Judgment Reserved in Disput- Played as an Encore - Lapiene Proved a Skilful Accompanist.

Judgment was delivered in the Meagher will case by Judge Lennox yesterday. He found that the late Thomas Meagher, the testator, was in sound mind and entirely capable of executing a will, and that no undue influence had been exercised to pursuade him to make the disposition of his property that he did. On clause five of the will, which is said to contain a technicality as to whether the estate was left in trust to the two daughters for themselves or, for the enurge family, Judge Lennox reserved judgment. The disputed clause is as follows:

Disputed Clause.

To-hold all my property in lots 8 and 8 in the third concession from the bay, together with the stocks, crops, etc., for my said daughters Mary and Margarest for themselves and to make such disposition thereof from time to time among my children or otherwise, as my said daughters died to make, they, my said daughters died to make het one of the most ardent character rewarded every member of the great Bohemian artist. The closing number, "Souvenir of Moscow," by Wieniawski, was melodic in parts as some old Celtic air with interludes like the finest and clearest pipings of birds and a brilliant finale that took the audience by storm. In response to re-peated recalls Kubelik gave the ever-popular Humoresque, as only he can give it. Even then the audience was not satisfied but applauded again and Gabriel Baplene, the accompanist, was as perfect in his part as Kubelik himself, and the manner in which he supported his principal and answered every demand of the various composi-

A resumption of the fights between the city and the Toronto Electric Light Company occurred yesterday afternoon. The scene of the conflict was north of the railway tracks on Albany avenue where the company tried to lay underground wires without a permit.

Both the city and the company bad a gang of men on hand, but it was easier and quicker to throw the earth back in the trench than it was to dig the frozen earth out, and the day closed with what might be described as a victory for the city men.

Police were on hand to preserve order, and the names of the following employees of the company were obtains edic. J. G. Croucher, foreman; R. Morris, Charles Tettley, Ernest Herbert, J.
