

BRITISH NEWS.

THE QUEEN'S MARRIAGE.—Her Majesty will be married in less than two months, in the Royal Chapel of St. James's Palace.

Lady Mary Howard, daughter of the Earl of Surrey, is to officiate as one of the bridesmaids to her Majesty, in addition to those ladies who attended at the marriage of the late Queen.

The King of Hanover.—It has reached us from an authentic source, that it is the intention of the King of Hanover, with his illustrious consort, to visit this country early in February.

Numerous other marriages in high life are on the tapis—including Peers, Nobles, and Generals, and other eminent ladies, who are expected to be united to some of the noblest and wealthiest families in the land.

THE GREAT WESTERN.—This noble vessel now lies in Cumberland basin, Bristol; her paddles were taken off to enable her to enter the lock. She is not to run again until spring.

LONDON FAILURES.—There have been several heavy failures in London. Howel & James, the great Thibet shawl dealers, Messrs. Holmes, and the proprietor of the 200 miles in eight hours.

COIN LAWS.—There were to be 40 tables, each with seats for 80 persons, at the great Manchester Corn Law dinner on the 9th of January.

THE CHARTISTS.—The Grand Jury of Monmouth have returned bills for high treason against Frost, Charles, John Lovell, John Rees, George Turner, Zephaniah Williams, and several others.

The indictment for the trial of the Newport prisoners were delivered to them in Monmouth jail on the 12th Dec. Sir Frederick Pollock and three other eminent lawyers acted as their counsel.

The jury list contains the names of 318 of the most respectable gentlemen and tradesmen living in the county, but very properly none from Newport, the actual scene of the insurrection.

The London Times ran an express from Monmouth to London in 20 hours in eight hours.

Two more companies (18th) stationed at Wimsor, received orders on the 12th to march for Monmouth, in South Wales.

The Dowager Queen, Adelaide, has taken Windsor Castle in her round carriage, and spent three days with the Queen.

It is a singular circumstance that of four female sovereigns that have occupied the throne of England, three only were married.

Retirement of Mr. O'Connell from Parliament.—Mr. O'Connell has retired from Parliament, and has been succeeded by Mr. Parnell.

HONOUR.—A bloodless duel recently took place on the coast of France, between two English Peers who travelled as fast as a tom fool's errand, as four foot horses and a steamer could carry them.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKETS, Dec. 15.—The demand has been moderate throughout the week, with a heavy market for all kinds.

THE COTTON TRADE, MANCHESTER, Dec. 13.—The cotton trade is generally quiet, and prices are firm.

THE NEWS FROM PERSIA.—The Shah is having reason to be heartily sick of his coronation with Russia.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Rumours of the discovery of an extensive Bonapartist conspiracy were in Paris on Monday.

THE QUEEN'S APPROVAL.—The Queen's approval has been obtained to the 20th Dragoons (Scott's) being on its gaudious motto, "Second to none."

As a proof of Her Majesty's early attachment to her intended consort, the Duchess of Northumberland, the Queen's preceptors, is said to have remarked, that, when children together, the Princess could never be prevailed upon to attend her studies while the young Prince, her cousin, was in the room.

We understand that that munificent lady, Mrs. Flaherty, who gave £20,000 to the London University, intends presenting a similar sum to King's College.

We have heard with great pleasure that the late John Neilson, Esq. of Neithar-commo, Paisley, has left for the establishment of a Seminary for education in that town, the sum of £18,000.

The Customs, Glasgow.—The growing increase of the Customs duties, payable at the part of Clyde, continues to evince most pleasingly the industry and enterprise of our mercantile community.

The Portuguese Minister of foreign affairs, in a note to the British Minister at Lisbon, says, "Her Majesty's Government cannot by any means admit the right which the British government arrogates by virtue of the bill presented to Parliament, to give the instructions to which his lordship alludes, for the capture and disposal of vessels found trading in slaves under the Portuguese flag and south of the Equator."

A Vienna letter mentions that the reform in the postage system of England has induced the Austrian government to follow the example, and that the Minister of Finance and the Director of the Post Administration are concerting the best mode of bringing the plan into execution.

The Northern Whale Fishery.—It appears that the (British) vessels engaged in the whale fishery of Davis Straits, have been very unsuccessful the past year, and that the number of such vessels was only 27; whereas in 1850 the number was 58.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

The Greeland and Davis Strait Fisheries.—The whole of the British ships despatched to the whale fisheries during the present year have returned, and the following is the result: The twelve ships which went to Greeland have brought home 31 whales and 9,500 seals.

Clark and Elson were tried at Halifax on Monday the 20th inst. for the murder of Buffon, on the 8th of August last.

KING'S COLLEGE, WINDSOR, N. S., January 16, 1840.—At a convocation held this day, the Reverend George Seymour Jarvis, B. D., of this University, and Doctor of Theology, New Brunswick, was admitted to the degree of Doctor in Divinity.

There were 113 Fires and alarms of Fire in Boston during the year 1839.—total loss of property about $140,000. Insurance about $89,000.

ROBERTS.—On Tuesday night last the Auction Room, Mr. S. M. Charlton, in St. John street, was forcibly entered through a back window, and two watches, and about 7s. 6d. in copper, taken.

On Thursday night, the office of Wm. McCann, Esq., on Henrick's Quay, was entered, and the key taken into the lock, and what harm the waggons can do in so broad a street, King Street, cannot be seen.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

On Friday morning, however, it was evident that the key must have been stolen by some person, as the door was found open, and the desks in the office forced and ransacked.

was of opinion that it possibly might have been five or six days old, but probably was only just born before it was inhumanly murdered.—Halifax Rec.

The Montreal Transcript says.—"We venture to assure our readers that his Excellency Sir George Arthur has decided to retire from the least. Governorship of Upper Canada; a decision which does not at all surprise us."

The Governor General intends to continue Governor General of Canada for several years.—so says the St. Catherine's Journal.—thus:—

"There is no doubt but that the Governor General entertains as liberal views, in regard to the government of these provinces, as Lord Durham, and fully prepared to carry them out in practice if he is only supported by the people; and as we have the satisfaction to know, from good authority, that he intends to visit the United States, he is but reasonable to infer from this fact, taken in connexion with his numerous declarations and proceedings, thus far, that he is resolved upon the permanent establishment of a government for these colonies that shall be administered in accordance with the feelings and interests of the people."

THE BOUNDARY.—In the United States Senate, on the 15th inst., the following resolutions were submitted by Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

Mr. Williams rose and said: "I have the honor in part to represent a part of these United States, has been invaded, and at this moment is occupied by British troops."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

By the late measure of the Governor to the Legislature of the State of Maine, now in session, we learn that Mr. Williams of Maine, on the subject of the alleged occupation of a portion of the State of Maine by British troops: "Our neighbours still keep up their vapouring."

boiler on her keel, or under deck. This pipe led through the freight above, and the ignition of the cotton had become so extensive before the engine and hose of the boat could be put in operation, that both crew and passengers were overwhelmed by smoke and in the intensity of the moment, that all efforts to subdue the fire were unavailing.

We learn that there were but 5 or 6 ladies on board, one of whom was seen in the water with a dead infant at her breast.—New Haven Herald.

The most persevering efforts were made in the vicinity of Bridgeport, and at Southport, to go in aid of the sufferers; but all attempts seem to have been entirely fruitless, owing to the ice in the harbors.

One boat, after surviving its perils, was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

We understand, such was the appalling spread of the flames, that many jumped overboard before the boats were launched. And such was the speed at which the Lexington was running, that the two long boats were swamped the instant they touched the water; and in the consternation that prevailed, the only life-boat on board, being lowered before the vessel was sucked under and crushed to atoms.—New York Empire State.

The following additional particulars are from the Courier and Enquirer.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.

It was useless to attempt to describe the scene of agonized confusion which ensued among the passengers, and indeed all on board, as soon as the fire was discovered, and the vessel was preserved, or was compelled to return to the middle of the Sound, and was compelled to return.