LITERATURE.

In the Days of the Canada Company.

The foint authors of this book, " In the Days of the Canada tompany," have given us a faithful picture of the life, and of the men and women who lived it, in the early days of settlement of that part of 1 pper canada known in the twenties and thirties as the " Haron Canada.

Tract."

From a phase of authentic and original

From a pease of authentic and original matter celleal do-uneuts private letters and diarree, as well as from the recoilection of many retonitive momories of tales and ancedotes in which the first settlers bore a part, they have produced not only a readable book but a volume of great value to the instory of Ganada. Formed in the days of great company was one of the greats and most far reaching in its influence. It numbered among its originators and promotors men of moto, of literary ability and fame, and mon of gouins, of birth of eccentricity men whose education and up-brugging fitted them to headle a pen or a sword rather than to wield an axe or guide a plough; men who see education and up-brugging fitted them to headle a pen or a sword rather than to wield an axe or guide a plough; men who see of the great part of the state, folibles, or follies of learning and rofunements of the height of civilization into the incongruous setting of an untouched primewal forest—cast in their low with the Company, crossed the Atlantic to endure privations and hardships not included in their expectations, and became an important factor in the settlement of the land. Their experiences and individuality have provided many an attractive picture or racy ancedoto to grace the pages of this delightful chronicle.

The records and stories are strung together with the kindly genius of a facile and rapid pen. The men are depicted neither better our worse than they were in life; the situations, the refuse among such a clientele of characters, the successes, the failures, the refuse and on the course, the ordering them more realistic, and we are carried back to the past by the vivid portraiture until we see and know the men and dwenne so clevely placed upon these pages. The lover of nature will find delight in the nany exquisite descriptive passages that cound in the book, and for which the glorious sunsot of Lako Huron and them many picture sque spots in that section of the previous offer tempting subjects for brush or pen and contrained or pen.

The numerous illustrations scattered throughout the volume will add much to its value. Blany are reproduction of old protraits or sketches that would otherwise have been lost. The letterpress and binding too, will be made worthy of the subject-matter.

The Contury.

The October Contury contains "A Study of Mental Epidemics," by Mr. Boris Sidis, which has a close bearing on American affairs past and contomporaneous. He gives an analysis of the social evidences of the poriod of the Crusades and the norvous epidemics of Europe, and explains the theory of mental suggestion or hypnotism, by which the susceptible portion of a tribe or a people or a group of peoples, give themselves up to a popular movement.

A Canadian Writer in Donahoe's

The October number of Donahoe's Magazine presents to readers a varied table of contents including articles of contemporaneous interest, historic sketches, short stories, and poems of marked literary merit. The issue opens with a deeply interesting study of the life and works of Cadinal Taschoreau, the Canadian prelate, whose failing health presages a national loss, all too imminor. The writer Wm. Ellison, portrays the characteristics of the man, scholar and priest, whose death will remove "one of the strongest supports of the Church in Canada."

Rov. Dr. Foley Welcomed Home-

HALIFAX, Oct. 12—At the regular monthly meeting of St. Mary's Young Men's T. A. & B. Society yesterday the members presented to their spiritual director, Rev. Dr. Foley, who arrived from Rome on Friday and address, in which they said:
Your mission abroad was a noble one, and when the Irishmen of your native city selected you as their representative to the Dublin convention we felt that the duty could not have been entrusted to one more capable or worthy.

entrusted to one more capable or worthy.

We watched with a sense of pride and interest your movements abroad, and when the nowe reached us of the opening of the Convention and we read your wise and manly words addressed to the Irishmen of the world, we recognized the since city of a prolific mind the firm and worthy utterances of a noble heart.

We learned with pleasure of your visit to Rome, and trust that while in the Papal city you had the honor of an audience with the Holy Father.

The address was signed by Thomas Brown, president and the members of the committee.

Dr. Bergin's Condition.

Commall, Ort., Oct. 12.—Dr. Borgin was apparently so far recovered yester day morning that he was seasisted out of bed to take breakfast, despite the at tending physician's instructions to the coatrary. This resulted in him taking a bad turn, but he rested well last night, and to-day seemed none the worse. His condition is much the same as it was last week. The improvement, if any, is slight.
