THE HIT OF ZEPHRA.

Plenty of good seats remain for the Neptune concerts next Wednesday and Thursday. Herbert Witherspoon, the great basso, should alone be sufficient to fill the Opera House, but when sup-ported by the wonderful young St. John contraito, Miss Tonge, who it will be remembered was the big hit of Zeehra only a year ago, and Harry Mowill be remembered was the big hit of Zephra only a year ago, and Harry Mc-Clasky, the local tenor, who it is ex-pected will in a few years stand in the front rank of American tenors, the at-traction should test the capacity of the Opera House. Let none miss these great events next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 12 and 13th.

Unless something unexpected happens the cenus commissioners in 1911 will include in their lists the names of the two young ladies who came to this city from Halifax a few months ago. They have definitely decided to remain in St. John, and to this end they have been materially assisted by the knowledge that warrants have been issued for their arrest in Halifax, and that their friend. Mrs. Richardson, was at last accounts enjoying a life of ease in the city jail. The girls are still at the Sal-vation Army Rescue Home.

THE FRUIT TRADE.

POLICE COURT. The stabbing affair which took place on Sheffield street on Thursday after-noon was aired in the police court this morning. From the evidence given it would seem that Officer Sullivan had been very indiscreet in making any ar-rest. According to the witnesses there was no trouble in the house and it ap-peared doubtful whether any stabbing occurred. Annie Francis, wearing the same*blue waist as she had at the re-cent ball, told how she had crited, "Oh, my God!" when the blood came, but Mrs. Henry Thomison-without a P--whose stage name is Kate Barrigan, and who was supposed to be wounded, A. L. Goodwin received today a car-load of fancy Spys and Nonpareil apples and during the coming week will receive a carload of oranges. The price of the latter is now steady. ridor. On one occasion the witness was tak-en from the operating room to a cold bed, another time, while still partial-ly under the influence of ether he was forced to get up himself and go to the bath room. He staggered as he walk-ed and hurt his arm against the door. Before he left file bed on this occasion he thought he asked a female nurse to get the male attendant for him. They were frightened, because the effect of the ether was to make him violent. When the ether was administered once, Dr. Macaulay told him he hoped that he would behave himself. The ether was ported through a cone and seemed more like ammonia. I said: "Dr. Macaulay, be careful, don't make it too strong. Then I went back to the table and was seized by three or four. Dr. Macaulay said, 'Now, Fill fix him.' I think he spoke in anger. The ether was not properly administer-ed, because of the different way Dr. W. A. Christie gave it to me at another time. He was very gentle." Continuing, the witness said he got knowledge of a large number of cases through the loud talking. through the loud talking. He over-heard Dr. Macaulay once tell a man about the disease which the man's wife was suffering from. He slammed his door shut. As to baths, he never took one in the tub, it was too dirty. He frequently asked the male nurse to prepare his bath, but never got one. He had heard patients, sailors, say the hospital was the worst they had ever been in.

hospital was the worst they had ever been in. The witness volunteered the state-ment that he had known of children being placed in the ward with grown-up people. They got no good. To Mr. Coster:--"The nurses who were present at the operation to which I referred, were Miss Branscombe, Miss Ogilve and one other. Miss Ogilve was a very fine nurse. "Do you know of nurses ever being inattentive." "I do, of one."

attentive." "I do, of one." "Who was she" "I decline to give her name." He complained at home of the treat-nent received, not because he thought t would be rectified. He never com-plained to the hospital authorities.

mits. ELIZABETH PATRIQUIN testified that she had been in the hos-pital three years ago. At first she was a week in the general ward. While there the food was not fit for patients to eat. As a general thing food was sent to her. Chickens were sent to her but she got about two cups of broth as a result : preserves that were sent but she got about two cups of both as a result ; preserves that were sent never came to her. Oysters were sent in to her twice, but she got them once and then not all that were sent. Medi-cific ran out repeatedly and she would have to ask for it several times before she got it. She had seen Dr. MacLaren go through the ward in his operating robes in a condition unfit to look at. One time the witness asked for help from a nurse, but did not receive it. Then she started to go to the bath room herself and there fainted. The nurses had gone down to tea. Some-times they would not answer the call of the bell.

"The vert for the window the answer the can "Did you ever notice bed bugs." "They were in the bed with me, and in the next bed there was a very dirty patient, who refused to take a bath, and when she went to the toilet room in the morning there were patches of body vermin on the sheet." The bath-tub is not suitable for tak-ing a bath, and the witness washed it out before she took a bath herself. "The snow from the windows blew in on my head seven times while I was there, and finally the nurses put things against the window to keep the snow out."

"How did you find the porridge?" "I didn't like it at all, it was too lumpy, too hard and too cold. The gruei was bad." Whom did you complain to?" asked

Mr. Coster Mr. Coster. "To the matron, to Dr. Ellis, to Miss Titus and Miss Murphy. With what the nurses had to do they were fairly attentive. I complained to Dr. Ellis about the fact that food sent to me dis-

The nurses always seemed attentive, but they had too much to do. A blister was put on his leg ohe time and it was left without attention for fifteen days. When it was looked after bandage and flesh came off together. A week after that it healed up. Dr. Morris put the blist-er on.

To Mr. Coster—The bedding was changed twice a week. He never com-plained of his arm but to Dr. Morris, although it was paining all the time. CHARLES BEARNSTINE,

PROPOSED ABATTOIN

PROPOSED ABATTOIR. At the meeting of the slaughter house commissioners yesterday a jetter was read from Kane & McGrath stating that they had plans for an abattoir which they wished to lay before the board. The present system of manage-ment of the slaughter houses has proved inconvenient and often unsat-isfactory, the inspector being unable to keep an eye to the killing in as at-tentive a maner as could be wished on account of the houses being so scatter-ed. Besides this, the buildings are very cold and the butchers who have to work there suffer considerably dur-ing the winter. Two years ago the local legislature passed an act giving the commission-ers or the common council power to build an abattoir within the city limits, at which all the killing could be done. Kane & McGrath have plans prepared. The site of the proposed abattoir has not yet been chosen, but it will, if built, be probably beside the line of railroad near the mash.

STILL WITH US.

ON MONDAY EVENING. Much has been published about Nome and the Alaskan gold fields, but no-thing has brought this fascinating sub-ject so close to the minds of the peo-ple as the plan adopted by C. W. Paget, who will talk about that region and its golden wealth at 217 Union street on Monday evening, illustrating his remarks with lantern slides, show-ing photographs taken on the spot. Mr. Paget is here in the interests of the Pioneer Mining Co., of Seattle, which has offices in New York, and whose capital is $,000,000. The com-pany was formed in December, 1901, and has taken over the entire assets of the Dimese Greenwardthered. and has taken over the entire assets and has taken over the ontire issets of the Ploneer Co-partnership, at the head of which was Jafet Lindeberg, the discoverer of the Cape Nome gold deposits. Among these assets are 26 of the richest gold placer claims in Alaska, which have already yielded millions of dollars. The illustrated story which Mr. Paget will tell on Monday evening will be one of great interest to all who are in any way interested in the gold mining in-dustry and the adventures of those who first exploited the famous Alaskan fields.

All she has done for it has been to bathe it once with cold water, which shows that Kate either dislikes water or did not see fit to follow the doctor's directions. Cells Hammond, in whose house the affair took place, told that Kate was upstairs sleeping off a drunk when Bobby Hicks, the prisoner, came in. He woke her, and some time after-wards, without anything being said or done, he threw the pen-knife at her. The prisoner said he had acted with-out intending to do any injury, and was remanded until Dr. Berryman's evidence could be heard.
