Declaring that the German victory in Galicia wa due to an overwhelming superiority in equipment and that if the Allies in the west had been as well equipped the Germans would long ago have been driver from France and Belgium, David Lloyd George, the ninister of munitions, speaking at Manchester last night, made a stirring appeal to employers and workmen to supply the British armies with the neces sary munitions. The Germans' great success is due entirely to superior equipment, an overwhelming superiority of shot and shell and munitions and equip ment, he said. It was a battle won by the use they made of their skilled industries, and especially by the moment, we have more than plenty of men for the equipment available. Both British Houses of Parliament met yesterday for the first time since the formation of the new coalition ministry. The new members of the Cablnet, however, were unable to take their places on the ministerial benches in the House of Commons owing to the law which made them ineligible to sit until they were re-elected by their various constituencies. This situation was speedily remedied, for the House of ons passed in all its states a bill removing this disability for the period of the war. The House of Lords passed the first reading of the same bill and will take up its further stages to-day.

DRY GOODS REVIEW SHOWS QUIET GONDITIONS IN TRADE
