

Stitch-in-Time Basket.

Mary Lowe Dickinson has good counsel to offer her sisters who have the care of a household upon their shoulders, says the Chicago Chronicle. When the clothing comes from the laundry, she says, confide such of it as needs the "stitch in time" to the work basket. And by the work basket I do not mean the little basket that holds the spool and thread and the light sewing material, but a basket large enough to hold whatever needs to be repaired or whatever piece of unfinished work may be on hand. Never let an unneeded article get back into the drawer of clothing that is ready for service. And when the repairs have been made place the fresh article at the bottom of its own pile, using for your next occasion the articles on the top of the pile. In this way none of the clothing will be allowed to remain in the drawer until it turns yellow from lack of use, and the wear will be about equal on all suits. One of our objects is to dress well and at the same time to avoid great accumulations of garments—too good to be thrown away and not good enough for comfortable use, yet endured for economy's sake.

Never fall into the mistake of supposing that it is of no importance that any garment be nice except those worn in sight. Fineness of texture, daintiness of trimmings, these can be dispensed with, but perfect cleanliness and perfect wholeness are indispensable. There is an intangible ethical influence, or, as a good country mother put it: "There is a sight of good manners comes jest with being dressed up. My children always behave better in their best clothes." She was right. The girl who "don't care what she puts on" doesn't care for some other things that she ought not to forget.

Home Life as a Profession.

Now, as a matter of historic fact, the corner-stone of the highest civilization has always been the home, and wifehood and motherhood the happiest estate of woman. To my mind, it is a cruel wrong to a young girl to launch her in life unadvised on these points, and imbued with the determination to independence of the other sex. Sooner or later she must find herself possessed of the strong feminine yearning to rest her burdens upon shoulders broader than her own; to surrender into larger hands her ability to battle successfully with fate; to let herself be cared for and cherished; to taste the exalted joy of having the beings she has given to the world look to her for their best happiness and inspiration. What if disappointment, if disillusionment, the sorrows of a common lot, fall to her share? She will have lived and loved! No reward of intellectual supremacy, no winning of money on her own account, no plaudits of lookers-on bestowed upon her achievements of brain and energy, could atone to her for the lack of that simple elemental experience, old as the world, appointed to Eve's daughters all alike! And no amount of previous witty scoffing at the monster man, the opposer of her sex, will save her from the risk of some day wanting to encounter it.—Mrs. Burton Harrison, in Harper's Bazar.

WATCH COFFEE

And Watch it Carefully.

Any brain worker that depends on thought for his success in life, uses up daily, by brain work, a varying amount of the delicate particles of phosphate of potash and albumen of which the brain and nerve centres are composed.

The fine, microscopic particles of phosphate of potash are found in quantities in the pores of the skin after the brain has been used actively. This must be replaced from food, or brain fog and nervous prostration sets in.

This breaking down of the little cells each day, from brain work alone, is a natural process, and the cells can readily be built from the right sort of food, if the system is not interfered with by drugs, but if an increased amount of cells are broken down by the use of coffee, trouble then begins.

Frequently it first shows in dyspepsia, lack of power of the bowels to operate properly, or palpitation of the heart or some other lack of vitality and healthy vigor. There is but one thing for a sensible man or woman to do,—quit coffee absolutely. "Hard to do," you say. Take up Postum Food Coffee, use it regularly, have it well made, so it tastes good. You will find a well-defined, unmistakable change in your health, and there is a reason for it.

You have become free from the breaking down force of coffee, and on the other hand, you are taking a powerful, nourishing liquid food which quickly rebuilds the new cells. These are facts,—profound facts, ready for any one to prove to their satisfaction by actual use. Postum Food Coffee is made at the famous pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., and is used by brain workers all over the world. Don't call it a "substitute" for coffee; leave out the coffee proposition altogether. Postum is a liquid food and a true food drink.

IT BUILDS UP AND KEEPS IN PERFECT CONDITION THE GREAT NERVOUS SYSTEM.

When the marvellous complexity, delicacy and power of the mysterious nerve system is fully realized, we are not surprised at the sweeping assertion of Dr. Laning, Professor of Clinical Medicine in Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago, that "all diseases are due to lesions of the nervous system," or, in other words, disease results from a weakened or disturbed nervous system.

It was the life work of that great physician, Dr. Phelps, to give suffering men and women a medicine that would act directly on the nervous system. Dr. Phelps succeeded nobly and well. He placed Paine's Celery Compound before some of the ablest physicians that ever assembled in Dartmouth Medical College. It met with their full approval, and they at once prescribed it in their practice, and found it a life saver when other means failed.

To-day tens of thousands sound the praises of Paine's Celery Compound. In every city, town and village of this continent, people are found who owe their life and good health to Paine's Celery Compound, nature's nerve medicine and nerve food.

If you are sleepless, irritable, despondent, morose, or have flushes, chills, coldness of hands and feet, deficient tone in the stomach and intestines, bear in mind your nervous system needs attention and repairing.
