Soffered From Weak Heart and Could Not Safely Walk Any Distance—How the Pulse of Life Was Adjusted.

Ro Sadely Welk Any Distance—How the Poles of Life Was Adjusted.

The meaners of unwritten facts of rail life for accessed her who distorations of fation. A peop behind the some would find a peop behind the some would find any with adequate proof that there is more of case, trial and severanties, and the sound of the series would find any of the sound of the series would for the series. We find many whose experience health and sickness; little or any of this is obtrained upon the neither any of this is obtained by the physician. Thanks be to the mighty genital that discovered the now finnous pances for the life to which was made and the sound the mannity is unbejeted whosemelfroin from imporerished blood or a shattered nerve yeare. Thousands have, and thousands are still using to the greatest advantage and sight with over increasing permanent confectement and distrassing henor. The following statement is from each of the world's years go Mila Fisher was exceed with weakness and a distressing remanent confectement and distrassing henor. The following statement is from each of the world's work and the action of the heart. It was stiriluted to several canuse, all possibly more or less true, he were overwork, exposure, etc. She was certainly weak and the action of the heart and she received the stream of the stream

Reflects the Town.

It takes a live town to make a live newspaper. There never was in the past hundred years, nover will, and never can be a live town witnout a live newspaper. The newspaper is dependent on the town. It reflects the push, progress and aspirations of the town. Without home patronage it can not live and thive; then again, while it is dependent on the town, the town cannot get along without it. There is no auxiliary no valuable on a growing town se an outspoken malbic-splitted paper, wheely and well managed.

The following is a story told of a doctor at one of the London hospitals. He was one day lecturing to a class of medical students, when he stopped and saked a question which for some time none of them answered. But one man, who had never answered a question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, answered is question before, and was looked upon as the fool of the class, and was looked and the monage of the company of the organization.
