

achieve for themselves such an order of society—to this will bear testimony, on either side of the ocean, the dawning first of May and the Sunday after, the third of May.

FREDERICK ENGELS.

London, April 30, 1891.