

.. 122
.. 126
.. 128
.. 128
.. 128
.. 128
.. 128
.. 129
.. 129
.. 129
.. 132
.. 132
.. 133
.. 133
.. 135
.. 135
.. 135
.. 135
.. 136
.. 136
.. 138
.. 138
.. 140

NIAGARA FALLS:

EVERY MAN HIS OWN GUIDE.

CHAPTER I.

The Route to Goat Island.

IF the visitor stops at the Cataract House, and wishes in the first place to view the scenery on Goat Island, take the first left hand street, two minutes' walk brings him to the bridge that leads to the island. If at the Falls Hotel, pass the Buffalo and Niagara Falls railroad depot, incline to the left, the bridge leading over the rapids is in sight, and but a few rods before you. If at the St. Lawrence Hotel, or the Niagara House, pass up Main, take the first right hand street, pass the depot, incline as above to the left, the bridge is just before you.

The Bridge

Leading to the toll-gate, on Bath Island, is about fifty rods above the Falls. It is an object of interest; and the inquiry is not unfrequently made, how was