MINARD'S LUMBER RELIEVES NEURALGIA.

Great Britain
and the EmpireTHE APPEAL OF THE EYE—
WEMBLEY'S IMPERIAL PAG-EANT.

By Sir J. Fortescue Flannery, Bart.

Next year's British Empire Exhibition will serve a truly great purpose if it succeeds in introducing Great Britain to the Empire. In spite of the fact that history can record no Empire of extent equal to our own, that extent is realized by no more than a few. Great administrators, sailors, soldiers know something of the range and variety of those realms that fly the flag, though it is doubtful whether more than a handful have traversed them, but the people of Great Britain taken as a whole are badly informed about the Empire and their ignorance like every other form of ignorance is dangerous.

We are a simple people for many of us the parish pump or its urban equivalent is more arresting than India's new Capital or the Suez Canal or the Rocky Mountains. The first is a fact to us; the rest are names. Migration has taught us a little. When we have relations in Australia, South Africa, Canada, India, we take an interest, however languid, in these far lands. As a rule, however, we fail utterly to recognize their position in the Empire.

For this reason if for no other, all travelled, serious and responsible people in Great Britain must welcome the British Empire Exhibition. They knew that it will bring home to the average citizen who cannot hope to visit the Dominions and Colonies Overseas a faithful picture of their extent and variety. It will kindle not only a legitimate pride, justified by the reflection that British civilization still leads the world, but it will give birth to a new sense of duty. All the gems in the Imperial crown have been won by hardy and adventurous Britons, many of whom gave their lives to make their country more prosperous or more secure; they established the tradition of a British Government, broad based upon liberty and justice. Even where the people we rule have real grievances it is doubtful whether they would welcome any Power in place of us.

Not even the duller Englishman can reflect upon such a fact without some measure of satisfaction. But this is not enough. He must learn enough about the Empire to enable him to elect with discretion his representative in the House of Commons, for upon that assembly responsibility for the maintenance of the Empire may be said to rest. He must understand that much of the world looks on our acquisitions with a jealous eye, remembering that we were first in the field and have taken most of the prizes; he must remember that our positions at certain strategic points in both hemispheres—Gibraltar, Malta, Aden, The Cape of Good Hope, Falkland Isles, Hong Kong, Singapore, Canada, Newfoundland, Australia, Mauritius and many others permit us to exercise forces that are out of all proportion to the size of our army and navy.

These are simple truths, they have been taught in school, college, lecture hall, but they enter the mind by way of the ear, and that is not the best road to consciousness. The eye is better. A thing seen is a thing remembered, a truth heard is often no more than a fact forgotten.

The Pageant of Empire to be displayed at Wembley next year will be the greatest educative factor yet placed within the reach of the British subject; it will be the most urgent and withal the most attractive reminder of his obligations that has been forthcoming since the Empire came into existence. Nothing could be better calculated to stir the imagination and enthusiasm of the young to serve as a stimulus to the business man—who needs a little aid in this direction just now—or to impress upon those who aspire to serve their country in the public places the nature and the variety of the service that is required of them. Even the little Englishman, the worshipper at the shrine of the parish pump, may learn that there is outside his present thoughts something vaster than his all precious conceptions, something with whose prosperity his own is inextricably bound up.

No great effort is needed to visualize dimly the future that will bring the Empire into closer and more intimate communion throughout all its vast areas, the future that will embrace in the loose strong bands of an Imperial association all the varied goals at which the Empire aims. For we must not forget that our generation and its predecessor have been concerned more with acquisition and settlement than with those developments towards which the most far-seeing of our administrators move.

To such changes the British Empire Exhibition paves the way; may it teach the average Briton from whatever part of the Empire he comes, the true nature of his heritage.

Broadway Scandals

IN "WATCH YOUR STEP."

"Watch Your Step," presented at the Casino last night by the Broadway Scandals, furnished about two hours of good entertainment, although only a very small audience was present. Mr. Cal West in his negro impersonations, and Mr. Sam Goldman as Morris Abraham "A Simp," provided a vein of comedy that kept the audience continually laughing. There were six specialty numbers, the best of which was a dance by Miss Bonnie Mack and Herman Freedman. In this they were encased three times. Miss Travis in male impersonation sang "Old Back Porch" and, as on her previous appearances, received much applause. Miss Mavis with her novelty jazz band, contributed several selections which were greatly appreciated. Particularly pleasing was her rendition of "Till-lar-y." Miss Edna Richards as "Marie Provost," Managress of the Hotel de Paris, was excellent. She also appeared in several specialty numbers and had to respond to encores. "Watch Your Step" will be repeated to-night. To-night there will be an Amateur Contest, and no doubt a large audience will be present. The bill for the last half of the week is "You'd be Surprised."

Canadian Writers

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 1.—(Canadian Press)—W. J. Sykes, chief librarian of Central Carnegie Library, gave some valuable hints to about 400 students in an address on Canadian Literature at the Normal School. Mr. Sykes's address was given in connection with Canadian Authors' Week and was, he said, at the instance of the local branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. He said he did not understand the aim of Canadian Authors' Week to be that of urging their must of necessity buy this Autumn's books. "Let us keep a certain amount of professional dignity in the world of letters," urged Mr. Sykes.

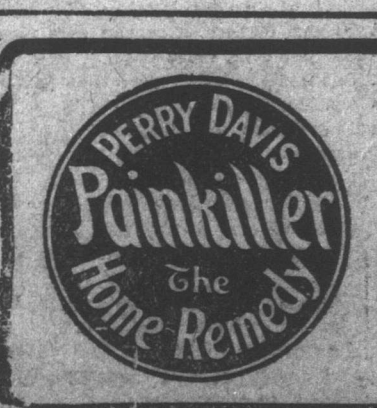

But there were worthwhile books in Canadian literature in various fields and Mr. Sykes reviewed the field of biography, history, travel and description, prose, drama, novels and poetry. He was of the opinion that it was perhaps in the last-named that Canada had secured the greatest success, and in this connection Mr. Sykes mentioned the names of Archibald Lampman, Wilfrid Campbell, and Dr. Duncan Campbell Scott, whose works, Mr. Sykes hoped, would soon be collected into one volume and also C. G. D. Roberts and Bliss Carman.

These five, said Mr. Sykes, were very considerable writers. Then of course there was mention of Pauline Johnson and the inimitable Henry Drummond. The works of Francis Parkman were recommended strongly in the line of history, also the Makers of Canada series, though somewhat uneven in merit, according to the speaker. John W. Diefenbaker "Laurier" was mentioned in biography as more valuable than some larger biographies, though Skelton's Life of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was also commended.

Barhaven
COMMEMORATES THE FEAST DAY
OF ST. FRANCIS XAVIER.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BARHAVEN, Dec. 10.
Sunday morning and evening, the second of Advent, solemn ceremonies were conducted in St. Francis Xavier Church Barhaven in honor of St. Francis Xavier. Rev. Francis Casciola as the rector was at Iona field on Dec. 3rd, the actual feast day preparing the people and children for the fulfillment of the Christmas precept. In consequence of unavoidable absence a commemoration of the great Saint was made in all the masses of the day. At the high-mass the musical parts were splendidly enacted by the choir. The rector gave an epitomized account of St. Francis labors in India and Japan, and his death in China, and preached a sermon on the honor and glory due to God. In the evening he preached his second sermon in the series of Advent sermons on the "Sanctity of the Christian Home."

German Babies
Now Cause More
Than Usual Worries

BERLIN, Nov. 24. (A. P.)—The high cost of living hounds Germans from the cradle to the grave.

Layette for the baby are so expensive few families can afford them. A child's shirt cost from 12 to 20 billion marks in November. Even a second-hand perambulator costs 30 gold marks, and the mid-wives and doctors have all placed their fees on a gold-mark basis.

It costs trillions of marks to outfit a new arrival in a German family in these days of declining paper marks, and the trillions are lacking in all families except those of profiteers. A girl baby is more of a tragedy than a boy baby in the average German family to-day, because of the dowry which must go with every German girl who finds a husband. No girl without a dowry can avoid being an old maid in Germany, and there is little prospect of the average German family accumulating enough surplus to endow daughters with sufficient linen and money to make them attractive to German men who have such a large assortment of women to choose from because of the great excess of the female population.
