The Index for vol V of the JOURNAL, which was complete with last number, is sent out with this issue. It will be found very complete.

Matter for the BEE JOURNAL still continues to come in large quantities and all good. are pleased to observe this desire on the part of readers to assist us by contributions of the mind as well as of the pocket.

Volumes IV and V of the Journal will We can supply these in shortly be bound. cloth at $1.25 per volume, or we can furnish the whole five volumes of the BEE JOURNAL for $5.50 nicely bound in cloth with gilt title.

Occasionally we have a subscriber complain that he is receiving the JOURNAL after the date to which he has paid up. This is quite true, as all will find by turning to the front page of any issue where they will find among the "Publishers Notes," the following: "The JOURNAL will be continued to each address until otherwise ordered and all arrears paid." We do not do this from a desire to force the JOURNAL on anyone, but there are so many of our subscribers who want the paper sent right along until they write us to stop it, that we decided when we first commenced the publication of the Jour-NAL that we would continue it as above stated. That we may not take undue advantage of anvone, we make it a rule to send a circular to every subscriber the week before his subscription expires, notifying him that it expires with the NEXT issue, that we shall continue to send it on, unless we hear from him to the contrary by There is nothing compulsory return mail. about taking the JOURNAL. If we can't make the JOURNAL worth the subscription fee to every one who takes it, we prefer not to take the price of it, but if you don't want the paper, do not wait until you have received three or four extra numbers, or until your subscription has run over time a month or more, but notify us at ence and we will cut it off. If you do allow it to run on, we must of necessity insist upon your paying for it for that month. Nothing else than this would be fair to us, and no honest man would expect us to do otherwise. Instead of telling your post master to stop it, first drop us a card saying you wish us to discontinue it, and then if it is not cut off at once, you can refuse it at the hands of the post master, but don't wait a month before you do it, by the by, if you want it continued, but haven't the funds for renewal handy, wouldn't it be much more pleasant for us if you were to send us a card something like this: "Please continue the JourNAL I know my subscription has expired, but I'll remit pretty soon."

Just as we close the forms for this issue we receive from President Pringle a letter calling for applications for the position of inspector under the Foul Brood Act just passed. plications are to be sent either to the President Allen Pringle, Selby, Ont., or to the Secretary. W. Couse, Streetsville, Ont. We would suggest that applicants state fully their qualifications for the position-and especially the experience they have had with foul brood.

Commendations.

JAS. B. LEE.—I am pleased with the new departure in the C. B. J. Give us as much reading matter right along as you have in the first number and I am sure your readers will increase in numbers.

London, Ont., March 11, 1890.

W. E. Morrison.—The change in your journal is a decided improvement. If every future number is as good as the one for March 1st, we shall have a journal to be proud of. Hoping you will have the support which you richly deserve for your enterprise.

Alvinston, March 8, '90.

REV. J. R. BLACK.—The recent change is for the better and both journals are a credit to Canada.

Barrie, March 15, 1890.

W. A. Chrysler.—I am well pleased with the change the JOURNAL has undergone and also with the increased interest manifested by the editors in commenting on the articles published which has a stimulating and interesting effect upon its readers.
