"AUNT SALINA'S WASH DAY PHILOSOPHY"

This little book is chock-full of hints and secrets invaluable in the washing of clothes, and should be in every home.
It tells how to wash fancy prints and other fabrics without the use of acids.
It tells how to clean the daintiest lingerie without injury.
It tells how to wash woolen material thoroughly without shrinking it one particle.
It tells how to make hard water soft and save half the soap.
It tells how to remove the drudgery from wash day, and a host of other things that every woman who washes clothes should know.

THE SCRAP BOOK

Probably to Reno.

"MY wife and I had another foolish quarrel." "About what?" "About where we would go if we had money enough to travel."—Washington Herald.

One of Ireland's Woes.

AN Irish school inspector was examining a class in geography. He had propounded a question regarding longitude and received a correct answer from the lad undergoing the ordeal.

"And now," he said, "what is latitude?"

After a brief silence a bright youngster, with a merry twinkle in his eye, said:

"Please, sir, we have no latitude in Ireland. Father says the British Government won't allow us any."—London Scraps.

Just As Good.

"DID you get the raise in salary you demanded?"

"Not exactly; but in recognition of my valued services, the boss agreed to supply me with a roll-top desk and have my name printed on the door."—Leslie's Weekly.

she ejaculated, turning to look at the meek little man sitting behind her; "I'd like to see him try to compulse me!"

"Better Late Than Never."

"I'M going away next week," he told her. "Some chance of my going to bed eventually," she answered, looking at the clock.—Buffalo Express.

"In Glass Houses."

HUSBAND (angrily) — "Look here, when will you learn that a razor isn't the thing for cutting rope and sharpening pencils with?" Wife (calmly)—"Just when you learn that a hairpin isn't the thing for cleaning a pipe with."

Villain Still Pursued Her.

CHANNING POLLOCK cites a certain melo-drama, produced a few years ago on Fourteenth Street, as containing the busiest and most inconsistent villain ever created.

In the first act he tied the beautiful heroine to a railroad track just as the limited was due. In the second he lured her into an old house, locked her in an upper room and set the Commercial Traveller, (who is being practised on by the village barber's apprentice): "How much more have you got to cut?"

Apprentice: "Only the front, sir."
Commercial Traveller: "Well, hurry up, before it grows on the back again." —M.A.P.

Strong on Length.

RICHARD CARLE lately engaged as cook a Swedish giantess, who proved unsatisfactory. On departure she asked for a written testimonial, and Mr. Carle presented her with the following:

"To whom it may concern:—I have lately had in my employ Hulda Swanson, who was engaged to cook for a family of three and do such other things as would be possible when not cooking. Under this head might come a little dusting and dish-washing and answering the door bell. Taking all these things into account I wish to say that Hulda is absolutely the tallest cook I ever saw."—Success.

Try It On Your Tailor.

TO dodge his creditors required Such vigilance and vim,
A motor car he went and hired,
And now they're dodging him!

—Lippincott's.

Might and Meekness.

"YOU sign this deed of your own free will, do you, madam?" asked the notary public. "What do you mean by that?" demanded the large, florid-faced woman. "I mean there has been no compulsion on the part of your husband, has there?" "Him?"

place on fire. In the third he strapped her under a buzz saw and set the machinery in motion. In the fourth he tore the planking out of Brooklyn Bridge, so that her automobile plunged through to the raging flood below.

In the fifth act he started to make love to her. She shrank from him.

"Why do you fear me, Nellie?" he asked.—Success.

Couldn't Outrun Fate.

A WIZENED little man charged his wife with cruel and abusive treatment. His better half, or in this case better two-thirds, was a big, square-jawed woman with a determined eye. The judge listened to the plaintiff's recital of wrongs with interest. "Where did you meet this woman who, according to your story, has treated you so dreadfully?" his honour asked. "Well, judge," replied the little man, making a brave attempt to glare defiantly at his wife, "I never did meet her. She just kind of overtook me."

Quick Otherwise.

CUSTOMER—"You don't seem very quick at figures, my boy!" Newsboy—"I'm out o' practice, sir. You see, most of the gents says "Keep the change!"

Good Cooking
Makes A Happy Home

Is anything more irritating than to spend hours of careful thought and preparation on a dish or a meal, only to have everything spoiled in cooking? Nothing is more disappointing than to have to set such a meal before your husband—nothing is more embarrassing when a guest is present.

How different it is when everything comes out just right—done to a turn—perfect. How good and proud it makes you feel—makes up for the whole day's worries. How it cheers your husband—tired from his hard days' work. How it ends the day right for the whole family.

Why not have such a meal always. You can—easily.

Stoves & Ranges make good cooking sure. Their special patent double flue distributes the heat over every part of the oven—baking everything absolutely evenly. With a Gurney-Oxford the under crust is always done as well as the upper—both perfectly.

In addition to perfect baking the Gurney-Oxford offers many other decided advantages.

The Oxford Economizer

Found only on the Gurney-Oxford, keeps your fire burning continually and evenly and saves 20% of your coal bill.

Gurney-Oxford parts are interchangeable, doing away with all trouble and waiting when you need repairs.

These and many other points mean untold saving in time, work and annoyance. Investigate them—prove for yourself what they will mean in your kitchen.
