you have at all times displayed in your responsible position. For the prompt and satisfactory attention given to customers, and for the invariable good appearance of the store, great credit is due you. We ask your acceptance of this case of pipes and umbrella in the hope that the one will bring you much pleasure in your hours of peace, and that the other will assist you in weathering the storms of life. We wish you God-speed and will long remember you as a talented, experienced and upright gentleman. Signed on behalf of your fellow-workers.

Mr. Gibb made a suitable reply and his regret at having to say good-bye was very evident to all. Mr. Gibb will be leaving Nfld. about 15th of September to reside in future in Boston. His departure is regretted not only by his fellow-workers but by the community in general.

Wedding Bells.

MACKAY-STEWART, MANUEL REYNOLDS.
A quiet but very pretty double wedding was solemnized at St. Chad's Church of England, Toronto, Ont., on August 29th, at 7.45 p.m., when Hilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mackay of Channel, Nfld., was married to Mr. George Stewart, of Toronto; and Maud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Mackay, of Channel, Nfld., was married to Mr. John Reynolds, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Read, Mr. Wm. Manuel acted as father giver to the brides, and Rev. M. F. Stewart, brother of Mr. George Stewart, was best man for both parties. The brides looked charming, both being prettily gowned in white crepe de chine and wore bridal veils with orange blossoms, and carried bouquets of Ophelia roses, lily of the Valley and maiden hair ferns. The bridesmaid was Miss Eva Manuel, sister of Miss Manuel, and was becomingly gowned in sand Canton crepe with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and maiden hair ferns. After the ceremony the happy couples motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Manuel, 24 Corley Ave., where a wedding supper was daintily served to about forty guests. The presents were many and valuable, including cheques and silverware. A short honeymoon is being spent at Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

At the BLUE PUTTEE cleanliness and daintiness are invaluable. It's worth while to know that what you eat is absolutely clean—and to have it served in that appetizing manner which doubles your enjoyment. Come in to-night.—sept.1st

Smoking the peace pipe in wartime

As any ex-doughboy will tell you, a thousand tons of tobacco distributed over a fighting force of 2,000,000 men showed good intentions, but it didn't all the need—not by a few million pipetubs.

Even today letters still come in from veterans who have forgotten the horrors of war and remember only the thrill of "a real American smoke" in France.

For one, Hugh Livingston, Adjutant of Yankee Division Post No. 272, V.F.W., remembers: Providence, R. I. Larus & Brother Co., Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen: My introduction to Edgeworth took place over in the training area in France under circumstances that left a lasting impression of the good qualities of Edgeworth.

One night, after a hard day's work, my bunkie drew a package from home, one of those mysterious affairs that might contain everything but what you wanted. After due ceremonies of guessing he opened it and the first thing we saw was the blue box of Edgeworth. All further operations ceased until we filled the pipes. After using the French tabac for several weeks and burning our mouths and throats to a raw state you can imagine how cool and satisfying that Edgeworth tasted to us.

We smoked until we were ordered to bed, and I fell asleep smoking. You can just bet a letter went home for more Edgeworth.

Since that time I have used about every kind of tobacco that is put up, but it is Edgeworth for me when I can get it. Thank you for putting such a satisfying and cool tobacco on the market.

(Signed) Hugh Livingston.

Probably any good American smoking tobacco would have brought the same joy to Mr. Livingston and his bunkie in France. But it is a fact that when Edgeworth makes a friend, more often than not it is a lifetime affair.

Edgeworth's one great asset for most smokers is that it is always the same. You can buy a package in Chicago, another in New Orleans, another in San Francisco, and each package will give you the same cool, satisfying smoke.

If you are not an Edgeworth smoker, please give it a trial. We believe you'll like it. Edgeworth is sold by all leading stores.

Our Dumb Animals.

REPORT CHIEF AGENT S.P.A. FOR WEEK ENDING AUGUST 31st.

Attended to the landing of four carloads of cattle during the week, also two sales of cattle and sheep. Put to death two unlicensed dogs by order of the Municipal Council. I sent off the street four horses which were lame, one of which the owner is going to have put to death. Attended to the case reported in the Daily News, Monday, 27th inst., of a horse falling on Freshwater Road. The horse is owned at present by a country farmer who got in an exchange with a horse jobber. It was lately owned by one of our largest Water Street business firms, and after putting in many years of faithful service, they changed it for the farmer's and within the last three months it has changed hands several times. I think it a great pity for business firms to hand over an animal which has given them years of faithful service, when it should have been humanely put to death. Instead of that it was allowed to be passed from one to another going from bad to worse. One sold frosty night last spring I was called about a horse which was wandering around the streets. This horse last year was sold from Government House stables before the arrival of our present Governor, where it had spent years as a carriage horse and it was then sold to a truckman to make his living with it. I do hope that something will be done to prevent this sweeping business and the sale of old and worn out horses. Will all lovers of animals kindly see in future that aged horses are humanely disposed of instead of being sold for a few dollars and turned adrift into a cruel, cold, hard world, after serving their masters faithfully. I also received a complaint from Grand Bank of a horse owned by Wm. French. This case is being investigated by the aid of police authorities. Will all friends please help the work of caring for the animals by phoning any complaints to—

JONAS BARTER, Chief Agent.
