

News Notes From the Countryside

PICTON

Mrs. Adams will accompany her husband, Lieut.-Col. Adams overseas.

Mrs. T. C. DeMille returned on Saturday from spending a week with many relatives and friends in and near Belleville.

Mrs. Ralph Hubbs returned to her home in Belleville on Tuesday.

Now and again traces of Indian life are found in various parts of the county. The writer has an arrowhead made of stone, pointed at one end with a wider base and with sharp edges. At each side of the wide end is an indentation, marked for holding it in place. These are said to have been used by the red man to kill deer, by shooting them from their bows. Frequently, in the same locality, along the shores of Concession Lake, where deer formerly frequented, are found knives of stone for skinning deer. These are occasionally turned up by the plough, and with the arrowheads, form interesting relics of the continent's aboriginals.

The splendid keeping qualities of the Northern Spy apple in demonstrated to a remarkable degree by the samples now on exhibit at the Gazette Office. These apples were grown on the farm of Mrs. Vance, just below town on the Glenora road and were kept in a box in the cellar since they were stored a year ago. Their appearance after a year storage without special care is most excellent.

Mr. Robert Kelly, of King street, had the misfortune to fall in his room on Monday evening of last week resulting in a fracture of the hip. Although his general health was very good, he had been for some time a victim of rheumatism, and owing to his great age, over 90 years, the possibility of recovery is very much against him.

Mr. J. L. English, of Randolph Center, Vermont, visited friends in town this week. Mr. English, who resided in Greenbush until very recently, was just returning from a trip to Detroit. He reports a most favorable season for agriculture in the locality where he is now residing which is about 150 miles south of Montreal.

In an interesting letter recently received from Prof. G. W. Morden, who is employed as Chemical Director of a British company recently organized to manufacture certain products being used extensively in the war, Prof. Morden states that he has been at Basle, Switzerland for the past four or five months, but expects to return to England soon. The company has a large factory at Basle, and are now building a plant in Derby, England, a city of some 150,000 inhabitants and said to be one of the finest smaller cities of the old land. Basle is very near the German boundary and German and Austrian newspapers are circulated freely and Prof. Morden encloses translations from some of them which indicate very clearly that the Germans realize that they are now on the defensive with no hope of victory.

The annual exhibition of the Sophasburg Agricultural Society held at Deseronto on Saturday last was most successful. The weather man was not altogether in his best mood, for the day was delightfully cool and rather windy, but there was nevertheless quite a crowd in attendance. The exhibits in the hall were quite up to the standard of former years, the display of home-made cookery being especially fine. This was also true of the fancy work, while the quality of the apple exhibit was most creditable, especially for this year. The exhibit of grains was also good but in common with other fairs the roots and vegetables were not up to the standard, owing to the extremely dry season.—The Gazette.

Again we mourn the loss of one of our patriot sons in the death at the post of duty of Capt. R. E. Horkins, Medical Officer of the 77th Howitzer Brigade, Royal Artillery. Capt. Horkins was a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Horkins of this town and was a graduate in medicine of Toronto University. He received his preliminary education in the schools of this town. Following graduation in 1914 he spent a year in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, and in 1915 enlisted as one of 35 Canadian doctors required for the British Army Medical Corps. On going overseas he was attached to the 77th Howitzer Brigade of the County of Cork, Ireland.

His parents received a letter on Monday from the adjutant of the battalion in which he states that Capt. Horkins and his great friend Lieut. R. G. Hamilton, of Brockville, also the Major and Commanding Officer of the Brigade were all killed by the same shell. He notes in the letter how fearless Captain Horkins was in the discharge of his duty, often exposing himself to the greatest dangers to recover wounded men. His remains lie in what is recognized as a British cemetery beside those of his dearest friend. Mention is also made in the letter of the attachment existing between Captain Horkins and his men. His comrades were killed instantly but he lived about half an hour after the fatal blow. The funeral ceremony was conducted by a priest of the Roman Catholic Church.

He is survived by his parents, four brothers, George, of the Howland Hardware Co., Toronto, William of Robinson & Co., Barristers, Toronto, T. B. and Harold at home, and two sisters, Miss Mona of Toronto, and Beatrice at home.—The Herald.

The 235th battalion has an excellent organization for recruiting purposes. All the soldiers are live wires when it comes to presenting the claims of King and Country. Belleville has had a sample of the energy which this battalion possesses.

HONEYMOON WAS RUDELY DISTURBED.

Police of Lindsay Bagged Harry Yorkie in His Bridal Chamber.

That the course of true love never runs smooth, and the way of the transgressor is hard, was brought home to one Harry Yorkie, alias Raymond, with striking force last night, when he was unceremoniously ousted from his bridal chamber by Chief Short and hustled off to Castle Balfour.

The reason for such a transition from the dainty cot (which he and his bride of a few weeks occupied), to a cell in the county Basile is easily explained. The aforesaid Harry Yorkie some time ago, in a moment of weakness, enticed Mr. John O'Reilly's liquor store, together with a confederate, and carried off a consignment of liquid refreshments. A day or two afterwards Chief Short gave the pair in and Magistrate Jackson gave the thieves a rest cure in Provincial institutions. Yorkie was sent to the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph and his term expires next February. The desire for a change overcame him and last May he made his get-away without leaving his future address with the reformatory officials.

It was only within the last few weeks, however, that he visited this section, but very few knew of his presence here. In his seclusion he became enamored with a young lady from Haliburton. The love god Cupid manipulated the heart strings so persistently that the tickle creature triumphed. The nuptial knot was tied about a fortnight ago and two hearts beat as one.

On the day preceding this nuptial event an anxious father came down from the northland and solicited the assistance of Chief Short in a search for his daughter, who had left the family hearthstone and journeyed to Lindsay. The Chief located the girl in a house, in the southeastern section of the town. He informed her that her father was very much concerned about her whereabouts, and wished her to return home. She informed Chief Short that she had pledged her troth—her cup of happiness was full, and then some—and that she much preferred sailing over life's troubled sea with the man of her choice than returning to her home.

The climax came in the evening—the end of a perfect day, as it were—when the man who left Haliburton and the girl who left Haliburton were united in marriage at the home of the groom's mother. The news of the approaching wedding reached the father's ears and he forthwith trekked it to the house, but reached there after the knot had been tied.

The final act in this narrative occurred Wednesday, Chief Short received a telegram from the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph to arrest Yorkie or Raymond. Accordingly the Chief visited the house on Water St., and found the groom in the bridal chamber hiding under the bed.

DON'T BUY OLD METHODIST CHURCHES

Rev. G. G. Smith, B.D., of Belleville, in a ray speech, seconded the adoption of the report of the Church Edifice Committee at the Baptist Convention in Hamilton. He deprecated the purchasing of second-hand Methodist churches, and urged prospective builders to consult the board before entering upon the erection of new church buildings.

FRANK V. KELLEY

Francis Vincent Kelly, of Deseronto, is reported killed in action. Bomber Kelly enlisted over a year ago in a western battalion and went to the front with them after spending a few weeks in England. The deceased was born in Kingston nineteen years ago, and for several years his parents resided there, his father being an employee of the Bell Telephone Company. Later the family moved to Peterboro, where his father, James D. Kelly met his death from an electric shock. Later Frank resided with his grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Kelly, at Ralston, leaving there a couple of years ago to go west from where he enlisted. His mother, Mrs. M. R. Neville, resides in Deseronto. An aunt, Mrs. Frank Koen, and an uncle, Peter Kelly, reside in Kingston.

Frank Kelly was a clever athlete, and a splendid type of young manhood and his many friends will hear of his death with keen regret.

COBourg PRESBYTERIANS SENT NO DELEGATE.

On Friday night last the congregation of the Cobourg Presbyterian church had a meeting to discuss the advisability of sending delegates to the meeting of the "Wee Free" which is being held in Toronto. This week, while the attendance was small, the members of the Kirk more than made up for any slowness in the gathering by the enthusiasm with which those present discussed the subject, and to quote a famous saying, "A very interesting time was had."

The Presbyterians in Cobourg have changed their minds on the question of union several times. At first they were much in favor of it, but after the first vote was taken and they got thinking things over they decided that they could never feel comfortable in the same heaven as the Methodists, who do not appreciate the beauties of the doctrine of Election, or associate with the Congregationalists who know nothing about John Knox or the Westminster Confession of Faith. So when the next vote was taken they voted against Union. It appears now, however, that outside of a few of the electest kind of the "Elect", the sentiment of the congregation is changing again, and that the Presbyterians in Cobourg will fall in line with the general policy of the Church, and go into Union. Anyway they did not send any delegate to the meeting in Toronto.—Sentinel Star.
