SAW A STAR.

A Mysterious Headlight not on the Time Table

The Curious Reason for Which a Train was Side Tracked.

In the rarefied atmosphere of the high tablelands of Mexico objects that are really a long way off appear to be close at hand. This has led to many ludicrous mistakes on the part of tourists, and even on the part of those having a knowledge of the peculiarity of the country.

The Mexican Central railroad has a tangent (section of track in which there is no curve) that is said to be the longest in the world. It is over 60 miles in length, and a locomotive headlight can be seen, of course, for a very long distance.

One evening a train rounded the curve approaching this tangent, and as it entered on the straight track its brakes suddenly began to grind. It soon came to a standstill, and the conductor, fearing that an accident had befallen the engine, hurried forward, and was shown by the engineer a light that was twinkling and dancing on the track directly ahead.

"A headlight, sure," the engineer said. "Must be an extra and the dispatchers have overlooked it, for orders do not mention it."

"Guess you are right," the conductor replied, "but I never knew the dispatchers to be so careless before. Anywhere but on this tangent there would have been a collision and somebody killed. We'd better move ahead slowly to the next side track. We can't tell just how near that train may be, and we will wait for it to pass us there."

They reached the side track in safety, and, drawing in on it, awaited the coming of the other train. Half an hour passed, and the engineer was fuming, wondering how much longer he was to be delayed, when the conductor called him to step out to the main line.

"What do you think of that headlight, now?" he asked, when the engineer had joined him. "Seems to have got clear up and off the road."

The engineer gazed at the twinkling light, then, "Venus, by Jupiter!" he exclaimed. "Billy, we've side tracked to let a star go by, or by a name's not Smith!"—Youth's Companion.

There Must be Always Some Essence of Truth in Horse Trading

A Western Court Decides Against a Common Form of Lying.

The appellate court of Indiana recently handed down a decision in a case that grew out of a horse trade and that is interesting to every one who may desire to purchase a stallion, says The Horseman. Two breeders made a trade by which they came into the possession of a stallion represented, or rather, misrepresented, by the vendor to be standard bred and registered. The purchasers, relying on the statements made, took the stallion home and proceeded to stand him for public service, publishing the pedigree as warranted to them and apparently being quite satisfied as to its genuineness. Later they discovered that they had been imposed on and attempted to make the vendor take back the horse and return that which he had received for the animal.

The vendor resisted this, giving as his reason that the purchasers knew perfectly well that the horse was not as represented, that they were well posted on breeding and the register and that they knew quite well at the time that it was only a horse trade anyway and that what he got was not a bit nearer being right than what he gave. The purchasers stoutly denied this contention, claiming that they believed what was told them about the stallion's breeding and, relying thereon, took him home and stood him for public service under the pedigree warranted to them. As soon as it was discovered that the horse was not straight all their patrons had preferred claims against them for damages, and altogether their business was plunged into a state of chaos that meant serious financial loss to them.

The court held, in rendering its decision, that the fact that the purchasers stood the horse for public service under the pedigree given warranted to them was sufficient evidence to prove that they relied on the warranty given, and that the vendor must make good the same. The decision, therefore, was against the seller, who was compelled to take the horse back. This decision may or may not have been warranted by the actual facts in the case. Granting all the statements to have been true as made, it assuredly was just and fair. If the purchaser actually believed what he is told and proceeds to do business along that line, he must have recourse on the seller if he has been deceived.

RUBBING IT IN.

Tom (coming into the office)—"By Jove, I want to slug a man who asks me a question like that fellow did on the street a minute ago."

Jack—"What did he ask you?"

Tom—"He wanted to know if it was cold enough for me."

Jack (sneaky)—"And is it?"

A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men.

RINGWORM ON BABY'S FACE

Mother Ashamed to Take Him Out. Everything Failed to Cure. CUTICURA Cured in 3 Days.

I have had my baby sick with his face full of ringworm, and tried everything and failed. I was ashamed to take him out, for every one would look at him. I was told to get CUTICURA. I got it on Wednesday, and by Saturday his face was clear. Now I can take him everywhere. I cannot say enough about CUTICURA. If people only knew about how his face looked a week ago, and see it today, they would never be without it. The people in the house can tell you how his face was, and how it is today.

FOREIGN NOTES.

An international congress of writers will meet at Rome this spring. The Sicilian Press Association has made arrangements for taking the foreign guests on a free excursion to Palermo and the points of interest in Sicily.

August Schmidt, of Wolgast, in Pomerania, now 105 years of age, is believed to be the last survivor of the Prussian war of liberation of 1813-15. Kaiser Wilhelm sent him a photograph of the old Emperor and a telegram of congratulation on his birthday.

After the ball given by the Paris Municipal Council to their electors and friends at the Hotel de Ville, it was found that six dozen silver spoons and 686 other articles, such as plates, mustard-pots and flower vases, had been taken away, while many of the dancers had helped themselves to bottles of champagne for home consumption.

When Lord Kitchener went to Cambridge University to receive his degree of Doctor of Laws the undergraduates celebrated the occasion with bonfires and a good deal of rowdiness. The University Senate now recommends that a rule be passed that henceforth no undergraduate shall take part in the public proceedings of the university.

At Cape Grifone, on the French coast of the British Channel, a new lighthouse has been erected. The light is of 1,500,000-candle power at ordinary times, but of 3,000,000-candle power in thick weather, and can be seen forty-eight miles off on a clear night. It sends five successive white flashes instead of the three white followed by a red of the old light.

John Ruskin's calling for many first-year men entered forth many kind notices in England. They cannot disguise, however, the fact that his mental powers are already gone. He is described as sitting for hours at his window looking at the hills, as if he were going out of doors, even into his garden, and as keeping silent, even when spoken to. A proposal to have his portrait painted by Holman Hunt has been declined by his family on the ground that he is too feeble to sit.

Don Lorenzo Perosi, the priest composer, is more sensitive than Lieut. Hobson. Milan went wild over him after the performance of his "Resurrection of Lazarus" in the church of Sant' Ambrogio, and the Lombardians, in describing the scene, stated that a number of ladies of the aristocracy made a rush at the composer and kissed him. This statement Perosi declares to be false and an offense to his dignity as a priest. He has therefore brought suit against the Lombardians for libel.

Vienna has opened its new municipal saloon, the Rattskeller, in the basement of the City Hall. The place has been decorated by the foremost artists of the city and in it only the vintage of Austria proper will be sold, foreign and even Hungarian wines being excluded. The Rattskeller is conducted by the municipal authorities; its establishment has roused the wrath of the restaurant keepers of the city, who have been among the most useful supporters of the present anti-Semitic mayor, Dr. Lueger.

Bonn on the Rhine has been investigating the liquor-drinking habits of its small school children. Out of 247 children, seven or eight years of age, in the primary schools, there was not one that had not tasted beer or wine, and but a quarter of them had not tasted brandy. Beer or wine was drunk regularly every day by 25 per cent. of the children, while 8 per cent. including more girls than boys, received a daily glass of cognac from their parents to make them strong, and 16 per cent. would not drink milk because it had no taste.

Phidogen, a quiet country village in Kent was recently the scene of a remarkable murder. The rector's daughter, a middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with several parishioners and wrote to six of them to meet her at church on a certain Sunday, as she wished to make up. It happened to rain, so that only one of the persons addressed, a Sunday school teacher, attended church. After the communion, of which both parties took, the woman invited him into the vestry and asked the curate to be a witness to the reconciliation. She then drew a revolver and shot the teacher dead. She had several spare cartridges on her person, so she inferred that she had intended to shoot all the persons to whom she had written. She was perfectly calm after her act and has kept silent about it.

HERE AND THERE.

Cincinnati claims to make 20,000 bug cages, 25,000 rat traps, 120,000 fly traps, and 300,000 sieves out of wire annually.

In the twenty weeks Richard Mansfield has played "Cyrano de Bergerac" this season he is said to have made $120,000 as his share of the receipts.

Francesco de Cunigh, a resident of New York city, became so merry at a party in a friend's house that in an uproarious fit of laughter he bit off his tongue.

Rev. Charles Wesley, rector of Grosvenor Church, London, has been fined $75 because disputing a bill presented by a workman he assaulted the latter and broke some of his ribs.

In one small township in North Carolina, Southern Pines, 4,000,000 pounds of fruit were shipped to Northern markets in 1898. It was all raised by Northern invalids living there for their health.

Professor Henry A. Rowland, of Johns Hopkins University, by a recent invention, has simplified the art of telegraphy so that it is no longer necessary for operators to learn the Morse system. Any one who can work a typewriter can send a dispatch.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach. But she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver Troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at A. I.
