The Anglers of Charleston and the Rideau waters will be delighted to learn that a new bait has been in vented that will obviate the minnow pail with all its attendant inconveniences. It consists of an annealed glass tube in which a live minnow is placed. There is an opening at each end of the table, thus securing a constant flow of fresh water, and one minnow will last all day. The bait has proved a glittering success wherever used and the firm are rushed with orders. Call at this office and see the device or write to the manufacturer, Calvin V.
