

THE CITY AND VICINITY.

THE DAILY ROUND OF LIFE IN AND ABOUT TORONTO.

What the People are Doing and Saying and Thinking About—Brief Notes Gathered Everywhere by Wide-Awake World Reporters.

Markets and health committee at 8 p.m. to-day. The public school trustees met at 7.45 to-night.

The market is poor this week owing to the bad weather. Parkdale's assessment amounts to nearly one million dollars.

Work on the Huntley street sewer was commenced yesterday. Get your dogs tagged. The dog catchers will be on the road in a few days.

Hayley is being exported from Toronto at the average rate of twelve cars a day. A special meeting of the city council has been called for to-night for general business.

Large shipments of telegraph posts continue to be made from this city to the States. L. O. L. No. 275 has voted a liberal donation towards the building fund of the new Orange hall.

Work on the pipe extension has been at a standstill for some days past owing to the rough weather. During Monday night burglars forced an entrance into Robert Jones' store at Parkdale and stole $50 and a quantity of goods.

The zoological and acclimatization association of Ontario has made a call of ten per cent on the stock; $6000 is already subscribed. Benjamin Hoskins had his left arm broken by falling off a street car near the corner of Yonge and Adelaide streets yesterday afternoon.

The public should remember that the plank line in rear of Gordon & Mackay's store is public property and that they have a perfect right to make it a thoroughfare. Upwards of one hundred people left for the Great Western yesterday for Manitoba and the Northwest. Most of them were women and children going to join their husbands and fathers.

The Yorkville voters' list for 1881 were revised by Judge Boyd yesterday, twenty-eight new names being put on and twenty-three names being struck off. The latest fraud in the country is a young man going under the name of C. H. Arlington who is taking dollar subscriptions for a new pattern paper in the name of Lord & Taylor, Toronto, who don't exist.

George Murray was buried in a drain on Eglinton avenue Monday afternoon, the sides having caved in. He was speedily dug out by his companions. This is the third accident of the kind Murray has met with. Major Gray recently sold a triangular piece of land in Parkdale to Mr. Stewart of Beeton for $1000. The purchaser intends removing his saw and flour factory from Beeton and establishing it in the forest suburb.

The commercial travellers' association are giving up their rooms in Millhouse's building, Adelaide street, and have rented others in the Mechanics' institute building, where the members will have the use of the billiard and reading rooms, etc. Mr. McFarlane has been favored with a commission to sell the furniture and furnishings of Mr. Cockburn, late principal of Upper Canada college. The sale will be one of the most important of its kind ever held in the city. See advertisement.

The lodge of Canadian Oddfellows at Parkdale is flourishing and increasing. Five new members were proposed Monday night and eight are to be initiated next meeting night. Since its organization last month ago the lodge has taken in $259.97, and expended $101.93.

Thursday being Thanksgiving day the post office will be open for business only between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. The morning papers will be delivered as usual, but will not be carried to the doors of subscribers. However, throughout the entire day, will have access to the general delivery wicket, and box holders will be able to get their mail matter at any time.

Mr. Goodwill, broker of Court street, states that the report published in this paper, and contained in the Monetary Times, saying that A. M. Orpen had lost money, by his (Mr. Goodwill's) failure, is not true. Mr. Goodwill has not failed, nor has he any intention of doing so.

Building permits have been granted to Joseph McCauland for a three-store brick addition to shop at No. 76 King street west, to cost $2000; to the Dominion belt company for a brick machine shop, to cost $400; and to R. Dennis for two brick houses, two stories each, on corner of Simcoe and Anderson streets, to cost $1800.

Some persons have queer notions. They think nothing of coming into a newspaper office every morning and dead-beating a paper without the slightest hint, but if they find it in their place of business and walk off with a bottle of ink, a package of envelopes, or a pair of boots as the case might be, they would be apt to say, "The cases are similar, for both are thefts. Will anybody take the hint?"

Mr. Pat Finnegan, the well-known saloonist, met with a very painful accident yesterday forenoon. He was seized with a fit at King and Church streets and fell to the sidewalk, his head striking on a sharp point, which inflicted a deep gash. The wound bled freely. Mr. Finnegan was driven to his late saloon on Church street, where he was attended by Dr. Casseley, who put three stitches in the wound. The gash is doing as well as can be expected.

Interim sessions yesterday: The oft-adjourned case of Dexter v. Johnston was called, but some of the parties were not ready and it was once more put off for a week. David Neely, who is alleged to have stolen some money from one Martin Nelson in Burns' unlicensed house on York street, was acquitted. The court helped him to his home in Georgia. The case against Russell Morton, Jr., was next heard. He was charged with having stolen a bundle of property of Ann Park. Prisoner pleaded not guilty and was admitted to bail, to appear when called.

The members and friends of the Queen street Baptist (colored) church held a very pleasant social Monday night. In recognition of the divine law of the brotherhood of man, Dr. Wild was there, and made a nice address, congratulating the congregation upon the success of their church work and encouraging them in future efforts. The social was for the purpose of clearing off the debt on the parsonage and an amount of over $80,000. The meeting adjourned for five minutes, when a meeting of the shareholders was held. They appointed a committee on nominations and adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. The trustees then met again and spent the remainder of the time in considering the reports presented.

A common, and often fatal, disease is Jaundice. Regulate the action of the liver and cleanse the blood with Burdock Blood Bitters, and the worst case may be speedily cured. Sample bottles 10 cents. 23456.

A Montreal dispatch says the Quebec elections will occur in December or January next.

THE BAPTIST COLLEGE.

Dedication of McMaster Hall—Address by Hon. A. Mackenzie—A Splendid Gift and a Happy Honor.

The splendid college which William McMaster has given to the Baptist community throughout the province, was dedicated yesterday in an appropriate manner. The leading characteristics of the event were the good feeling exhibited towards the Baptists by all the other Protestant denominations; the absence of any fulsome flattery toward the giver of the gift; the recognition of the fact that a better-trained ministry is to be secured in a college which sends its graduates to the various churches of the national university and thus confers its energies to its theological work; and that there was no place in the Dominion where so many advantages and aids to this end existed as in Toronto. Everyone seemed pleased that the tall senator was there himself presiding over the dedication, and looking as if he would for years to come be able to take an interest in the work which he has done for the community.

Among those present were Senator McMaster (chairman), President Castle and Professor Newman and M. C. Vassar of the college, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Hon. Adam Crooks, Principal Caven and Professors Gregg and McLaren of Knox college, Rev. Messrs. Sherman and Semple of Parkdale, the Protestant Episcopal Divinity school, President Wilson and Professors Young and Hirschfelder of University college, Rev. Dr. Fosta, Rev. W. S. Balfour, and a large number of Baptist ministers and representative Baptists from different parts of the province, as well as many city ministers of the other denominations. The services were conducted in the large hall of the college, and were only marred by the length of some of the speeches.

Senator McMaster sketched the position occupied by the institute at Woodstock, and the need that was felt for a new school in theology where students could aid themselves of the course of the university and other advantages not found in small towns. After much conversation the decision was taken to locate the college in Toronto. The work was now completed, and he thought it would be well to refer to the whole thing had been placed in the hands of a body of trustees numbering twenty-five members, including professors, and the college now went into operation under circumstances which could hardly be otherwise than favorable. There was something solemn in the contemplation that here for generations the Bible would be held up as the one rule of faith and practice. Here, in the annals of Christ, the punishment of the finally impenitent will be fully indicated. Here these ministers would be educated, not only to preach the gospel in Ontario but in the whole Dominion, and even in foreign lands. There was one man to whom they were all indebted, and that was Dr. Castle.

After prayer and the reading of the scriptures Hon. Alex. Mackenzie delivered an address that was well received and appropriate to the occasion. Rev. A. H. Munro, Moderator, addressed the assembly and Dr. Castle, and Professors Newman and McVicar responded. A judicial prayer was delivered by Rev. Mr. Denovan. A tea was served in the refectory at the close of the proceedings.

A lecture was delivered in the Jarvis street hall by the Rev. Mr. W. S. Balfour, D.D., of Louisville, Ky. The Dr. took for his subject "The education of Baptist ministers," and was the concluding portion of the dedication.

THE LICENSED VICTIMS.

The New Trade Association—Secretary Hodge on a Tour of Organization—Threatening a Member.

A meeting of the Toronto licensed victuaries association was held in the hall yesterday. Secretary Hodge laid before the members the objects of the Ontario trade benevolent association. The meeting was so well attended with the exception that a large sum was subscribed towards paying the secretary's expenses during his tour of organization in the province. At the close of the meeting Mr. Hodge stated that one of the members of the association had been threatened by a brewer in this city that he would take the law into his own hands if he did not stop the sale of beer. Mr. Hodge said that he would not be deterred from his duty, and that the association might know what steps to take in the matter.

FOUND DEAD IN CULVERT.

As Alex. Denovan and Wm. Argue were walking along the Grand Trunk track near the cattle byres early yesterday morning, they found the body of a man in a culvert that crosses the Garrison creek. The body was lying parallel to the rails, the arms being stretched out above the head. There were no marks of violence except on the head, which was covered with blood. A word was at once sent to the Union station, and an engine was dispatched to the spot. The body was placed on the engine and brought to the city. It was then given to the coroner, who had it removed to the morgue.

The deceased's name was Hozaek and he had friends living on Queen street. He was recognized by some papers in his possession. It is supposed that he fell through the culvert while walking along the track in the dark. He had been hired to work on the South Side. Marie branch of the Canada Pacific railway.

CANADIAN LITERARY INSTITUTE.

A meeting of the trustees of the Canadian literary institute was held in Alexander street Baptist church yesterday morning. By way of notice of motion the new act of incorporation of the Canadian literary institute and the draft constitution were read. The principal changes proposed are the alteration of the name to "Woodstock College," and the appointment of trustees by the Baptist union without restriction as to their religious denomination, the rule at present being that two-thirds of the trustees must be Baptists. Reports were read from the executive and investment committees, the treasurer, the principal of the college and from Mr. Dyke, who was appointed to raise an endowment fund for the college, and who reported subscriptions to an amount of over $80,000. The meeting adjourned for five minutes, when a meeting of the shareholders was held. They appointed a committee on nominations and adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. The trustees then met again and spent the remainder of the time in considering the reports presented.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

James O'Connor, who says he came from Barrie, stole a sponge from Dilworth's drug store yesterday evening, and was promptly run in by Policeman Slemin. He will probably be squeezed worse than the sponge was before he gets out.

While the meeting was going on in Trinity church vestry last night some boy got up an overflow meeting outside in which they expressed their tireless approval of everything done inside. Becoming somewhat obstreperous and heedless of the remonstrances of the sexton, the boy came along and arrested one of them named Donald Henderson.

His name is James Jones and he boarded with George Collins at 53 Richmond street. He considered it worth his while to be sufficient to clothe him properly and comfortably these chilly days, and augmented them by an extra coat, the remainder of his boarding-house boss. But Mr. Collins spoiled Mr. Jones' little game by calling in the police and the bad boarder last night found himself in disgrace.

A confirmation, services were held at St. Luke's church last night, and the candidates were confirmed. They were presented by Rev. Mr. Langtry rector of the church. A Montreal dispatch says the Quebec elections will occur in December or January next.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Yonge Street Block Pavement—The Board Resolved to Postpone Until Spring.

The board of works met yesterday at 3 with a bare quorum, consisting of the chairman and Ald. Steiner, Carlyle, Irwin and Farley. Subsequently Ald. Baxter arrived. The main business of the meeting was the laying of the contract for the block paving on Yonge street gave rise to a discussion as to who was responsible for the custody of such documents. The city clerk said he had found nothing in the by-laws bearing on the subject, but it had been the custom for the engineer to take charge of such contracts. The engineer said he was not an engineer's work. The by-law being read showed that the contractor should be in the custody of the secretary.

The secretary said that one day last week he had brought a pile of contracts into the board room and laid them on the table. He could not read the contract by the Yonge street contract was among them. He left the room and returned with a copy of the contract looking over the contracts could not find it. Previous to this occasion the last time he had seen it was in the possession of the solicitor Mr. Blevins said that the last week he had been trying to find it. Ald. Baxter said he had been looking for it for some time. It occurred in a man's own business he would have employed the police to make an investigation. He moved that the contract be referred to the board of works to take such stringent measures for the recovery of the same as they may think proper. The resolution was carried unanimously.

During the discussion it was brought out that Gosdon & West had stated their intention of taking no advantage of the loss of the contract if it cannot be found, and their willingness to sign a new contract in exactly the same words.

Ald. Carlyle moved that all contracts connected with the board of works be kept in duplicate, one to be kept in close custody of the other used for purposes of inspection.

The block pavement. Ald. Baxter, speaking with reference to the report of the solicitor Mr. Blevins, indignantly repelled the insinuation, made at that meeting that there was collusion between the board of works and the contractor. He thought it was the best thing for the city to stop the work at Gould street, and to have the contract referred to the board of works to take such stringent measures for the recovery of the same as they may think proper. The resolution was carried unanimously.

Edmund Wheatley corroborated the evidence of his companion as to the scene in the street. Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

Dr. Irwin, who was the surgeon, said that the nature of the wound. Evidence as to the arrest of the prisoner was given by Detective Brown, who traced him through the streets of the city. He was arrested at the corner of the street where he was charged. A man named Peude testified as to having heard the shots.

MR. ROSS AND MR. MILLS.

Preliminary Trial of the Black Clerk for Shooting the Soldier.

The Queen's park shooting case was started by the police magistrate yesterday before a full court-room. Many of the spectators were friends of the prisoner, who carried himself quite well in the dock. His father was present and watched the case very attentively and seemed to feel pretty bad. A young lady loudly wept throughout the case during the proceedings. She was said to be the lady who was with young Mills in the park. Her name was not made public. The charge against Wm. Mills was shooting with intent to murder P. Stewart Ross, Q.C. appeared for him. The county attorney represented the crown.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

Mr. Ross, who wore a black silk handkerchief round his head, told the story of the shooting. He said that on Saturday morning he was going home with Mr. Wheatley across the Queen's park. When he was about half-way across the park, and when near the gate he heard a shot. He looked in the direction from which the shot proceeded and saw something under the trees. He was walking towards the gate when he heard a shot.

OAK HALL. 115, 117, 119 AND 121 KING STREET EAST, TORONTO. OAK HALL'S prices are pronounced by all to be the LOWEST FOR CLOTHING. We show great value in OVERCOATS FOR MEN AND BOYS, All Styles.

See our Superior Stock of SUITS, the most fashionable styles. WE GUARANTEE A FIT. We are receiving orders from all parts of Canada for our goods. Our Show of Clothing is the Largest. WE DEEM IT A PLEASURE TO SHOW OUR GOODS. OAK HALL.

John M. McFarlane & Co., 67 YONGE STREET. IMPORTANT Unreserved Auction Sale OF COSTLY AND ELEGANT HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE.

EDWARD MCKEOWN, 182 YONGE STREET. WILL TO-DAY Make a Special Display of LADIES' MISSES and CHILDRENS Knitted Ulsters, Hooded Mitts to match, "VERY CHEAP" Knitted Wool, Squares, Shawls, Comfortables, Clouds, Hoodies, Etc. LADIES' KNITTED WOOL JERSEYS, Clearing at $1.50, worth $3.00. In all colors.

Valuable Rosewood Piano, by Steinway, N.Y. Gilt Frame Pier and Mantle Mirrors, Oil Paintings, Water Colors, and Steel Engravings, by celebrated masters, Objects of Art and Rare Articles of Furniture, Handmade Crystal Gasoliers and side, by Oiler, London, Eng., Crimson Satin, French Velvet and Cretonne Curtains with draperies complete (by Thierard, Paris), Complete Glass Dinner Service, very handsome (285 pieces) by Oiler, London, Eng., the finest of Wilton and Brussels Carpets throughout, Blue Satin-Lined Clarence Family Carriage (cost $1900 in New York), Wagonette (Very stylish), Set Double Harness, two sets Single Harness, English Saddle and Bridle, Thoroughbred Cow, Mahogany Baccellé Table (slate top, with balls, cues and markers complete) etc., at the residence of G. R. R. COCKBURN, ESQ., (Principal of Upper Canada College), on Tuesday Next, 25th Oct. 1881.

GREAT INDUCEMENT. Novelties in Embroidered Linen Collars, Real Lace Collars, Collarettes, Handkerchiefs, Etc. in every style. Real and Imitation Laces. HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR. We are showing an unusually large and varied stock of all grades from Low Priced to the Finest Grades.

EDWARD MCKEOWN'S, 182 Yonge-st., Third Door north of Queen. GENTS' FURNISHINGS. MANUFACTURED AT 283 QUEEN STREET WEST.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA. The gifted Kennedy family sang before the Grand Opera and appeared at Shafsbury hall last night. Their programme was of a miscellaneous character, containing both the pathetic and the others dear to the Caledonian heart.

REMEMBER GRANT'S CELEBRATED SHIRTS. Are the best in the world. Have no other. To be had only at 283 QUEEN STREET WEST, G. R. GRANT & CO. INSURANCE.

TEN YEARS' RECORD. In a Life Insurance Company, conducted on the mutual principle (such as the Northern Department of the AXA) a large and substantial income to the insured, with compound interest—except that portion distributed for working expenses. Some expenses are necessary, even in charitable operations. Other things being equal, those companies are usually better recompensed in this respect than the AXA. Let us show you a better record in this respect than the AXA. Let us show you a better record in this respect than the AXA. Let us show you a better record in this respect than the AXA.

Table with columns: COMPANIES, Average Annual Income, Average Annual Expenses, etc. Lists various insurance companies and their financial performance.

SALE AT 11 O'CLOCK, TERMS CASH. Jno. M. McFarlane & Co., AUCTIONEERS. HATS AND CAPS.

HAT CLEANING. We are making Stiff Cloth Hats to match Stiffs. We are making Silk and Pullover Hats. We are making old Hats over. We have improved and enlarged. Call, Examine, SMITH, opp. St. Charles Restaurant, SHIRTS.

TRY TONKIN BROS. FALL FELT HATS. 110 YONGE STREET, and 51 King Street West. N.B.—Furs Cleaned, Repaired, and made to the Newest Styles.

UNDERTAKERS. J. YOUNG, THE LEADING UNDERTAKER, 541 YONGE STREET. V. P. HUMPHREY, UNDERTAKER, 599 Yonge St., Opp. Agnes St. THE PARAGON SHIRT. HAVE NO OTHER LEADER LANE, Toronto.

Vertical column of small advertisements on the right edge of the page, including notices for various services, businesses, and public notices.