

mended to Colbert by Frontenac, 99; petitions for a patent of nobility and a grant of Fort Frontenac, 100; his petition granted, 100; returns to Canada, 101; oppressed by the merchants of Canada, 101; Le Ber becomes the bitter enemy of, 101; aims at the control of the valleys of the Ohio and the Mississippi, 102; opposed by the Jesuits, 102; the most dangerous rival of the Jesuits for the control of the West, 104; the Prince de Conti the patron of, 106; the Abbé Renaudot's memoir of, 106, 107; account of, 107; not well inclined towards the Récollets, 108; plots against, 113; caused no little annoyance by his brother, 114; Jesuit intrigues against, 115; attempt to poison, 116; exculpates the Jesuits, 116; letter to the Prince de Conti, 118; the Jesuits induce men to desert from, 118; defamed to Colbert, 119; at Fort Frontenac, 120; sails again for France, 122; his memorial laid before Colbert, 122; urges the planting of colonies in the West, 123; receives a patent from Louis XIV., 124; forbidden to trade with the Ottawas, 125; given the monopoly of buffalohides, 126; makes plans to carry out his designs, 126; assistance received from his friends, 127; invaluable aid received from Henri de Tonty, 127; joined by La Motte de Lussière, 129; sails for Canada, 129; makes a league with the Canadian merchants, 129; met by Father Hennepin on his return to Canada, 130;

joined by Father Hennepin, 131; relations with Father Hennepin, 134, 135; sets out to join La Motte, 141; almost wrecked, 142; treachery of his pilot, 142; pacifies the Senecas, 142; delayed by jealousies, 143; returns to Fort Frontenac, 143; unfortunate in the choice of subordinates, 143; builds a vessel above the Niagara cataract, 144; jealousy and discontent, 147; lays foundation for blockhouses at Niagara, 148; the launch of the "Griffin," 149; his property attached by his creditors, 150; on Lake Huron, 152; commends his great enterprise to St. Anthony of Padua, 152; at St. Ignace of Michilimackinac, 153; rivals and enemies, 154; on Lake Michigan, 155; at Green Bay, 155; finds the Pottawatamies friendly, 155; sends the "Griffin" back to Niagara laden with furs, 156; trades with the Ottawas, 156; hardships, 158; encounter with the Outagamies, 160, 161; rejoined by Tonty, 162; forebodings concerning the "Griffin," 163; on the St. Joseph, 164; lost in the forest, 165; on the Illinois, 166; Duplessis attempts to murder, 166; the Illinois town, 169, 170; hunger relieved, 171; Illinois hospitality, 173; still followed by the intrigues of his enemies, 175; harangues the Indians, 177; deserted by his men, 178; another attempt to poison, 178; builds Fort Crèvecoeur, 180; loss of the "Griffin," 181; anxieties of, 183; a happy artifice, 184; builds another vessel, 185;