Knocked Out In The Final Round

Newark, N. J., Feb. 2.—Gene Tunney, lightweight champion of the American Expeditionary Force, knocked out Al. Roberts of States Island, in the final round of an eight round bout at the first regiment armory here tonight. Tunney weighed 150 pounds, one more than his opponent. The soldier champion showed improvement and exhibited some clever work. He scored one knockdown in the first round, three in the seventh and ended the bout with a right smash to the jaw. Roberts put up a game battle. Eddie Fitzgerald, the promising New York lightweight, fought Jimmy Duffy, of New York, in an eight round contest. Duffy weighed 137 pounds and Fitzgerald 135. The opening bout between Charles Bercher and Battling Roidy, both of New York featherweights, had an abrupt ending in the fourth round when the two fell through the ropes and Roidy was knocked unconscious, his head striking the side of the ring. Bercher was having the better of the bout.

Transportation Matters Discussed

An informal meeting of the representatives of the various commercial interests of the city was held at the Board of Trade rooms yesterday afternoon, where transportation problems affecting the maritime provinces as a whole were discussed. It was the opinion of the meeting that the freight rates working against the industrial interests of the maritime provinces, in their competition with the other provinces for the trade of the West. The necessity for cheaper industrial power in the province was emphasized. It was announced that special legislation along this line is to be introduced at the coming session of the local House. Such legislation will be looked forward to with considerable interest. The Province's Profit Tax was also discussed and came in for severe criticism. It was felt that the tax penalizes the efficient business man, and is detrimental to the industrial progress of the country. A committee was appointed to meet at the Board of Trade rooms this morning at ten o'clock, when definite action will be decided on in regard to the discriminating freight rates now prevailing against the maritime provinces. In addition to the members of the Commercial Club, Board of Trade and local members of the Manufacturers' Association, present at yesterday's meeting, J. D. Palmer, of Fredericton, and H. R. Thomsen, secretary of the Maritime Division of the Manufacturers' Association, of Amherst, N. S., were also present.

Had Not Thought Such Change Possible

St. John Man Was So Run-Down Did Not Think He Could Be Improved So Soon—Liv-rite Did It for Him.

The saving qualities of "Liv-rite Tonic" are said by another local resident, Harold Moore, of Elm street, to have been responsible for making his health of even a better standard than it had been before he was seized with a sick spell. He had been much troubled with faults ascribed to his liver being out of order and seeing this tonic advertised to cure such ills, decided to try it. "I have regretted taking this great medicine," he writes, "It must contain something calculated to do good over the whole system for I was greatly weakened, my strength, my stomach was upset and my weight had been lessened. When I had taken just one box I began to see an improvement. Then I took a second box. It did the work. I feel a changed man today. It has made such an improvement as I had never dreamed possible. My strength has come back completely, my appetite is good again, and I feel in fine shape. 'Liv-rite Tonic' has my best wishes."

If this splendid medicine is proving itself of such value to this gentleman and others whose words of praise are being received almost daily, then it surely could be of advantage to you if your health is ailing. It is a certain guarantee in all complaints arising from a disordered liver. If your druggist cannot supply you, send his name to the Maritime Drug Co., or send them a dollar and they will forward you a package at once.—Advt.

CANADIAN CLUB.

Members of the Canadian Club are looking forward to a treat when they are to be addressed by Dr. Harry L. Paddon, of Battle Harbor, Labrador. He will visit St. John about the 26th of February and will speak before the Canadian Club on "Labrador of Today. Its Problems and Possibilities."

They will also go as far as Wolfville N. S., on this trip, playing Acadia there on Thursday night. ## Commercial Club In New Quarters

Brilliantly lighted and resplendent with hardwood floors, spotless walls and ceilings, and handsomely appointed furniture, the new quarters of the Commercial Club on Prince William street, attracted many curious glances from passersby last evening, when the club rooms were thrown open for the first time to a special meeting of the club's members. The reports of the various committees were presented to the executive and informally discussed. They will be brought before the next general meeting for approval. The next meeting of the club will partake somewhat of the nature of a novelty, as all unnecessary routine will be eliminated, and matters of vital interest to the community are to be brought forward for discussion. The new quarters of the club are indeed a credit to its members, the progressive young business men of St. John. The committee room is furnished in fine taste. In addition to the long mahogany council table and its comfortable armchairs, the room is equipped with all the appointments of a modern business office. A young lady stenographer is to occupy a desk in this room, and will be at the service of the club, while a permanent secretary will probably be appointed in the near future. The general assembly room, to the rear of the committee room, has not been completed as yet, but it is planned to make it equally attractive. Commodious clothes closets, and lavatories equipped with the latest of sanitary conveniences have been installed for the members' benefit, and with the completion of the assembly room the Commercial Club will be housed in rooms that are second to none.

The Tobacco with a Heart

One of the prime features of the Opera House change of vaudeville programme opening this afternoon will be the arrival of the famous "Monkey Actor" troupe, in a comedy monkey playlet, "Fun on a Battleship," with the scene laid on the deck of a dreadnaught and the monkeys for the crew. They are not only well trained to perform like regular actors, but they are also excellent comedians and present a skit that is just one huge riot of laughter.

The leading actor of the troupe, "Teddy," has had a varied experience since he was found by Paul Pedrin in the jungles of Africa about seven years ago. As a baby monkey he already showed signs of talent for acting, being particularly clever in imitating everything he saw people doing.

When he was first shown before the footlights he made a tremendous hit, and the King of Siam offered a large sum of money for him, but he looked like a good prospect for Pedrin, so was not for sale. He has been shown in thirty-two countries all over the world.

On the way from Calcutta to Ceylon, aboard the "Lanang," a Chinese boat flying the British flag, Pedrin and "Teddy," along with the rest of the passengers, had hard luck, for the steamer was signalled and stopped by the German cruiser "Emden." The crew and passengers given five minutes to get off and at the end of that time the steamer was blown up. As it lay in the deep, Pedrin managed to keep the monkey until they were picked up.

A few hours later by an English boat which carried them safe to Colombo. Later on, in the Philippines, Teddy was lost for two days in the Mima swamps, and when finally located was a mile out in the water having a great swim to himself.

Two years ago, at Long Beach California, Teddy was up in a big Curtiss aeroplane for 15 minutes, with the noted flyer, Christensen, who was after ward killed in France in the service of the American army.

Teddy is some actor, even for a monkey, and runs the show just like a regular fellow.

The Opera House has offered some clever animal acts in the past, but nothing quite so amusing and interesting as Pedrin's troupe of baboon and monkey actors.

"White Heather" Splendid Picture

Imperial Theatre Continues Its Good Film Productions With Drury Lane Success.

The New York Telegraph declares "The White Heather," now being shown at the Imperial, to be a remarkable photoplay, it being "superbly photographed." The review follows: "Maurice Tourneur's latest production, 'The White Heather,' was the principal attraction at the Rialto Theatre last week. The story is adapted from the Drury Lane melodrama of the same name by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton, the play derives its title from the little flower of the Highlands, the white heather, which is said to bring good luck to those who wear it. The background of this melodrama is divided between the Scotch highlands, the London financial district, the ships and the sea, the greatest interest being centered in the later locale.

"The narrative chiefly concerns the efforts of an unscrupulous nobleman to repudiate his marriage to a pretty commoner, the only record of the wedding being in the wreck of a yacht at the bottom of the sea. The tale ends in a struggle between the hero and the villain at the bottom of the sea in which both are struggling to obtain the certificate which is locked in a watertight chest in the wreckage of the boat. The latest invention of the Williamson Brothers was used by Mr. Tourneur in taking the subsea scenes, and some startling effects were obtained.

"Photographically, the picture is superb. Many of the exterior scenes brought forth applause from the audience at the Rialto and the spectator will find genuine thrills in the fight between the villain and the hero at ocean bottom. This feature of the production is in itself well worth seeing.

"Mr. Tourneur is one of the few film directors who believes 'the play's the thing,' and consequently he fits his players to his story instead of the reverse, which is frequently the case."

The Imperial's programme was further brightened by some excellent local views, the harbor and the Commercial Club's protest meeting at Dr. A. P. Barnhill's offices. There was the Mutt and Jeff cartoon, and the very amusing Topics of the Day. The same bill goes on today, but tomorrow Rex Beach's great story, "The Girl From Outside," is to be the unusual attraction.
