These peaks are meaner beaven than earth bel These bills are higher than they seem;
'Tis not the clouds they touch, nor the soft brow, Of the o'erbending sames, as we deem;'
'Tis the blue floor of heaven that they sipbear,; And, like some old and wildly ragged stair,
They lift as to the land, where all is fair—
The land of which I dream.

The land of which I dream.

These ocean-waves, in their unmeasured evecp,
Are brighter, bluer than they seem;
True images, here, of the celestial deep,
Fed from the fulness of the unfailing streom—
Houven's glassy see of everlasting rest,
With not a breath to attribe allent breast—
The sea that leaves the land where all are blest—
The land of which I dream.

And these keen stars, the bridal gems of night, Are pure leaffer than they seem ;

Pilled from the inner fountsis of deep light,

They pour down heaven's own beam,

Clear speaking from their throne of glorious blue, onts ever ancient, ever new, glad home above, beyond our view— The land of which I dream.

This life of ours, these lingering years of earth, Are brisfer, swifter than they seem; A little while, and the great second birth, Of time shall come, the prophets' ancient theme!
Then He, the King, the Judge, at length shall come And for the desert, where we sadly roam, Shall give the kingdom for our endless hom The land of which I dream.

VARIETIES.

THE THIRST FOR WEALTH.

How wise is the prayer of Agur! And how few there are who imbibe its spirit, and discern the perils of riches! Insensi-bly the desire of wealth grows upon us and while our convictions are all the other way, we find our hearts clinging to the world's possessions as to their best good, and our hands are busily engaged in performing what the heart, wrapped in the love of the world, designs.

The desire for wealth, "covetousness, which is idolatry," is one of the most dangerous and deadening influences which can affect our Christian life. It closes our hearts against the appeals which must constantly be made to us, while the world is still unconverted, and there are any spots in foreign lands unvisited by the messengers of the cross, or in our own, unprovided with the stated minstrations of the gospel. If all that is unwisely hoarded, and all that is worse than foolishly expended, could be turned to the great object of evangelizing the world if men were more intent upon building up the kingdom of Christ, and less devoted to their own selfishness and pleasures, how different would be the report from the ends of the earth-and how would ignorance, vice, and suffering diminish in our world.—Episcopal Re-

A doctor and a poet quarreled; an indifferent person was applied to, to settle the dispute, when the latter made the following reply: "You are faulty, both; do penance for your crimes: bard, take his physic-doctor, read his ryhmes."

One of the most celebrated members of the Paris bar was lately consulted by a yeunger practioner upon an obscure point of law "I cannot give you positive answer, young man," replied the advohave pleaded once one way, and once the other, and I gained my suit each

Foot, being annoyed by a poor fidling fellow, straining harsh discord under his window, sent him out a shilling with a request that he would play elswhere, as the foundry, which is the best evidence of their suone scraper at the door was sufficient.

A grim bachelor-editor once retorted upon a rival's diatribe, that "it should be written in letters of salt on a board fence, for cows to lick it."

Mr. Jones, you say that Mr. Rozin is a composer. Does the court understand from that, that he is a writer of music?" "No, siree ; he's called a composer be-casse he never preaches to a man without putting him to sleep." "Crier, call the

The Springfield Gazette tells a good story of a clergyman who lost his horse one Saturday evening. After hunting, in company with a boy until midnight, he gave up in despair. The next day, somewhat dejected at his loss, he went into the pulpit, and took for his text the following passage from Job—"Oh, that I knew where I might find him?" The boy, who had just come in, supposing the horse was still the hurden of his thought eried out—"I know where he is—he's in Deacon Smith's barn!"

Mechanics, Inventors & Manufacturers. $450. IN SPLENDID PRIZES. $450.

VOLUME IX of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN commences on the 17th of September.
It is chiefly devoted to the advancement of the interests of Mechanics. Lagarders, Manufacturers, and Parmens, by the diffusion of useful knowledge upon these important branches. It is edited by men practically skilled in the arts and sciences, and is widely regarded as a sound and able journal. Nearly of the VALUABLE PATENTS which issue weekly from the PATENT OFFICE are ILLUSTRATED WITH ENGRAVINGS, and the CLAIMS of all the PATENT'S are published in its columns; thus making the paper a purfect SCIENTIFIC AND MECHANICAL ENCY-CLOFEDIA for fature as well as present reference. The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is very extensively circulated—its circulation in the last Volume exceeding 18,000 copies per week. It is in form for burding; each volume contains SEVERAL HUYDRED ENGRAVINGS and over FOUR HUNDRED PAGES of Reading Matter, with an Index. The practical receipts alone are worth to any family much more than the subscription price.

MRS. WINSLOW, an old an experienced nurse ill. and Female Physician, would call the attention of the Ladies to her Southing Syrup for children teething. It will immediately releve them from pain, alley all spasmodic action, soften the gum, reduce inflamination, and is sure to regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it Mothers, it will give rest to yourselve and relief and health to you children.

Frice, 25 cents per bottle.

We have sold very large quantities of Mrs. Winslow's Southing Syrup during the past six years, several thousand the last year. We believe, it the best medicate in the world for children teething or for the cure of Dysentry and Diarrhea in Children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. It gives universal satisfaction—ever never heard a complaint from any one using it, never sold a medicing to universally successful in relieving pain and effecting cures—relief is a boolutely sure.
