

Lastly, and again, as regards ourselves, let us not forget that we are one by the profession of a common faith, and in the ministry and membership of a common Church. Let us, therefore, endeavour the more to avoid and discountenance whatever may generate or foment division or ill-feeling; for undoubtedly the strength of our Zion will be found in this, that she is "as a city which is at unity in itself;" and if we are to do our Redeemer's work, it must be done in the spirit of his commandments.
