SHOWER BATHS FOR THE HORSES.

No Wonder They Like It in the Weather We Are Having.

No observer of city scenes can have failed to have noted the kindness which drivers show to their horses in this weather. The introduction of cable cars has led to the weeding out of the old and sickly horses of the street car lines, and the superintendents of the big stables have learned that it is better to have frequent relays for their horses and keep their stock in good condition rather than save the wages of a few extra men at the expense of the horses.

Perhaps the most astonishing thing to a visitor to New York is the unblinking stoicism with which the street car horses accept a stream of water between the eyes from a hose in the hands of one of the helpers. The horses are arranged along the street with their heads toward the gutter, and one of the hands in charge stands off a distance of ten or fifteen feet and plays a hose on them during the heated hours of the day. First their steaming backs are cooled off and then the stream is played on the horses' heads between the eyes. The splashing and splash of the water can be heard half a block away, and as the stream is shifted from one horse to another along the line the horses at the far end may be seen looking meditatively and curiously down at the ones who are getting the shower bath and awaiting their turn with as much of an expression of enjoyment as any car horses can possibly display. —[New York Sun.]

THE PREACHER'S WIFE.

The Interesting Story of a Lady Who Had Lived for Thirty Years in the State of Sudden Death.

(From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

Mrs. S. S. Balaire, wife of Rev. S. S. Balaire, of Horine Station, Mo., has for many years led the life of an invalid to whom the dread summons might come at any moment, until a kind Providence threw in her way the remedy that has restored her health. Her recovery should be repeated in every paper in the land that others suffering might profit by the experience of Mrs. Balaire and be saved. A correspondent of the Globe-Democrat determined to start the good word, and called at the Balaire home, believing that the story would be of far greater value and interest if told in the lady's own words. She welcomed the visitor to the house and expressed her willingness to be interviewed. "My story," said she, "is a simple one of suffering and relief; I have had a disease of the heart from which few ever recover, and from which I never expected to escape. I had risen and lighted a fire one morning feeling in normal health, when I suddenly became unconscious. I knew no more until I recovered my senses in bed. They told me that I was black in the face, and that when first picked up no motion of the heart was perceptible. About six years ago I was attacked with a variety of afflictions, such as short breath, extreme weakness, fainting spells, and most annoying of all, a burning, irritating nettle rash, that at times rendered me almost frantic, and as you can readily understand, seriously aggravated my heart troubles. One day glancing over a religious paper published in Montreal (I was born in London, England, and was married in Canada, where I lived for a while), I read the testimony of a lady whose case was much like mine, and who had been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Having seen the remedy advertised in other reputable papers, I resolved to try them. It was a heavenly resolution. The first box had a most miraculous effect. The nettle rash disappeared, as by magic, my trouble yielded to the medicine like the snow yields to the spring-time sun, and I feel better today than I have for twenty years. I cannot say too much about my improved condition. My blood is full and rich, my appetite is good, my nerves are steady. I sleep soundly and wake up refreshed, perform the manifold duties of the household, and my heart must be in good condition when I answer to all these conditions."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, and where given a fair trial disease and suffering must vanish. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box, or $2.50 for six boxes by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and refuse trashy substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

TRADE IN THE STATES.

The Outlook as Reported by the Commercial Agencies.

NEW YORK, July 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The heavy outgo of gold, the fall of the treasury reserve and of the price of wheat to the lowest point on record, and the increasing depression of the money market, have shadowed other influences. Business delayed for months by two great strikes now crowd the railroads, swelling the returns and giving the impression of revival in business, but it is not yet clear how far there is an increase.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Bradstreet's says: Looking at the course of general trade throughout the United States within the week have not resulted in a net gain. Prolonged drought and hot winds have damaged corn and other crops in Nebraska and fears are entertained of like losses in Kansas. The outlook for the yield in the spring wheat States is regarded as unfavorable. Several thousand striking miners in Ohio, Indiana and Alabama refuse to return to work at rates agreed upon in conference, and this continues to depress business throughout tributary regions. Iron, steel and other industries are hampered throughout the Pittsburgh district for lack of coke which restricts production in the face of a mildly improved market. Exports of gold from New York are regarded as an unfavorable influence and there are more unfavorable reports of mercantile collection. More serious in its disorganizing effect on general business is the continued delay to tariff legislation.

Special telegrams from Toronto report the wholesale trade quiet; farmers busy with harvesting and country merchants doing little. From Montreal it is reported business is light in all lines, and that there is no immediate prospects for improvement until after the settlement of the tariff question in the United States. Halifax reports crops throughout the Province all very favorable, which lends encouragement to all liney Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $21,500,000 this week, a gain of about 5 per cent over last week and of nearly 25 per cent as compared with the corresponding week a year ago. There are 32 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada for the week, against 43 last week and 33 in the week a year ago.

LINDSAY IN LUCK.

Has an Earthquake All to Itself—Nobody Hurt.

LINDSAY, Ont., July 27.—About 4:30 last night a shock of earthquake was felt in this town. There was a tremor in the earth which lasted for two or three seconds and was followed by a report or explosion which sounded like a cannon that had been fired a long distance off. Houses were shaken and windows rattled. Quite a number resident in the south ward rushed out of their houses, thinking a mill boiler had exploded. No damage appears to have been done, nor have we heard of any. There is no doubt it was a shock of earthquake.

Latest Reading Novelties.

What the Midsummer Magazines and Novels Contain.

In Harper's Magazine for August Du Maurier's "Tribly" comes to an end. The readers of "Tribly" will not want anything to take its place, this month at all events; they will nurse their grief for a time. But there are other articles and stories in the number than "Tribly," and the magazine is very interesting. It is splendidly illustrated.

"The Queen of Ecuador," by R. M. Manley, author of "Some Children of Adam." New York: The H. W. Hagemann Publishing Company. Among the 50 cent paper issues of the day this story is notable. Told with skill, vigor and in a smooth, easily flowing style, it is very charming to read. The plot is highly original and sensational, but the author tells a startling story in so quiet a manner that he escapes the reproach of too great strain after effect. The tale can hardly be outlined in a brief notice, but contains pleasant love-making, some gentle satire and many dramatic situations.

"Fostering the Savage in the Young," is the promising caption of a paper in the August Arena, which comes from the pen of the editor of the review. It deals with the remarkable growth of military organizations within the very pale and under the auspices and encouragement of the Christian churches. The writer views this development of militarism from the standpoint of the Peace Society, and points out the incongruity of this lust for war. Lowell calls it murder, and the avowed purpose of the Christian churches.

Here is an agreeable story which Mark Twain is quoted as telling about himself: It gave him great pleasure, he said, to hear that his works were almost the only thing which Mr. Darwin read during the last year of his life. He had heard that Mr. Darwin suffered from a kind of mental atrophy, and was forbidden to read anything but absolute drivel.

The biographical sketches given by Littell's Living Age is one of its most attractive features. Recent issues give us two or three of special interest. No. 2610 contains, under the title of "The Wicked Cardinal," a delightfully readable article on Cardinal de Retz. A paper that will be, perhaps, more extensively appreciated, is a long and valuable sketch of "Handel: Man and Musician," by Frederick J. Crockett, in No. 2612. Each number of this magazine can be relied upon to contain something to suit every taste. Its field is so wide and its range of subjects so limitless that it cannot fail to interest and instruct. Published by Littell & Co., Boston.

The Methodist Magazine for August. Price $1 for six months. Toronto: William Briggs. This number commences with a very attractive article by Mrs. Judge Carman, of Cornwall, entitled, "A Rainy Day on Mount Hermon, and Scenes in Damascus," fully illustrated. Another paper, with fine engravings, is "Over the Summering Roadway and Through Styria," by the editor; "Mrs. Gladstone and Her Good Works," by Mary G. Burnett, shows how close the great English statesman's wife is in practical sympathy with the unfortunate classes of society. Another philanthropic article, showing forth genuine charity, is entitled, "A Colony of Mercy," by Kate T. Sizer. The methods of the Salvation Army are considerably worked out on these lines. "Light in Dark Places," describes mission work at the Florence Nightingale Mission, New York. The Scotch paragon story, "Spindles and Oars," illustrated, gives glimpses of native character which are very interesting. The Cornish story presents some pathetic scenes. This number ends the temperance story of "The Dragon and the Tea-Kettle."

Among the interesting papers in the August Arena are Rev. Minot J. Savage's "The Present Conflict for a Larger Life in the Social World"; Hon. John Davis on "Money in Politics"; Rabbi Solomon Schneider on "Insurance and the Nation"; B. O. Flower's "Then Dawned a Light in the East," comparing the civilization of Christendom today with that of the Roman Empire 2,000 years ago; Dr. Sydney Brinton Elliott's "Pre-Natal Influence"; S. B. Riggs' "The Land Question and the Single Tax"; Prof. Thomas E. Will, M.A., on "Criminals and Prisons," and a paper reviewing militarism in the public schools, by the editor, entitled "Fostering the Savage in the Young." Altogether it is a notable budget of social thought.

The July number of the Canadian Magazine contains an interesting variety of articles, some of them of striking merit; the illustrations, too, are excellent. Walter Townsend's "The Supernatural in Macbeth" is a valuable and most readable addition to Shakespearean studies. "Three Years Among the Eskimos," by J. W. Tyrrell, the explorer, is well illustrated, excellently written, and full of most interesting information. "Papineau and His Home," by the late Thos. P. Gorman, is a timely illustrated article on the history and environments of that noted family. Hon. Donald MacInnes, Senator, contributes a copiously illustrated article on the Bahamas. The fourth in the series of articles, "In Northwestern Wilds," by Wm. Ogilvie, F.R.G.S., deals with the exciting narrative of his journey from Fort Nelson, on the Laird, to St. John, on the Peace River—a journey amid the grandest scenery, but full of danger. Amongst other contributions are "The Criminal and Artificial Production of Deformities and Monstrosities," by G. Archie Stockwell, M.D.; "Out Door Sport in Australia," by J. L. Payne, and two capital stories, "Pandora," by Miss E. Yates Farmer, and "A Story of the Metropolis," by Mrs. H. Cameron Nelles Wilson. The Canadian Magazine is well deserving of the heartiest support of Canadians. Published by the Ontario Publishing Company (Limited) Toronto, $2.50 per annum.

TOKRID TEMPERATURE!

How the Mercury Has Been Trying to Get Out of the Bulb.

The present phenomenally hot weather appears to have extended over a very large section of the continent. On Thursday throughout the entire Mississippi Valley, Ohio Valley, Texas and Indian Territory the temperatures considerably exceeded 90°.

At Sioux City, Ia., the mercury marked 107° at the Government observatory. At Quincy, Ill., the mercury went up to 105°.

At Marshalltown, Ia., it was 108°. All kinds of work was suspended. The crop is believed to be nearly ruined.

At Waterloo, Ia., the temperature reached 105°, and at Des Moines 110°.

Reports from Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Kansas show that the heat yesterday was the greatest in years. Farmers are drying up, and many farmers are unable to find feed for their cattle. It has not rained for many weeks, and the corn crop is said to be badly damaged.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 27.—For the past three days intense heat has prevailed all over this section. No rain has fallen for two weeks, and the corn crop in some places has been ruined, and unless rain falls very soon the remainder will shrivel up. The thermometer at Dodge City yesterday was 105° in the shade and in this city at 1:30 today 96° was registered. The damage to corn in Western Kansas is believed to be incalculable.

THE TORONTO INDUSTRIAL FAIR

Increased Number of Entries—Some Special Features.

TORONTO, July 27.—Everybody in Toronto is looking forward with unusual interest to the opening of Toronto Industrial Fair on Sept. 3 next. The entries are more numerous than ever before and the city's facilities for the accommodation of visitors will be taxed to the utmost to provide for the influx. The system of cheap excursions and reduced railroad fares has done much to popularize the fair with those living at a distance.

The arrangements for the accommodation of live stock are greatly improved. There will be a remarkably full and choice display of horses and cattle. Increased premiums for the popular feature of speeding on the track will induce greater competition and add considerably to the interest of the various events.

The enormous increase in the number of cheese entries has made it imperative to devote greater space to this industry. This year the entire dairy building will be given over to cheese. The amount to be given in prizes has been doubled. As premiums are now awarded for June as well as August cheese this additional inducement creates great interest among dairymen. Among the competitors will be a large number from Prince Edward Island.

There will be a special display of fish in great variety, both living and stuffed. The fisheries department at Ottawa will show two fish incubators in operation.

A special attraction for the evenings will be the grand pyrotechnic piece entitled "The Siege of Algiers," which has created a great sensation in leading European and American cities. It is on a scale hitherto unapproached, employing no fewer than 400 performers and presenting the most brilliant and superb effects.

All entries for live stock, dairy products, ladies' work, honey and manufactures close on Aug. 11, and those for grain, roots and horticultural products on the 18th.

WHO WAS WILMOT?

Montrealers Baffled by a Confidence Man.

MONTREAL, Que., July 27.—Some weeks ago a dashing young fellow came here who gave his name as Clarence Wilmot and his native place as Havana. In some manner or other he received an entree into Montreal society and soon cut a dashing figure. He spent money lavishly, and gave out that his mother was a millionaire half a dozen times.

A few days ago Wilmot announced to his friends that he intended to marry Miss Marjorie of Three Rivers, and he proposed to do it in grand style. He chartered the R. and O. steamer Canada and issued over 300 invitations for a trip down the river, which should have taken place Saturday evening. Great preparations were made for the trip. Champagne was ordered and prominent people were to have been present.

Today there was wailing and gnashing of teeth when it was found that Mr. Wilmot had disappeared and the grand festivities declared off. It has been found that there is no such person in Three Rivers as Miss Marjorie, and now people who made his acquaintance are wondering who Mr. Wilmot was.

They called to him that the scow was aground, and to come to their assistance. This he did. He had no sooner got on board the scow than he was assaulted. He was stabbed in the leg with a pike pole and struck and beaten until he became unconscious. He was then robbed of his watch and $23 in cash, and eggs, butter and other supplies he had in his boat taken. He was then placed in his boat and sent adrift.
