Plays and Players

CHASTY NEWS OF THE GREEN ROOM

Homer Mullaney, who played here with the Daily and Sheely-Young Stock Company, has been engaged with Julia Watson for The Wedding Journey with Arnold Daly.

Belle Adair has been selected to play the leading female role in The Fascinating Widow—after Julian Eltinge, of course.

Madison Covey and Jess Dandy have returned to New York with Charles Meakin after a vacation spent at his hunting lodge in Canada. Mr. Meakin, who was in St. John with "The Merry Widow," belongs to Hamilton, Ontario.

Unable to agree with her husband, Raymond Hitchcock, financially, theatrically or otherwise, Flora Zabelle Hitchcock, or as she was billed on the passenger list of the incoming French liner, France, Miss Z. Mangearian, will institute divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Hitchcock was accompanied on her return from abroad by her father, her pretty little sister, Christine, and the cousin, Charles M. Koudin, who was almost punched at the steamship pier when he sailed away with Miss Z., as the comedian's wife pretends to call herself.

Hurrying down from Portland, Me., last week between times, Paul Decker, who was in St. John with May Robson, playing the role of the youngest brother, signed a contract with L. S. Sire to remain with him for a number of years. For the present Mr. Decker will continue in leading parts with May Robson, but the understanding is that next season, or the season after, he will be starred by Mr. Sire. The manager is now reading a number of literary plays. One that he may choose is a dramatization of the English novel, "Lord Cammerleigh's Secret," done by Harold M. Harvey, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Because of his tours with May Robson, Mr. Decker is particularly well known in the west, and he will probably try out his new play in western cities before going to New York.

Adelaide Prince, having proven herself unique by declining an emotional part, because she prefers to laugh and make others laugh, will turn the key in Justoline this week, and in the first week in September will leave for Genoa, where she will visit friends, going thence to Paris for a month and an indefinite stay in London.

Broadway Jones, a new comedy in which George M. Cohan will be himself again, is to have its premiere at Parsons' Theatre, Hartford, Conn., on September 10.

A. H. Woods has brought another singer from Europe, this time Triga Borga from Denmark to play the leading role in Gypsy Love.

The Cohan and Harris plans for the year include a comedy by Hayden Talbot, "They Say He Went to College, and Are You My Wife?" Roy Atwell's dramatization of Max Merritt's book.

Joseph Kilgour seen here a few years ago, opened this week in Boston in "Ready Money," a new comedy.

Blanche Bates will prolong her summer rest in Denver for another "Pony in the Saddle" and other dogs and seasons to most of which she has been invited.

Ways to Miss Bates: "Polish as it seems, I didn't want to go to my beloved farm this year. There's only one 'Jack' left in the little mother's pet. I could cry now just thinking of little 'Peg'!" The creature had personality.

Miss Burke's neighbors in Broadway, at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, are as surprised as the wonder that charming young woman has wrought in a summer. She first performed a feat of self-denial in staying in the states "wonder" Charles Frohman had summoned her to London to confer with him about her new play. Plays room large in Burke's declared as the formation of an old stone house into a modern mansion which she has named Burleigh Crest.

The Mind-the-Point Girl is not sure herself how many rooms her new home shatters, but she is certain that her household is as large as a well-grown New York flat, and her own suite of bedrooms, sitting room, dressing room and bath covers as much space as the auditorium of the theatre where she will play next month.

What its mistress most treasures at Burleigh Crest is the Japanese garden on the sloping ground about the grey house. Miniature lakes and tiny fountains and weas tees house dot the lawn. One Japanese house has lodged a tall pine tree to which the girl's owner climbs swiftly with a bewildering dexterity of snowy skirts. In this Japanese house, by the same magic of cleverness by which dinner is served in tree houses in Paris, Miss Burke serves tea to a half dozen guests who do not mind a bit of crowding. It will require years and many thousands of dollars to develop this garden to the perfection its owner has set as a standard.

Joseph Smiley, one of the directors of the Lubin Company, is now devoting his entire time to "what he knows" as the "Smiley Juvenile Stock." The company is comprised entirely of children, whose ages range from three to seven years. "Buster" Johnston, aged four, is the leading man; Brooks McCloskey, aged five, is the heavy, while the leading lady, Henrietta O'Beck, is the same age.

The other directors, it is declared, do not envy Mr. Smiley's position, but he has found the work especially interesting, though he admits that it requires vastly more time and patience to deal with the twelve or more infant players under his charge. A Boston hall has been added to the company, and is also named Buster. Six pictures have been produced at clean plays, believes he has been added to the company, and is also named Buster. Six pictures have been produced at clean plays, believes he has been added to the company, and is also named Buster.

A. G. Delamater, a well-known successful producer of clean plays, believes he has "freed" the greatest dramatic success of the current season, and will send five companies on tour, playing in all the leading high-priced theatres of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The eastern company will visit St. John this season.

William Farnum, who first appeared here with Harkins in "What Happened to Jones," will open at New York this week in The Little Rebel.

Burke Eldridge died in Avon, Mass., recently at the age of twenty-six years. She was the wife of Fred McNeill. Both are buried here with Mrs. McAuliffe.

Ross Coghlan is in Eugene Walters' new play, Homeward Bound.

William Courtleigh, who was here with Harkins, is playing the lead in the new play, The Model.

Hugh Ford, who is now stage director for Lieblers, played in St. John with E. A. McDowell many years ago.

Don't Grow Bald, Young Man!

Take Care of Your Hair While You Have Hair to Take Care Of

It's a safe bet that the young man who uses PARISIAN Sage as an occasional hair dressing will never grow bald. There's a reason, of course, and it's a very good and sufficient one.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair, and in due time baldness. PARISIAN Sage prevents baldness, by destroying the cause of baldness—the little persistent voracious dandruff germ.

If you have dandruff or itching scalp it means that dandruff germs are sapping the vitality from the roots of your hair. Get rid of all hair troubles by using PARISIAN Sage.

It is not a dye, mind you, neither does it contain poisonous sugar of lead or even sulphur. It is a scientific preparation that abolishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and makes hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

Many young women as well as men are growing bald and for the same reason. Use the delightful, refreshing PARISIAN Sage; it nourishes the hair roots, if the roots are not dead, and brings to every user a head of glorious hair—radiant and fascinating. Large bottle for 50 cents at drug stores and toilet counters. See that you get PARISIAN Sage.

All druggists guarantee it.

William J. Kershaw, a Milwaukee attorney, is to become a member of the Menominee tribe of Indians. A tribal council will convene at their reservation at Keshena, Wis., during the course of which all the ceremonies of adoption will be conducted in the primitive Indian fashion and only the Indian language will be used. A three days' celebration, one feature of which will be a game of lacrosse, will follow the ceremonies. Mr. Kershaw's mother was a full-blooded Menominee Indian, but his father was an Irishman.
