

From a water color painting by Miss Sarah B. Parish.

YAR T I

Looking north from the Parish homestead, the building with porch, further up the street, the "Rhoda" owned by Anthony Landers, and the hulk as the "Bittern," a prize captured from the ash, docks in 1811.

set, opposite the first building on the right is the present Cliff House, which is located in the picture on the corner of Cliff street. The large building with porch, further up the street, is the present site of L. B. Wymant's store, corner of Main and Brown streets. The brig is