From THE DAILY COLONIST, April 11. PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD.

The Payment of Substitutes and the Model School System Discussed.

Upright Writing the Favorite Penmanship of the Present Day.

The amount of compensation to be paid to temporary assistants on the teaching staff. and the desirability of introducing the model school system in the Victoria schools, were the two important subjects which occupied the attention of the board of school trustees at the monthly meeting of that body held last evening. Chairman Hayward presided, and all members of the board

The first item of business came in the form of a complaint from Mr. J. A. Cohen. that Mr. Sallaway, teacher of the third division of the Central school, had administered unnecessarily severe punishment to his son—that in fact the bruises received at the teacher's hands remained for months. In justice to both complainant and teacher, Trustees Marchant and Lewis were named as a special committee to investigate and report. The special committee in re. the Walls Mrs. Caldwell grievance reported that an amicable decision had been reached. The Victoria Electric Tramway Co. by letter refused the application of the board for passes, but offered to allow a discount of five per cent. on a purchase of $100 worth of tickets. The letter was filed. City Treasurer Charles Kent transmitted to the board $5 65, the balance of the Pem berton gymnasium bequest; this amount was ordered placed to the credit of the gymnasium fund. Miss Lucretia Horton endered her resignation as a member of the teaching staff, which was accepted with an expression of regret; and various applicaions for supplies went to the standing committee. Applications for engagement of the teaching staff were filed for future consider-The reports of the several teachers as to the state of the school furniture in their charge were received and filed, and on motion a new desk was ordered for Mr. E. Russell's room.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE. Principal E B. Paul of the Collegiate Institute in his quarterly report, after referring to the changes necessitated by the death of assistant master Nell Heath, presented the following information:

Considering the large number of pupils under preparation for the coming teachers examination, and seeing that these pupils require constant drill in subjects that are not necessary for other pupils who have other aims in life, I have formed a Normal class in the High school where pupils are not only prepared for these exam but where they also receive practical instruction in the art of teaching. With the view of rendering this part of their education still more practical, it is my intention, provided the board of school trustees do not bject, to apply to the Superintendent of education for permission to use the public schools of this city as model schools, so that the pupils of the model school normal tion could of course be provided for by the class might have the opportunity of testing the theoretical knowledge already in their possession, by actual work in the school room. I would suggest that Friday forencous should be devoted to this purpose. Mr. Russell is in charge of the purpose, which comprises all candidates for the next teachers' examinations with the exception of a few aspirants for First B certificates who remain under my tuition.

first and second divisions. I still have sions, but in some cases it is convenient to teach both together. This I do as far as I can without detriment to the more advance ed pupils. The separation of the normal class has been a distinct advantage to pupils who do not need to keep up all the subjects required by teachers in asmuch as they are now enabled to devote more time to subjects that will be of practical value to them in after life. In this connection I should observe that although I am at all times glad to hear from pupils their intentions as to their future or and although in some instances I know exactly what certain pupils require, yet I should be glad if parents having children in any division of this school would call on me and discuss their boys' or their daughters' futures with me so that I may be enabled to irect their studies to the best advantage. My work for the High school does not terminate with school hours, or I should try to see parents at their own homes. But considering the number of pupils in the High school, and the limited time at my disposal,

Central schools, the North Ward and South

Central schools, the North Ward and South Park schools reported the work in their charge as advancing steadily and satisfactorily, the teachers being thoroughly alive to the importance of their work.

In connection with these reports a delegation of teachers presented themselves with the object of addressing the board on the subject of the resolution adopted by the hoard on the 18th of September last, and board on the 18th of September last, and which read as follows:

Moved by Trustee Glover, seconded by Trustee Lewis and carried, that in all cases of leave of absence hereafter granted, the name of the proposed substitute shall be first submitted to the board for their approval and the salary paid the substitute shall in all cases not be less than the amount appertaining to the position which the sub-stitute is called upon to fill."

Mr. S. B. Netherby, as chairman of the teachers' delegation, thought that a per-centage of the salary, say sixty per cent. should be paid by a teacher, who through illness might require the services of a substitute. As no substitute could do as effi clent work as the regular teacher, and as the should be paid. The teachers were agreed upon the fairness of this proposition in cases of illness; they were also agreed that when a teacher desired to take a pleasure vacation, the full salary should go to the Mr. A. B. McNeill, Miss A. D. Cameron and others of the delegation spoke briefly to the same effect. TRUSTEE LEWIS could see no possible reason why teachers should receive more consideration than other mortals—if they were ill and unable to discharge their duties it was their misfortune and the board should ot pay salaries for services not performed. If a substitute was engaged in any of the city schools that substitute was supposed to be competent and should receive the usual salary. If a teacher was absent from ill ness or any other cause it was the scholar and the school that suffered-not the TRUSTEE GLOVER explained that in moving the original resolution he had been prompted by the fact that several of the teachers had found it convenient and at the same time profitable to leave substitutes in charge of their departments, paying them only a proportion of their salaries. He took the point that as his resolution applied only in cases where leave of absence was sought and granted, it did not touch cases of illness, and consequently the views of the teachers were already fully met. The resolution applied only in cases of special plea-

CHAIRMAN HAYWARD coincided in this view of the case.
TRUSTEE SAUNDERS thought that certainly some consideration should be shown teachers incapacitated by illness from discharging their duties. The illness of teachers was frequently due to their close confinement to the school room.

TRUSTEE MARCHANT held that the responsibility continued with the teacher even during the substitute's engagement, and moved that in cases of protracted illness 60 per cent. of the salary should go to the substitute employed—casual days of indisposi-tion could of course be provided for by the

PENMANSHIP.

Penmanship in the school was the subject of reports from the several principals, the Spencerian system being taught in the majority of the divisions, and the modern "upright hand" being the model at the Boys' Central and Spring Ridge schools—the latter being the favorite system, and it being proposed to make it general. The standard of writing in the schools, the board agreed, was excorable, and it was finally decided that the Challenger has a complete to the control of the co pencerian system being taught in the mahat the Chairman be a committee of one to Interview the Superintendent of Education in the matter, and obtain his advice as to the steps necessary to be taken for the improvement of the school standard of pen-
