Scientific and Useful.

FOR cough roast a lemon very carefully without burning it; when it is thoroughly hot, cut and squeeze into a cup upon three ounces of sugar finely powdered. Take a spoonful whenever your cough troubles you.

A FLANNEL cloth dipped into warm soap-suds, and then into whiting and applied to paint, will remove grease and dirt. Wash with clean water, and dry. The most delicate paint will not be injured and will look like new.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S Vegetable Com-pound is a most valuable medicine for ladies of all ages who may be afflicted with any form of disease peculiar to the set. I first remedies are not only put up in liquid for but in pills and lozenges in which form they are securly sent through the mails sent through the mails.

STEWED CELERY .--- Wash and trim four or five heads of celery. Cut them in equal lengths—about four inches long is the best tengths—about four inches long is the best size. Stew them in milk until quite tender. They will take about an hour and a half to cook. Season with salt. When tender, lay them in a vegetable tureen ; thicken the milk with an ounce of butter, and the same quan-tity of flour, and serve.

SARDINE SANDWICHES .- Take two boxes of sardines, and throw the contents into hot water, having first drained away all the oil. A few minutes will free the sardines from grease. Pour away the water, and dry the fish in a cloth ; then scrape away the skins and pound the sardines in a mortar till reduced to paste; add pepper, salt, and some tiny pieces of lettuce, and spread on the sandwiches. The lettuce adds very much to the flavour of the sardines.

the havour of the sardines. POMMES EN SURPRISE. — Choose some nice large apples, peel and take out the core. Put them whole into a syrup flavoured with cinnamon or lemon peel. When thoroughly done, take them out carefully and place in a compotier. Then fill up the middles with a little preserve and crystallized fruit, cut into small pieces and strew over with pounded macaroons. Boil the syrup in which the apples were cooked until quite thick, and pour into the dish.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is warranted to cure the most distressing Cough.

RICE MILK SOUP.—To every half pound of whole rice allow three quarts of milk and sugar to taste. Wash the rice well, put it into an enamelled saucepan, and pour the milk over it. Let it come to the boil over a clear fire, and then draw the saucepan on to the side and allow it to simple for the board the side and allow it to simmer for two hours, or rather more. Just before removing it from the fire, add sufficient sugar to taste. Serve either hot or cold for supper. This is an excellent vegetarian dish.

HAIR BALSAM.—A hair balsam, said by HAIR BALSAM.—A hair balsam, said by Vomacka to be of extraordinary virtues, is made as follows: Ten parts of coarsely-powdered quillaya bark and half part capsi-cum annuum are digested in sufficient alcohol and water (in equal parts) to make 120 parts of tincture. Two parts of carbonate of ammonia are rubbed up with four parts cold water and added to the tincture. The whole is now avaitated until the ammoniced salks is now agitated until the ammoniacal salts are entirely dissolved, when twelve parts good Cologne water should be added.

A WIDE SPREAD EVIL. — The great source of consumption and of ugly sores is scrofula in the blood. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the entire system and cure scrofula as well as the more common blood humors.

as the more common blood hymors. PICKLED CABBAGE.—Procure a nice, firm, dry, red cabbage, and cut it in slices. Have ready one or more jars, put in a layer of cab-bage, then sprinkle in a small quantity of salt and the usual spices on this, then another layer of cabbage, salt, and spices, repeating the dose until the jar is quite full. Next pour over sufficient cold vinegar to thorough-ly cover all. Tie down and put away in the store cupboard. In about a week or ten days look to see if more vinegar is required, and if so, add it. Tie down again, and in about two months from the date of first put-ting in pickle it will be ready for use. This is a much easier and nicer way of doing this ting in pickle it will be ready for use. This is a much easier and nicer way of doing this pickle than the old-fashioned way of cutting the cabbage in slices, sprinkling freely with salt, and leaving it for twenty-four or forty-eight hours, thereby rendering the cabbage flabby. No one who gives the new way a fair trial will go back to the old.

CATARRH :

A NEW TREATMENT.

A NEW TREATMENT. Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixm treatment for Catarrh. Out of 2,000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent, have been cured of this stubborn mailady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent, of the patients pre-senting themselves to the regular practitioner are been fitted, while the patent medicines and other ad-vertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting from the claim now generative elieved by the most scientific men that the disease with the presence of diving parasites in the tissue, Mr Dixon at once adapted his cure to their externination; this accom-plished, the Catarrh in this manner, and no other tempted to cure Catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favourable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should cor-respond with MESSRS. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King Street, west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on Catarth.--Montreal Star.
