PREMIER ROSS HAS BEEN FIRED

No Longer Vice-Pres. of the Alliance. Answer of the Prohibs.

Practical Protest Against His Betrayal of Their Confidence.

Toronto, Ont., May 28.—The Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, in convention to-day, dropping from the list of vice-presidents the name of Hon. G. W. Ross, for years regarded as their champion.

This is the prohibitionists' answer to the Premier's statement, that they are faithful idealists, viewing the question of temperance from a restricted standpoint. This is their protest against the manner in which the Premier has trifled with them in again refusing to introduce the legislation definitely proposed in the speech from the throne.

At the convention of the Alliance last year an effort was made, it will be remembered, to depose Mr. Ross from the vice-presidency, owing to the manner in which the prohibitionists were treated in regard to the referendum; but the desperate efforts of the politicians in the camp were successful, and his name was retained by a small majority. The decision to drop him now seems to have been all cut and dried, for when the report of the nominating committee was read at the convention this afternoon, not a single question was asked as to why Mr. Ross' name did not appear.

G. F. Martier, the new president of the Alliance, when spoken to by your correspondent with regard to the omission of the Premier's name, said he thought it had been done because of the Government's attitude toward the temperance people. As far as he knew there had been no discussion or debate in the nominating committee to nominate the officers, and he thought Mr. Ross' name had just been quietly dropped. Afterwards Mr. Martier explained that he had not been present at the meeting of the business when the officers had been chosen, and could not speak positively. For this reason he did not wish to be quoted.

W. H. Orr, an enthusiastic official of the Alliance, said that a year ago there had been some opposition to the committee which he should not yield to the effort then made to drop him, so his name was then retained. To-day, however, the personnel of the officers had been changed, and he thought with the entire consent of all parties. He had not been on the committee which made the nominations, and so could not speak of what took place.

Secretary Spence refused to say anything when asked why Mr. Ross had been dropped. "I cannot tell you any more than you know," he said, and professed to have forgotten whether there was any discussion last year as to the advisability of removing the Premier from the list of officers.

WHENCE THE MONEY CAME.
Colonel Matheson's Theory on the Gamey Case.

Toronto, May 29.—There was a lively meeting of the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature yesterday, in which, in the continued absence of Captain Sullivan, and the absence of Mr. E. R. Wood, Manager of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, Col. Matheson threw out the bold charge that the money which Sullivan got for the Shannon limit was taken from him by members of the Government, and that that was where the money came from which was given to Mr. Gamey. Col. Matheson said:—

"I do not believe that Sullivan got that money for his own use. I believe this Government or members of it got the greater portion of that money, and I further believe, and I say I have a strong suspicion, that the three thousand paid to Gamey came out of that money. I am satisfied that the Government and their supporters are trying to balk this inquiry. I know that Sullivan has been complaining very bitterly among his own friends at not getting this money. It was taken from him by members of the Government."

In the House during the afternoon Colonel Matheson moved his resolution, laid over from the previous day, that inasmuch as Capt. John Sullivan had refused to appear before the Public Accounts Committee, the House do order him to appear on Tuesday next, June 2.

Colonel Gibson thought the full purpose would be served, and the House would be within the facts, by merely ordering his attendance, without giving any reason. They believed Sullivan had been asked to attend, but they did not know that he had been formally summoned or notified. Mr. Whitney thought the order being an extraordinary proceeding, the House should incorporate a reason therefor.

Col. Matheson, however, amended his motion to a simple order that Sullivan appear before the committee on Tuesday next, and that the order be served upon him forthwith.

FOUND A CASE

Fred W. Ridley, formerly of this city, is now settled at Saskatoon, N. W. T. He and six other young fellows found it difficult to get a room, so they fitted up a corner in this warehouse as sleeping quarters. The day before he wrote to Chatham friends, the clerks in the store he manages had unpacked several crates of crockery from London, so that now the six were sleeping on good old Ontario straw. A copy of the Saskatoon Phoenix has been received at this office. It contains the following local: "Found, in James Clinksill's coal bin, on Tuesday morning, a cigar case. Owner can have same by paying for coal."

James Clinksill is the owner of the store that Mr. Ridley manages. In speaking of the local the latter says: "I went out to have a look at the coal which, they told me, was getting low, and the first thing I saw was the cigar case with the name of a photographer in town in it. He is getting rubbed pretty hard for his visit and I do not think that he will come again."

Evidently the man was accustomed to taking other things besides pictures.

The Saskatoon paper also contains a large advertisement of J. F. Cairns, grocer and baker.

EXPULSION FROM RUSSIA.

Times' Correspondent Receives Official Notice.

London, May 29.—The Times announces the receipt of a telegram from its St. Petersburg correspondent stating that he has been ordered by the Russian Government to leave Russian territory. The order, as originally signified to him, was that he was to leave St. Petersburg on Thursday, but by the good offices of the British Ambassador he has been allowed three days' grace to make domestic arrangements before leaving.

The Times, commenting editorially upon the incident, says:—"Until we possess more detailed information it is impossible to comment adequately upon this remarkable measure, unprecedented within our experience, or even to speculate upon the causes to which it is due. We feel very confident that our correspondent will not be found to have given the slightest justification for the harsh treatment dealt out to him. He has displayed conspicuous judgment and moderation in the discharge of his responsible duties. If there have been features in Russia's domestic policy which it was impossible for any foreign observer in his position to either overlook or minimize, he has shared the misgivings felt by not a few thoughtful and patriotic Russians themselves."

A SINGULAR TRAGEDY.

Boy of Fourteen Murders an Actress.

Berlin, May 29.—News of a singular tragedy near Odessa, Russia, has reached here. Stefan Monastyrski, the owner of a large estate, met and loved a Viennese variety singer, calling herself Baroness Von Nagel, and induced her to visit his estate. His brother Alexis, fourteen years old, strongly disapproved of this and repeatedly threatened to compel the Baroness to leave the estate. One night Stefan went to Odessa, and the next morning a servant noticed that the door of the Baroness' room was still locked. A rapping at the door was not answered, and the police were summoned. The door was then opened forcibly and the corpse of the Baroness was found on her bed. She had been strangled, and on her nose were the marks of teeth. From a leather strap attached to a hook in the wall hung the body of Alexis, and on a table was a note explaining the reasons for the murder, and adding that "through this act I have insured Stefan's future welfare, and I beg him to erect a cross over my grave."

YACHT FOUNDERS.

Two Boys Drowned Off Port Colborne.

Port Colborne, May 29.—A two-spurred yacht foundered last night outside of the breakwater. The boat is supposed to be the yacht Emma Detric of Cleveland, recently purchased by Mr. E. S. Pettit of Lockport, N. Y., from Mr. Detric, pastor of the Congregational Church at Cleveland. Mr. Pettit's son Stanley and his friend, Clarence Baylis, both college lads of Lockport, aged seventeen and eighteen years, were on board sailing the yacht from Cleveland to Olcott Beach on Lake Ontario via the Welland Canal. They left Cleveland on the 21st and arrived at Erie safely, which place they left on Tuesday morning last for Port Colborne. It is thought that the boys, not knowing the entrance to the harbor, ran against the breakwater in the storm and darkness of last night. Tugs have been out pulling at the boat, and a thorough search will be made as soon as the weather moderates. A boy's navy blue cap with Greek letters on the peak, part of the yacht's stern with the name Emma, an oar and some cards were picked up at noon to-day. Mr. Pettit is here searching the shore for the bodies.

When the musical composer has an inspiration he makes a note of it.

GLORY WHALEN MURDERED.

FOUND IN A SWAMP NEAR COLLINGWOOD.

Mysterious Crime Against a Girl of Thirteen—Left Her Home for School, and Was Not Seen Alive Afterwards.

Collingwood, May 29.—Lying on her back in a cedar swamp with a bullet hole through her head, the body of a pretty little thirteen-year-old Glory Whalen was found yesterday by Russell Kendall, a young farmer of Tottawasaga township. For this deliberate murder there is apparently no motive. The little girl was shot from behind and a handkerchief tied over her eyes, but there was no outrage, no robbery; all her few belongings were found beside the body. The case, in fact, is one of the most mysterious in the criminal annals of the Province. The scene of the tragedy, a small strip of cedar bush land at the southeast of the town of Collingwood, and just inside the boundary line, was within one hundred and fifty yards of the Kendall farm, yet Mr. Russell Kendall and his mother, who were both outside the house when the murder must have been committed, heard no shot and saw no body around. Glory Whalen, a bright, pretty, blue-eyed daughter of Henry Whalen, a farmer in moderate circumstances, living half a mile south of where the murder was committed, was a habit of coming into Collingwood daily to attend the Central Public School, usually with a girl school-mate named Pentland. She walked up he track to town, that being the shortest route to school Wednesday morning she started for school shortly after 7 o'clock, but on this particular day the Pentland girl did not accompany her. She always took her dinner with her, and did not return home till between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

When Glory did not reach home at her accustomed time her parents became alarmed, and, night coming without a sign of Glory, a search was instituted. It was thought that perhaps some accident might have occurred along the railway track, and Mr. Whalen and his son Jean, with lanterns, walked along the sides of the track and searched the bush in the immediate neighborhood of their own farm. Next morning at 7 o'clock the search was revived by Mr. Whalen, Mr. Russell Kendall, and Mr. William Crone, manager of the brickyard. The three men, stationed some ten yards apart, started from the railway track to go through the cedar bush just north of the Kendall farm. In less than ten minutes Russell Kendall saw the body of Glory lying in the bush in a swampy piece of ground. The body was lying on its back, the head turned to one side and the clothes tightly drawn about it. The three searchers did not touch the body till the arrival of Chief of Police James Wilde and the Coroner, Dr. A. R. Stephens, who arrived on the ground shortly after 9 o'clock.

A SUGGESTION

"The City Council is to be congratulated upon having secured a garbage plot," commented an interested ratepayer this morning, "but what use is that plot if there is no way of conveying the garbage to it? Many citizens at this time of the year have a barrel or two of garbage gathered through winter months, but do not feel like paying a drayman 75 cents or a dollar to convey it to the city's garbage plot. The city pays $25 a year for its garbage plot, and why not by adding a little more to the cost make it useful to the ones who pay for it, by having a garbage wagon that can be used at all times to great advantage to the citizens and city? There have been many calls on the health inspector for the garbage wagon, but he has none to serve them with. The Council should take action at once."

Every man bears his own burden, but not every one has the blessing of bearing another.

SATURDAY PLANET

The Big Saturday Planet to-morrow will be brighter and better than ever.

There are a number of special features this week.

The illustrations will please our fair readers. They include a series of splendid half-tones illustrating some of the latest creations.

"In the Days of Auld Lang Syne" again take the reader back over Chatham's interesting history and many events of note are chronicled. A local philosopher submits a recipe for several Chatham enterprises apparently afflicted with lethargy.

"Joe," the entertaining young shimmer, accompanied the 24th Regiment to St. Thomas and chats of his experiences—and the experiences of others—while there.

There are other special articles—all of local interest—and all the regular features, including the Satchel of the Satellite, the Talmage Sermon, the Church Chimes, the District Dashes, etc.

Besides The Planet always supplies all the latest news, local and foreign, in a breezy readable style that delights the busy man.
