BANKER TO DISCUSS LARGE GERMAN LOAN

J. Pierpont Morgan Sails for Europe to Meet Financiers.

New York, May 17.—J. Pierpont Morgan, Otto H. Kahn and Sir Felix Schuster, composed a trio of bankers of international prominence who sailed on the Olympic of the White Star Line, for Europe, in connection with an invitation to discuss with financiers the details of a loan for Germany. Mr. Morgan refused to amplify a brief statement issued by his office explaining the nature of his trip. Sir Felix Schuster, head of the National Provincial Bank of London, returned after a three-week visit to this country, during which he conferred with bankers and business men. "I am pleased to find practically unanimous reports from all parts of the country as to the gradual returning signs of increased commercial activity and promise of better times," he said.

An Informative Circular

A most comprehensive analysis of a Public Utility Corporation is available through a circular, which has been issued in connection with our purchase of Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Limited, 75 General Mortgage 20-year Gold Bonds.

It gives the history of the Company and deals with the purpose of the bond issue—the provision for sinking fund—the properties, their valuation, the franchise and earnings—the management and the field for expansion.

It is interesting reading to all investors desiring to purchase well-sourced Public Utility Bonds to yield 7.5%.

ENGLAND'S FOREIGN TRADE.

Good and Bad Aspects of the April Exports and Imports.

London, May 17.—The surplus of imports over exports in this country's April trade figures was nearly £16,000,000, against £18,000,000 in March and practically the same in February. Last month's adverse balance is evidence of a return to more normal conditions, but in their details the returns are not in all respects satisfactory.

Trade was evidently let through the engineering lockout, this being most apparent in the falling off of exports of machinery and vehicles. On the other hand, imports of raw materials show increase of nearly £2,000,000 sterling over last year, which is a sign that depleted stocks are being replenished in preparation for greater activity. There was a large increase of coal exports compared with 1931, because production was then interrupted by the coal strike.

BUILDING IN SACKVILLE.

(Sackville Tribune.)

Prospects are good for considerable activity in building operations in Sackville this coming season. Several private dwellings are already under way, and others will be started in the near future. The following have already started building operations: Gordon A. Ward, house on Weldon street; H. C. Cogell, house on Union street; James A. Hicks, two houses, corner Lansdowne and Union street; R. Manson, house on Bonar street; J. A. Madill, Madill Way, house on Lansdowne street. Good progress is being made in the erection of a three-story building, corner of F. W. Cole, consisting of four stories, with hall on second floor.

Among those who have applied for loans under the Better Housing Scheme are the following: Messrs. Gordon A. Ward, James A. Hicks, H. C. Cogell, R. P. Smith, H. H. Woodworth, Jas. A. Hicks, Parlee Ward, M. O. Crossman, R. Manson and Mrs. Jennie Woodworth.

BALFOUR'S RETREAT.

When the Earl of Balfour and Viscount Trappan of Whitthamshire is of a mind really to retire from the stress of politics, as he now may, having ceased to be a great Commoner, he will be privileged with one of the finest in the British Isles. Trappan Law is 724 feet above the level of the sea, and from its grassy crest one looks across wide-spread farm lands to the summit of Lammereur, 1,000 feet up. Here is the Balfour estate, home of the greatest of the Balfours.

"In the distance," says a writer in The Montreal Gazette, "can be seen the grim Bass Rock, which, a former pirate resort, with herbage which at a previous period raised mutton as famous in the market as any other. This coast of East Lothian is not a warrior land. It faces out to the North, and was a proven house in bygone days for armies of rival kings in the field. Over the edges of Lammereur, where the Whittham drives its way southward to the Tweed, there are no warrior clans and ruined piles and traditions of mighty conflict."

Trappan is a comely inheritance, and now that it is to come an Earl and Viscount's domain, it is fittingly being promoted with its noble owner in the ordinary fitness of things. The air around there dances with the white lace-work of broken waters where the tide sweeps up to the sand-bars; there is the song of the lark in the air, and
