

TREATY TO FOSTER TRADE WITH FRANCE URGED BY SENATORS

Motion is Adopted Calling on Government to Start Negotiations.

DEBATE ON JUDGES

Ottawa, June 30.—The senate today passed Senator Beaubien's motion urging the government to enter into negotiations at once to conclude a new treaty or a temporary agreement with France of a nature to protect, and if possible, stimulate trade between the two countries.

During the senate sitting this afternoon, Senator Beaubien objected to the practice of asking judges to sit on arbitration commissions, complaining that 50 per cent of the people of Canada would fail to be satisfied with the judgment rendered in the Grand Trunk arbitration case as they had been dissatisfied with that rendered in the Canadian Northern arbitration deal.

Senator William I. Dandurand, while not agreeing that the prestige of judges had suffered as a result of their sitting on commissions, stated that the Ontario situation now gave good grounds for contending that judges should not be arbitrators. Two judges were now sitting as arbitrators for the Ontario government, and had been for three weeks. There was a vacancy on the bench and another judge was ill. Consequently the ordinary duties of four judges were not being attended to. The court of appeal failed to sit from June 18 to the end of the month, and would fail to be sitting there were some sixty cases not disposed of, and these must stand over until September.

Counsel for the commission was directed to commence an action in the supreme court for the purpose of having the threatened violation of the law after September 1 stopped, said a statement made public by the service board.

RADIAL IN GUELPH NOW PART OF HYDRO

Takes Possession Today—Will Retain Same Staff of Carmen.

Guelph, Ont., June 30.—(Special.)—At midnight tonight the Guelph Radial Railway, in accordance with the wishes of the citizens of Guelph, as expressed at the polls in January last, passed into the possession of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. It will, it is expected, form an important part of the system of radial lines to be operated by the Hydro. There will be no formal ceremony in connection with the transfer.

Retain Same Staff. The cars to be operated will be operated by the same staff of motormen and conductors as they are today, and any change which may be made will be gradual. City Manager Moore was in telephonic communication this morning with Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro Commission, with respect to the transferring of the road. Sir Adam stated that Mr. Robertson, general manager of Hydro radials, and his accountants, would arrive in Guelph tomorrow, and would make such arrangements as are necessary to continue the operation of the road.

Changes in Toronto. In the western Ontario district the chief changes of importance are in Toronto, where the passenger and freight terminals are being consolidated. The Grand Trunk Railway will take care of the Canadian National passenger and freight equipment in their Toronto terminals and also do certain switching heretofore performed by the Canadian National Railways, by which a very large saving will be effected. The closing of the Canadian National freight sub-station at Dufferin street effects a saving of $7894 per annum. The Grand Trunk freight shed on Cherry street will be abandoned and the Canadian National freight shed on the same street will be used as a sub-station for joint express traffic, relieving congestion at the Union Station. The consolidation of facilities for handling dining-car supplies of the two railways at Union Station will effect a saving of $500 per month.

Quebec District

Quebec district—Subject to the approval of the board of railway commissioners, the Grand Trunk station at Quebec will be eliminated. There will be a number of changes at Montreal, which will result in greater economy and better service in the handling of freight traffic. The Canadian National sub-station at Dalhousie street will be eliminated. There will be consolidation of the staffs of the commissariat department, linen stores and Montreal wharves, as well as the car department staffs at St. Hyacinthe and St. Roseville. The local train service between Montreal and St. Hyacinthe will be extended to St. Roseville, where the Canadian National will take care of Grand Trunk equipment.

LOOKS LIKE BREAK IN NEGOTIATIONS

Russian Trade Minister Leaving for Moscow to Consult With Soviet.

London, June 30.—The London Times announces that Leonid Krassin, the Soviet minister of trade and commerce, will leave London for Moscow tomorrow in order to consult with his government. The Times advances the opinion that the departure of Krassin indicates a rupture in the negotiations which Krassin has been carrying on looking to a resumption of trade relations with Soviet Russia. The departure of Mr. Krassin for Moscow probably will be interpreted as a rupture in the negotiations, although he is going there to consult with the Soviet government. There were two points on which agreement in the negotiations was found to be impossible, namely, the question of allied recognition of the Soviet government and the restitution of foreigner-owned property. It is alleged that Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, refused to consider the latter proposition except in connection with the suggestion to license exports. The report recommended that it was not expedient that the measure should be proceeded with at the present time.

DEMONSTRATION FAVORS M'ADOO

At that hour the business of placing candidates in nomination will be resumed, where it was left off today, with the prospect that the name of John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain, will be the only one presented. The platform committee, the convention leaders hope, will be ready to report at that time, and the convention can then dispose of the platform, and proceed to elect its officers for their term, possibly tomorrow night or Friday. Many of the friends of Ambassador Davis felt that the presentation of his name tomorrow before the convention, refreshed by a night's rest, instead of at the fatigues of a hard day, gave him an important advantage.

Was a Wild Scene. Lifting out of itself by hours of activity, the convention (fighting nominating candidates) threw an emotional crisis that had nothing to do with candidates or platform issues. The scene was unparalleled in the memory of the oldest convention observer. There was no feature lacking to draw the thousands from their sober business into a riot of feeling and a convention surrendered unconditionally.

Even before the convention was called to order before noon, the hall was touched with the hint of what was to come. Routers for Palmer and for Cox had come armed for great demonstrations. There was no mistaking that. The crowd expected it. High against the wall of the western gallery a red-coated band from Ohio was placed, fronted by a solid block of rosters, who got into action before the delegates had filled more than half their seats. Across in a perch above the organ loft, the convention band was at work with stirring melodies and the organ threw his great instrument into full, roaring accompaniment of any air the routers raised.

Pandemonium Breaks Loose. When Dr. Burris Jenkins, of Kansas City, in one of the shortest convention speeches on record, and with ringing denials for those who said W. G. McAdoo would not accept a nomination, placed the former secretary's name before the convention pandemonium broke loose. Cheers and shouts came from the hall and down from the galleries. Delegates were on their feet again, surging out for another parade, at the day he had just returned. It was the western men and women who led, and the Washington state standard came hobbling in front, with Delaware in close pursuit. Montana, Oregon and Texas joined in. North and South Dakota, Kansas and California and other states kept pace. Here and there over the last other standards rocked and swayed as struggles took place to get them in motion against opposition. A party of McAdoo adherents charged the speaker's stand and carried it by storm. The tumult grew until the hall fairly bulged with the sound. For many minutes there was no stopping it. Convention officers let the demonstration take its course.

In the Missouri section a desperate struggle to get the state standard in to the ranks resulted in its destruction. Eight hours after the convention came to order, and at the close of the session that fairly beggared description for color and sound and unusual features, Representative Flood, Virginia, made a recess, and with one last terrific roar of "aye" the delegates began streaming out to await the battle on platform tomorrow.

Candidates Nominated.

When the convention was thrown open for nominations, the names of Governor Owen, Oklahoma; James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany; and Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, were presented in rapid succession, followed by that of Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska. None of these evoked a demonstration out of the ordinary, and there was not even a seconding speech for Mr. Hitchcock. The first real demonstration of the convention came when, as the roll of states was called, Florida yielded place to Pennsylvania and John H. Bigelow took the platform and presented the name of Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer.

After the speech pandemonium broke loose. There was the traditional march about the hall, with state standards leading, flag waving, bell ringing, singing and shouting. The racket lasted a full half hour before Chairman Robinson could begin to restore order. The name of Secretary of Agriculture Meredith was next presented by Claude R. Porter, Iowa. While this speech was in progress Mrs. George Bass relieved the chairman for a few minutes and for the first time in American political history a woman presided over a nation. She was loudly cheered.

Demonstration for Cox.

In the roll call of states Kentucky yielded to Ohio and Judge J. C. Johnson, Columbus, presented the name of Governor Cox of that state. This nomination brought forth the second great demonstration of the day. Ohio had a band all its own, surrounded by a large section of Cox routers in the gallery, and the results were marvelous. There was a parade, the delegates marching to a special Cox campaign tune. The Cox demonstration lasted more than half an hour. One of the seconders of the Cox nomination, Senator Patharrison of Mississippi, referred indignantly to the stories in circulation regarding the attitude of the state of Ohio, and this led to another Ohio demonstration. Minnesota next yielded to New York, and Ver. Bourke Cochran placed in nomination Governor Alfred E. Smith referring to him as a "true Democrat" and a "man who has risen from a peddler's wagon to the governorship of the state of New York." There was another demonstration and a parade in honor of Governor Smith. Every state joined in and marched and chanted to the tune of "The Side-walks of New York" for 20 minutes. Another song that seemed to appeal

RICHARDSON GIVES UP CONTROL OF TRIBUNE

Winnipeg, Man., June 30.—R. L. Richardson, M.P., announced editorially in today's issue of The Winnipeg Tribune that he is relinquishing control, which he had had from the first issue of the paper nearly 21 years ago.

He states: "I have felt for some time that the work incident to the administration of the paper was an undue burden and for some time I have been anxious to be at least partially relieved. Recently I had the opportunity of realizing this object and at the same time of transferring the control of the paper to people who will, I am fully convinced, keep faith with the public."
