PEAT MOSS FOR RED CROSS USES

Peat moss known to botanists as Sphagnum is wanted by the Red Cross workers for use in hospitals as a substitute for absorbent cotton. A call has been made in the daily papers for people to be on the look out for beds of this moss. There is no doubt but that plenty of it can be found in our bogs and damp wood lots.

Miss Millicent Chase of Kentville who is ever interested in Red Cross work has located a nice quantity of this moss near Kentville and a sample sent to Halifax verifies it as the real article. There are many other deposits in bogs near. Here is an opportunity for our school children to do some nature work and effective Red Cross work as well. The moss is usually pale green, sometimes tipped with reddish pink. It is a very pretty moss and looks like small fern leaves closely packed.

There are several specimens but only the absorbent ones are of special value. Children who locate what they believe is Sphagnum should consult their teacher and have a sample sent to Miss Chase or left at Advertiser Office or send to Red Cross headquarters at Halifax.

Specimens should be sent for approval before a quantity is gathered. Be on the look out for a fine deposit in some bog of this valuable moss.
