

INSPECTORS FOR THE ATLAS LOAN

Seven Appointed by the Master-in-Ordinary.

AS AN ADVISORY COMMITTEE

From Present Indications Twenty Cents On the Dollar Will Be Paid Depositors.

Toronto, Nov. 14. — Seven inspectors of the Atlas were appointed by the master-in-ordinary today, the court, confirming the recommendation of the liquidator of each. They are: Ex-Mayor Chant, of St. Thomas; Dr. A. L. Laton and J. A. Kilpatrick, who were members of the former committee; T. Hickey, Jesse Wallis and John A. Cook, nominees of the M. C. R. employees, who are Atlas creditors, and W. L. Wickett, barrister, of St. Thomas, representing English creditors. They will act as advisory committee to the liquidator, and will meet in St. Thomas, probably next week, and consider the statement of the differences in the account between Ames & Co., and the Atlas Company, as agreed upon by the liquidator and Mr. Ames and published last Wednesday. They will also consider and report upon any compromise or offer. But the report will not be binding upon the court. The master will review the whole matter and come to an independent conclusion.

A wild plunge in syndicates and "blind" plunges, false entries, fictitious sales, padded reports to the Government, violation of the terms of the charter, which prohibited investment in American securities, and this violation after a warning from the Government — a loss of nearly one million of assets in a year, having assets now which at most will yield $225,000 to meet liabilities of over $800,000.

This is the story of the Atlas — a synopsis of the "previous chapters" in the most thrilling financial serial Ontario has had in many years. To the only question left, "What is there for the creditors?" of whom 1,108 are depositors for $500,111, of which nearly $400,000 have been "admitted" cannot now be definitely answered. But from the situation as it looks today they will be lucky if they get 20 cents on the dollar.

The full extent of the Atlas collapse may be realized better when it is recalled that the directors of the Farmers' Loan have received in all 85 cents on the dollar. In the Atlas almost every contributor is disputing his liability for unpaid shares. As counsel told the court yesterday, when the liquidator asked to have a shareholder placed on the list of contributors for $3,000 unpaid on 82 shares: "This company, which, under its Ontario charter was doing a safe, quiet loan business, was changed behind our backs into a speculative company by its Dominion charter of 1898, with its wider powers, making such variations as relieved us of any liability under our contract with the old Ontario Company."

Though President Wallace, a witness yesterday, told the court he believed all the shareholders had notice, Mr. Du Verney, for this one, W. S. Green, photographer, of Berlin, said: "We received none and are not liable." The master reserved his decision.

From all the contributions $25,000 is perhaps a safe estimate of what the liquidator expects to receive. This added to the present assets, which, though they appear to have cost the Atlas $500,000, will not, it is said, realize more than $225,000, means a total of $725,000 to meet the $800,000 of liabilities. But from this $725,000 must be deducted the expenses of the liquidation. The highest hope for the depositors and creditors generally, of whom there are a dozen in Toronto, with claims aggregating $50,000.

The Greatest Family Remedy.

And one well known to most Canadian homes is Nervine, a perfect panacea for all internal and external ailments. E. Cartwright, of Morris, says: "I couldn't think of being without Nervine. When I get a sick headache, or a trouble with my stomach or bowels, I can rely on Nervine to cure me promptly." To break up a cold or rub on for rheumatism or neuralgia, Nervine has no equal. It's priceless in any family. Nervine is king over all pain and costs 25c.

THE WRECK OF THE ATLANTIC

Fire Adds to the Perils of Storm-Tossed Ship.

THE HEROIC WORK OF THE CREW

Alone Saved the Passengers From Death—Boat Finally Burned to Water's Edge.

Parry Sound, Nov. 16. — The destruction of the steamer Atlantic, the Northern Navigation Company's line by the fire last week was fortunately attended with no loss of life, but the experience of the crew and the three passengers, Mrs. Free, of Byng Inlet, and her two small children was sufficiently terrible to render them extremely thankful for their escape from a watery grave. The greatest credit is given to the officers for their skillful handling of the boat, which alone prevented the recording of another marine disaster.

The Atlantic sailed from Collingwood with a full cargo, consisting of the most part of bare hay and barrels of coal oil. At 3 a. m. on the second day out, the wind freshened and soon blew a gale. Captain Wright endeavored to hold her in the trough of the sea, as she had always been known to ride easier there than in any other point in a blow, but it was discovered that she was making water rapidly. The pumps were put to work, but were unable to keep up with the inflow of water, and seeing the danger of the boat foundering, the captain decided to turn to shelter behind the Pancake Islands, in the hope of being able to ascertain the extent of the leak.

It was a desperate battle, and the race was long in doubt. The water was steadily gaining on the pumps, and it seemed as if the Red Rock Light would not be reached before the stern was submerged. The captain, however, was not discouraged, and the crew, under the leadership of the master, worked hard to keep the boat afloat. The pumps were working at full speed, the lighthouse was passed and preparations were made to launch the lifeboats as soon as the water in the holds reached the port fires. Shelter was reached, however, and the anchor dropped, and then the pumps began to go on the water. The cargo was shifted to place the boat on an even keel, and it was decided to head to Parry Sound, where she could be beached and assistance obtained.

Another more fearful danger was encountered. Within a short time after leaving the shelter fire was discovered in the hay forward of the starboard midship gangway, and it spread so rapidly that all on board were compelled to rush for the boats in order to save their lives. Captain Wright took Mrs. Free and her children with a portion of the crew in his boat, and First Officer Flynter had charge of sixteen men. A tug saw the ship wrecked, and the boats were successfully launched amidst immense volumes of smoke pouring from the ship. A short distance inside of Kill-Beck Point the tug Pilot was sighted, and the shipwrecked crew were rescued and picked up and brought into port in safety.

Nothing was saved, not even the passengers' baggage. The crew was compelled to assist at the wheel to hold the vessel in her course. Word has since been brought in by fishermen that the ship was picked up and burned to the water's edge. Mrs. Free and family took the stage for Byng Inlet and the crew returned to Collingwood by train.

THE GREAT DEMAND for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Ricketts' Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely vegetable compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

Kerosene inebriety is becoming common in many cities. The boys climb upon the tank car, place their faces over the manhole and thus inhale the fumes.

Chicago, Nov. 16. — Yielding to a mad but unconquerable desire to fight a swimmer's battle against a rush of waters, Eunice Munson, the 21-year-old daughter of Frederick W. Munson, of La Grange, jumped into the river from the Van Buren street bridge at 7 o'clock last night.

She expected death and hoped for it until she felt the chill of the river. Then Miss Munson experienced a change of heart, and when she came to the surface she began to swim with the current, calling for help.

P. H. Collins and Frank J. Ryan, the bridge-tenders at Harrison street, a block down the stream, heard her cries, ran to the shore and climbed into a scow. From the bow of the boat they were able to reach the floating form of the young woman with a bathhook. Miss Munson clutched the pole and was hauled to safety.

"I was impelled to jump into the river," she said. "I could not resist the spell of the water. The moment I was in I wanted to live. But I may want to jump in again."

A Beethoven Ceremony. Vienna, Nov. 16. — There was an interesting ceremony yesterday at the home of Beethoven, which is about to be demolished. A large gathering in the death chamber and other rooms listened to a performance of some of the composer's works. Speeches were made announcing that the doors, windows and other relics would be presented to the municipality as a nucleus for a new Beethoven museum.

Doyle for Commons. London, Nov. 16. — Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the author, has received the Conservative nomination for Parliament in the Border Burghs.

BAYLEY'S

BULL BROKE UP PRACTICE

Bovine Wouldn't Stand for Cornell's Red Jersey.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 12. — The Cornell varsity football eleven sought a change today, and instead of lining up on Percy Field, the team and first subs were taken on a taily-ride to South Lansing, seven miles up Cayuga Lake, where signals were run through in conclusion.

The Ithacans, however, were confronted with an unexpected and unconquerable adversary in the shape of a big Holstein bull, which was quietly pasturing in an adjoining lot when Quarter-back Brewster gave the first signal. The red jersey which the Ithacans wore soon attracted the attention of the bull and enraged him, and he charged, bellowing, over the fence and bore down on the Cornell football aspirants just as Coffin was going through the line.

While the Ithacans expect to be able to hold Columbia, they do not pretend to know how to tackle such an adversary as a maddened bull, and consequently they scattered in every direction and sought a neighboring barn as an asylum. Coach Warner megaphoned to an adjoining farm, and the owner finally led the angry intruder off the field.

GREAT MINERAL WEALTH

Rich Nickel Deposits Found in New Ontario.

Toronto, Nov. 16. — The Ontario Government has, by order in council, dated Nov. 11, 1903, withdrawn from sale, lease or exploration, under the provisions of the mines act, a belt of land ten miles wide on each side of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railroad, beginning near the Township of Wildfield, and extending to the town of New Liskeard. The reason for the action is that important discoveries of nickel, cobalt, silver and arsenic have been made, and it has been thought best to reserve the land for the time being, since 20,000 acres per mile along the route of the railway have been set aside for the building of the road.

Professor W. G. Miller, acting under instructions from T. W. Gibson, director of the bureau of mines, who recently visited the country, is at present examining the deposits, and his letters are most sanguine. The deposits discovered are entirely unlike anything that has hitherto been found in Ontario. One of the ores found is niccolite, bearing 41 per cent nickel. Another is cobalt nickel arsenide, carrying 6 per cent nickel and 18 per cent cobalt. Arsenic occurs up to 72 per cent in some of these ores. In addition some rare specimens of native silver have been found.

The veins so far discovered lie about five miles south of Haliburton. Professor Miller describes some of the samples of ore as "wonderful."

FASCINATED BY WATER

She Leaps Into River and Then Swims for Life.

PRIEST ABDUCTED BY THE MAFIA

Was Feared Clergyman Had Been Murdered.

RECEIVED OMINOUS LETTERS

In Which His Death Was Predicted If the Society Was Not Given $3,000.

New York, Nov. 15. — The abduction, if not murder of Rev. Giuseppe Ciriglione, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church at Williamsbridge, by agents of an Italian secret society, to whom he would not give up $3,000 demanded, has caused a profound sensation here, following as it does a series of murders and outrages by these banditti, in none of which have the guilty been brought to justice. The Italian portion of the population is so terrorized that it will not testify against secret society men even when they are the victims, for they have found that to tell what they know means sudden and awful death.

It is known to the police that there are half a dozen or more regularly organized bands of Italians who live and grow rich blackmailing their countrymen, and when their demands are not met they do not hesitate to use the knife or the pistol. So thorough is their system of terrorization that the police are absolutely unable to get sufficient evidence to convict. New York is rapidly approaching the condition of New Orleans at the time of the celebrated Media riots which occurred some years ago.

This last outrage, the abduction of Father Ciriglione, will, it is said, lead to systematic effort to root out those bandits and the United States secret service will be asked to cooperate.

The abduction of Father Ciriglione was peculiarly bold. Last evening at 8 o'clock two men, who claimed to be police officers, called at the church rectory and told Father Ciriglione that Captain Foody, that a man had been arrested, and that the captain wanted to see the priest about him.

Father Ciriglione immediately left the house with the two men, who had told the servant they were police officers.

ATTACKS THE WAR OFFICE

Wolsley's Books Dub Great Britain "The Unready."

London, Nov. 16. — Gen. Lord Wolsley's interesting volume, constituting his "Story of a Soldier's Life," are published here. While only being the story of his career up to the Ashantee war, incidentally they are a strong attack on the administration and the defenses of two branches of the service.

Lord Wolsley describes England as the "unready nation," and says: "We are never ready for war, yet we never have had a cabinet which would dare to tell the people this truth. Our absolute unreadiness for war is known to all our thoughtful soldiers, and without doubt all the details which go to make the fact are duly recorded in a docketed in the war office of every European nation."

Lord Wolsley adjures the "iconoclastic civilian officials" of the War Office to keep their hands off the regiment, and strongly denounces the present system of appointing civilian war ministers, under which, he declares, "we shall never have an army ready for rapid mobilization." He thinks that some sort of compulsory service is necessary.

Among the interesting reflections scattered through the book is the expression of the writer's opinion that the Chinese are the most remarkable race on earth, and are destined to be the great coming rulers of the world.

THE SANTO DOMINGO WAR

Heavy Fighting Reported Around the Capital.

Santo Domingo, Nov. 16. — There was heavy fighting on Thursday morning. The town is divided into two camps, the insurgents, and there was considerable cannonading on both sides. The town is unchanged. The United States fleet, Baltimore arrived here on Thursday afternoon. Business is at a standstill.

Washington, Nov. 16. — Confirmatory information of the attack on San Domingo city by the revolutionists reached the United States department in England as reported by Minister Howell. He reported that the revolutionists were attacking the city on three sides. There were no other details. The cruiser Baltimore is at San Domingo, so that American interests will be given full protection.

KILLED HIS FAMILY

The Pathetic Tragedy of a Saginaw Dentist.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 16. — Dr. E. W. Light, a dentist, committed suicide on Friday night at his home, No. 313 South Jefferson avenue, after fatally shooting his wife and daughter, Ruby, a girl of 18. The tragedy was not discovered until several days later.

A friend in Bay City, alarmed by a letter he received from Dr. Light, written on Sunday, came here and entered the Light home. Mrs. Light was found on her bed with a bullet through her head, but not quite dead, while the daughter had escaped in her nightgown as far as the kitchen, where she was shot down and killed. Dr. Light had then returned upstairs and committed suicide, though by what means is not determined, as no wounds of any kind were found on his body.

His left letters in which he confesses the intended crime, and asks that no inquest or post-mortem be held, and that the bodies be not taken from the house until the funeral, threatening insanity to those who acted contrary to his wishes.

The United States life-saving service costs $1,700,000 a year.

He tells about the cure in the following words: "I cannot remember Doan's Kidney Pills too highly. I never took anything that did me so much good. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and could scarcely get up or down without help. I could hardly urinate, but when I did the pain was terrible. I was in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last winter and when I came out I was some better but not cured. It was then I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Since taking them I have been completely cured and have not had any trouble with my kidneys since."
