

proper names sometimes we will meet words that have the accent on the second syllable and more than one vowel to the stroke; in cases of that kind use the YAY or WAY stroke as a substitute for the excessive vowels. "Juxtaposition" may be used to indicate OF, OF-THE and the prefixes CON, COM and COG, by advanced writers. The shade may be omitted in this system of shorthand, after the student has become advanced in his studies. "Juxtaposition" is the most important position in this shorthand, and the position for the indication of WAY may be dispensed with generally.