REGISTRATION'S MEANING

Willingness Is More Than Half the Battle," Says Food Controller.

OTTAWA, June 17.-Chairman H. P. sued the following statement to the ter eating, and pain in the back. Canadian Press, Limited, today: "Almost on the eve of national registration the Canaad food board places the need for additional farm labor for the harvest of 1918 squarely before those who are required to sign the registration cards. Before signing these cards the people of Canada should be thoroughly aware of what the answers they give these questions mean.

"The question on these cards requiring most thoughtful answer is No. 1, which reads as follows: Do your circumstances permit you to serve in the present national crisis by changing your occupation to some other for which you are qualified, if the conditions be satisfactory?"

It is an Emergency.

"The Germans are forty-five miles from Paris. The naval blockade of Germany and Austria has been rendered only partially effective by the collapse of Russia. The Allies are depending on this country for food which has to run the German submarine blockade, while the road for supplies to the enemy, has been opened from the east by land. "The Canada food beard has been conducting a campaign of conservation of foodstuffs for nearly a year to tide over the scarcity in the interval since last harvest. But conservation is only a fraction of our national duty. We cannot possibly feed Europe by conservation methods alone. Our really big contribution to the Allied cause, apart from our purely military contributions of men, money and munitions, is wheat Canada produces a larger surplus of wheat per head of population than does the United States, and this last year has shipped more in actual bushels. Wheat, beef, pork, cheese, butter and lard are all wanted, and America—Canada and the United States—must supply more this season than last or starvation stares Allied Europe in the face.

Farmers Need Help.

In time of war with a constant of mation organized like Germany—and at the stage reached by the present warwhen the food reserves of the world have been consumed, there should be none left in this class at all.

"Up to the present the issue has not perhaps been directly placed before each individual in sufficiently clear-cut fashion. On registration day, June 22, and during the few days intervening, the question will be up to every man and woman in the Dominion, 'Are you willing to do farm work?' (No. 13, section E). Large business and industrial establishments have a heavy responsibility in this matter.

"The Canada Food Board asks that this question be answered universally in the affirmative. Willingness is more than half the battle. After that comes the details of ways and means. If the people come forward on June 22 machinery will no doubt be organized to put them to work. Are You Willing?
