Field For Missionary and Healer-Sport As An Aid to Advancement-Tale of a Wooden Leg That Served in Various Denominations-Hardy Tellers of the Deep Who Inhabit Canada's Wildest Coast Country.

Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell, who is said to be the original of "Dr. Luke of the Labrador," Norman Duncan's powerful epic of the fisherfolk, and the rock and ice bound coast of Labrador, was recently the guest of the Toronto Canadian Club.

Dr. Grenfell is a young Englishmen.

Dr. Grenfell bears in his face the traces of the strife of the elements and the rigors of the climate. He is a sturdy man in the prime of life, and his address illustrated his whole-souled devotion to the cause of the fishermen.

Ottawa, May 17.—A. W. Donly, Canadian commercial agent in Mexico, reports that the Monetary Reform Act went into effect on the first of this month. This means that the Mexican currency now stands on a gold basis, with the peso at a fixed value of 50 cents. Mr. Donly calls attention to a demand in Mexico for the potato, and sees no reason why Canadians should not enjoy a share of the trade.

The kitchens of tropical countries, such as are to be found in our Spanish-American lands, are like cells from the thickness of the stone walls—often two or three feet deep—and the projecting, emnipresent veranda, which gives a grateful shade and which looks out on a court. The cell resemblance is enanced by the iron bars at the windows and the heavy double doors, which look if they could resist a siege. The tills are whitewashed, and the floors of tiles. The diling room is often parated from this room by a long esch other, then—but they did later on."

He said that his work was entirely undenominational, and proved it by a story concerning an artificial leg. Two boys brought their mother on a dog sled 50 miles to have him amputate her leg. He did so, and in response to a request made on a visit to civilization for cast-off artificial limbs, received a few months later a parcel of three artificial legs. One of them belonged to a Faptist minister, and in tracing its history he discovered that it had first belonged to a Methodist who had died.

"It was three years a Methodist leg, three years s Baptist leg, and finally it came to me, an Episcopalian, and I fitted it onto a Roman Catholic fisherman's grandmother, and she is now stumping around the coast village on it."

to be overcome, but it had done so well that it was copied in four different places, and had established a branch of its own. These stores had greatly improved the economic conditions of the districts around them. This was another method of preaching the Gospel.

another method of preaching the Gospiel.

For the education of the people—few could read, and there was little to read—they had established small ill-braries. Now that there was something to read, the people were becoming ambitious to learn. The books were good—not goody-goody. One man had read "Swiss Family Robinson" and had told the story to everybody in the village, and now they were all anxious to learn to read.

For the children of trappers who go inland during the winter Dr. Grenfeil said that he was going to establish a boarding school. The general custom had been when a man died for the next door neighbor to take care of the family. Now Dr. Grenfeil is usually the recipient. He places them in great homes and they usually turned them out well.

He had introduced sports, especially He had introduced sports, especially football, because it gets them together, which has an educational advantage. People had donated disused toys, and he had the privilege of teaching the Gospel with legless dolls and damaged the control of the c

His pleasure in the work was the it gave him opportunities to use tal-nts which would otherwise be useents which would otherwise be useless.

Dr. Grenfell was also a magistrate. He knew nothing of law and went brequity. An instance of the exercise of his magisterial power was amusing. A man had a cow—a rare bird on that coast. The cow was killed by dogs of a neighbor. Dr. Grenfell decided that the man who owned the dogs should buy half the cow, whose value he fixed at $20. The man bought his half, sold it, and made a profit of $12. besides having some meat for himself.

Dr. Grenfell said he was a teetotaler. Liquor caused more danger to the fishermen than the fogs or reefs.

BLOWN FROM A TUNNEL.

and the rigors of the chairs of the state of Signatures of the Future.

The time will probably come when the natural signature, the impression of the thumb or finger tip, will be widely used for purposes of identification. If the thumb be lightly predicted upon a surface smeared with priming ink and then pressed upon clean paper an impression is obtained which is distinctive for the particular individual who owns the member. No two thumbs or fingers are alike in the arrangement of their multitudinous lines; each, therefore, is a seal which is unique and a seal which cannot readily be mislaid or lost. The French police use this test to assure themselves of the identity of a prisoner; but surely the system could be usefully extended. A newspaper correspondent who recently pleaded for such an extension of the thumb mark test stated that once when abroad he was in great straits for money, although he held checks for a considerable amount, simply because he could not prove his identity. If the local banker had only had an impression of his finger tip, as well as anthority to pay, all difficulty would at once have vanished.

Why Horsehoes Are Lucky.

Why Horsehoes Are Lucky. Why Horsehoes Are Lucky.

A new explanation is offered for the belief in the luck of old horseshoes. St. Dunstan was a skilled farrier. One day while at work in his forge the devil entered in disguise and requested Dunstan to shoe his "single hoot." The value of the house he recognised his malign customer, acceded, but caused him so much nain during the openion that Satan begged him to desist. This St. Dunstan did, but only after he had made the Evil One promise that neither he nor any of the lesser evil spirits, his servants, would ever molest the inmates of the house where the horseshoe is displayed.

Widowhood In Sumatra.

Midowhood in Sumatra.

In Sumatra the length of time that a widow must wear her weeds is determined by the wind. Just after her husband's death she plants a flag-staff at her door, upon which a flag is raised. While the flag remains untorn by the wind etiquette forbids that she should marry. But as soon as a rent appears, no matter how tiny, she can lay aside her weeds and don her most becoming gown and bewitching smile.

THE WONDERS OF THE BODY. THE WONDERS OF THE BODY.

Its mechanism, like delicate machinery, by even a slight cause is so disarranged as to be practically useless. A headache is no trifling matter, because the stomach, kidneys and liver are sure to be affected. To cure the cause of headaches and prevent new attacks, use Ferrozone: it âids the stomach by supplying nourishing blood, vitalizes the nerves and brain instantly. Ferrozone braces — gives tone—elevates your spirits. No such health bringer known. Fifty cents per box of fifty chocolate coated tablets at all dealers.

Astronomy in the cast. It is now nearly two hundred years since French astronomers went o Peru to measure "an arc of meridian."
The purpose of such arcs is to furnish data for calculating the size and shape of the earth. The arc in Peru was about two hundred and twenty miles in length, and, with the exception of a short are in South Africa, it is the only one ever measured in the south ern hemisphere. This year a commission headed by army officers has been sent from France to remeasure the arc in Peru. The remeasurement is regarded as of great scientific importance on account of the advances that have been made since the first measure was taken. It is now nearly two hundred years

Doctors Said That Lumps and External Swellings Would Turn to Running Sores.

She writes:—"Now imagine how joyous and great was my surprise when a friend of mine told me that Burdeck Blood Bitters would cure me, so that the lump and external swellings, which the dector told me would turn to running sores would disappear. I took her advice, and can say that I have no doubt but that Burdock Blood Bitters has saved me from years of suffering.
