The Redistribution Bill.
SIR JOHN THOMPSON. Just a word or two. I cannot submit in silence to these appeals characterized as appeals of justice. I am a member of the gentleman who calls them so, they strike me as being appeals to secure party advantage. While, as I have said so often before, I am in favor of the redistribution of the franchise, I do not feel that I should be departing from the only principle on which we can be guided in dealing with the Redistribution Bill, and that is, that we should not be guided by party considerations.

Address.
TO ANNE MALLARD, TEACHER, OF NEW ZEALAND SCHOOL.
DEAR SIR.—We cannot allow you to depart from our midst without expressing the high appreciation of our respect towards you. As our teacher you have proved to be a good and devoted teacher. Your unflinching and untiring devotion to the welfare of the rising community, and as a Christian man you have done all in your power to promote God's cause. You have not only won the respect of the people, you have endeared yourself to the pupils, who made such rapid progress during the four years you have been in the district. We feel that in parting with you we are losing a good and devoted teacher. Address and Presentation.
One of the largest congregations ever witnessed at St. Margaret's assembled at the church on the last of S. Peter and Paul to hear the farewell sermon of their revered pastor. After High Mass the priest returned to the sanctuary, when one of the parishioners advanced to the rail and read the following address, which was accompanied by a well filled purse.
ADDRESS.
TO REV. J. C. McLELLAN, P. P., St. Margaret's.
REV. AND DEAR SIR.—It is with the most profound sorrow that we, the parishioners of St. Margaret's, Antigonish, are compelled to bid adieu to you, who have been our pastor for the past two years. The news of your departure, and that we were to be without you, was a great loss to us, and we were quite unprepared for it. We were looking forward to a long and pleasant intimacy with you, and we were quite unprepared for it. We were looking forward to a long and pleasant intimacy with you, and we were quite unprepared for it.
