

NEWS-Page 2

La Presse Sept. 28/84

(By Mario Fontaine)

During a friendly and cordial meeting in Washington, U.S. President Reagan and Prime Minister Mulroney agreed to meet annually and to arrange frequent meetings between ministers. Mulroney stressed that Canada was determined to follow its own course in foreign policy and encouraged Americans to invest in Canada.

La Presse Sept. 26/84

In the presence of Prime Minister Mulroney and Canadian astronaut Marc Garneau, President Reagan invited Canada to continue to share its human and technological resources with the U.S. to conquer space.

Le Soleil Sept. 20/84

(UPC and PC)

Prime Minister Mulroney said the U.S.'s decision not to impose quotas on steel imports saved thousands of Canadian jobs. He said that was just the first manifestation of the benefits that will result from improved Canadian - U.S. relations.

Le Soleil Sept 26/84

(PC)

Prime Minister Mulroney told U.S. President Reagan in Washington that Canada would intensify its co-operation with the U.S. but would maintain an independent foreign policy. The two leaders spoke of acid rain, the NEP and Canadian regulations regarding foreign investment. The two promised to meet annually.

Le Soleil Sept 19/84

(PC)

At the invitation of U.S. President Reagan, Prime Minister Mulroney will be visiting Washington next week to discuss bilateral relations.

Le Devoir Dec. 14/84

U.S. President Reagan will meet Prime Minister Mulroney in Quebec City for two days of discussions on Canada - U.S. relations in March.