W. A. Mals is license inspector for West Kent, but apparently everybody doesn't know th.s. There is one young man whose ignorance of the aspector's identity will be costly. Sunday last W. A. came to the city. The inspector is a quiet man and hates d.sp.ays and fuss. That is why ne was travelling incog Sunday and that is why he came to the city by the River Road, H. rwich. Alweys before when he came to Chatham the inspector has driven in from the north side. In each case, however, his visit seemed to be expected and he was always extended the glad hand. Sunday, however, he changed his route. Miss Mae Hewson has returned after spending two weeks the guest of her aunt, Wallaceburg. Miss Pearl Maggs will resume her Wm. Reaching the city he visited several of the hotels, but there was nothing doing. He then went over the river. The very first hotel he struck he wandered into the barroom where the son of the proprietor was serving drinks to about five customers. Mr. Mills leaned against the bar just like any other regular habitue of the place. The son and bartender didn't know the inspector and when he had finished serving the regulars he came over to volunteer. regulars he came over to volunteer.

THE BLACK WA CH MEN

The Great Band and Pipers who will soon be here.

The Black Watch Brass and Pipe Bands, which are now in Canada, are creating the greatest enthusiasm and arousing the most thrilling outbursts of national feeling everywhere they are heard. They are all worthy sons of a great fighting corps and have themselves seen long service and, needless to say, the music of the band and the skirl of the pipers have enheartened grim warr.ors in many a hard fight.

The members of the Band, who are under command of Major Rose, a most distinguished officer, and under the leadership of Bandmaster E. T. Murray, are as follows: Band Sergt. F. BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, CONVEYANCER, STC. Chatham, Ont., Sept. 2, 1904.

Mother Superior,
Convent, Chatham.
During the past six months I have had two pupils from your commercial and shorthand departments, Miss Hoen and Miss Gerber. Both of these young ladies are thorough in their shorthand.

Miss Gerber is with me now and her work for a girl of her years is excellent. She transposes her shorthand notes very accurately, which is the one thing most desirable, and in her general proficiency shows the care and thoroughness of her teaching. Yours very truly, S. B. ARNOLD

To Whom it may Concern.

We have at present in our employ as stenographer. Miss Margaret Hoern, a pupil of the Ursuline Academy, Chatham, Ont., and judging from the speed and accuracy in which she does her work proves that the training which pupils are excessed at this institution is the very best that can be acq ired. THE BLONDE LUMBER & M'F'G. Co. T. J. Doyle, Sec'y-Treas.

MERRITTS BANKING OFFICE and REAL ESTATE AGENUY

Chatham, Ont, Sept. 2 1904.

This is to certify that we have in our office Miss Blanche Kelly, a pupil of the Ursuline Academy of this city, who has been with us six months, and do not hesitate to say that she has proven a first-class stenographer and typewriter, taking letters in shorthand with the greatest speed and accuracy, and also all other work in our office has been quickly acquired, and it speaks highly of the business education any student may receive at "The Pines."

Messrs O'Keefe & Drew, of this city, speak highly of Miss E. Manning, a pupil of the 90's, who has been in their employ for several years, say: "We cannot speak too highly of Miss? annug's business abilities, the has given us entire satisfaction in every respect. The Academy may feel justly proud of her."

The course csmprises Pernin's and Dement-Pitmans systems of Stenography, Typewriting, Book Keeping and Penmanship, Commercial Arithmetic, Grammar, Composition, Literature, and Business Law, all of which subjects are taught in a most practical manner, so that a young lady entering a position finds nothing new in the work before her. These subjects are supplemented by a course in Physical Culture. Young girls desiring to acquire a business education will, therefore, do well by availing themselves of the unique advantages there afforded.

The other classes of the Academy are equally flourishing. Of the four candidates at the Departmental Examinations, three, Miss K. Spereman, Sarnia; Miss J. McVean, Tilbury; and Miss G. Doyle, Raleigh, were successful.

The work in each department will be resumed on Tuesday, 6th inst., on which day pupils are requested to be in attendance.
