QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Editor of FARMING:

Can you, or any of your readers, inform me which is the best to grow for cattle, the common pumpkin or the cattle squash? I want them more particularly for pigs.

Also, would pigs do themselves harm if let into a crop of peas in pod?

JNO. W. H. Welland, Ont., Dec. 15, 1898.

Will some of our readers who have had experience in feeding pumpkins and squash to pigs kindly give the above inquirer the information he seeks? Pumpkins form a good laxative food for hogs, and we would judge that cattle squash, being somewhat similar in quality, would be just as good. But we would like to hear from those who have tried them. Pigs would likely do themselves harm if turned on a crop of peas in pod to feed at will, especially if they were After they had had a few feeds and had become accustomed to it, they would not take much harm if turned into a field of peas in pod.

CHANGES IN DAIRY SCHOOL STAFF AT GUELPH.

Owing to the resignation of Mr. T. B. Millar and the continued illness of Mr. J. H. Findlay, it has been necessary to appoint two new men to the staff of 1899. The position of cheese instructor has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Jas. Morrison, Stratford, who formerly owned the Silver's Corners factory in Perth Co., but who has been employed by the Western Butter and Cheese Association as instructor and inspector for the past two years. Mr. Morrison has had twelve years' experience as a worker and has given good satisfaction as an instructor. He is likely to do well.

Mr. J. A. McFeeters, of Bowmanville, a graduate of '97 dairy class, will take charge of the home dairy. McFeeters was in charge of the dairy on the "Fowler Farm," near Cobourg, for a year and latterly has been at "Dentonia Park Farm," Toronto. He a bright young man who will no doubt give a good account of himself in this department. The school will reopen on January 4th.
