THE TRUE WITNESS, AND CATHOLIC CHRONICLE, -APRIL 28, 1876. ETTOT OF AT TT

A Trial of Patience.

A short time ago, a parish priest in a country district in Ireland, experienced a severe test of his patience and good humor. A niece of the clergypatience and good number to a wealthy parishioner, B. V. PIERCE, M.D.: and the good priest determined to give the weddingbreakfast in his own house. He prepared a royal feast; every one of note for miles around was in-The appointed day came and the ceremony was celebrated with great solemnity. Just as the guests were about to set down to the sumptuous spread, a messenger came with an urgent sick call. The guists, in compliment to his reverence, resolved to await his return. The pricet had his horse saddled, and rode off to the end of his parish to atsaddied, and role on to the end of his parish to at-tend to a poor old man who was drags. Having administered all the Sacraments green on this solemn occasion, he re-mounted his horse, and, giving whip and spur, flew back to bis merry company. He had scaucely left the room, when the sick man called for the priest for another moment. His voice being feeble, the priest did not hear him ; at this moment, the old man's son came into the room and heard him calling for the priest, and he too was late; he, too, called and was not heard, through the noise of the galloping horse. The son believinghis father had still something of importance ance to communicate to priest, immediately leaped on his own horse, and followed in hot pursuit of bis reverence. The priest arrived home, and had just assembled his hungry guests, when the old man's son came in breathless, and begged the priest to come again to his father; he had called for him; and the son pleaded with all the urgency of the moment as the old man had only a short time to live. The good priest bade his friends amuse themselves, and mounting his panting horse proceeded gently to the sick man's house. Arrived the old man turned towards him with an affectionate look, and said, "Oh 1 your Reverence, I forgot to say-to say-good-bye to you !"

> How to go to Sleep. MR. BUTTERWICK'S EXPERIMENT.

Mr. Butterwick, of Roxborough, had a fit of sleeplessness one night lately, and after vainly trying to lose himself in slumber he happened to remember that he once read in an almanac that a remember that he once read in an almanac that a man could put hinself to sleep by imagining that he saw a flock of sheep jumping over a fence, and by counting them as they jumped. He determined to try the experiment, and closing his eyes he to aid the scheriment and heren to count fancied the sheep jumping, and began to count. He had reached his one hundred and fortieth sheep, and was beginning to doze off, when Mrs. Butterwick suddenly said :

"Joseph !"

" O what ?"

" I believe that yellow hen of ours wants to set." "O don't bother me with such nonsense as that now! Do keep quiet and go to sleep."

Then Butterwick started his sheep again, and commenced to count. He got up to one hundred and twenty, and was feeling as if he would drop off at any moment, whea, just as his one hundred and twenty-first sheep was about to take that fence, one of the twins ibegan to cry.

" Hang that child," he shouted at Mrs, Butterwick ; " why don't you tend to it and put it to sleep. Hush up, you little imp, or I'll spank you !"

When Mrs. Butterwick had quieted it Butterwick, although a little nervous and excited, concluded to try it again. Turning on the imaginary mutton, he began. Only sixty-four sheep had slid over the fence, when Butterwick's mother-in-law knocked at the door, and asked if he was awake. When she learned that he was, she said she believed he had forgotten to close the back shutters, and she thought she heard burglars in the yard.

Then Butterwick ar se in wrath and went down to see about it. He ascertained that the shutters were closed as usual, and as he returned to bed he resolved that Mrs. Butterwick's mother would leave the house for good in the morning, or he would. However, he thought he might as well give the al-manac plan another trial, and setting the sheep in motion he began to count. This time he reached two hundred and forty, and would probably have got to sleep before the three hundredth sheep jumped, had not Mix's new dog in the next yard suddenly become homesick, and begun to express be impaired by age. They are also made from fresh herbs and roots, gathered in their appropriate season, when they are flush with medicinal properties. In support of these claims, the following testimony is offered :

NEWARE, N.J. Dear Sir,-I have sold a great deal of your excellen remedies, and I prefer to sell them before others, because they give good satisfaction to those who use them. I hear such remarks as "Sage's Remedy completely cured me; it is a splendid thing," or, "Pierce's Discovery is just what I wanted; I feel better than I ever did." One of our celebrated singers uses it for strengthening her voice, and says "there is nothing equals it;" and so I might give scores of emarks said about your preparations. A colored woman was using your Discovery, and after taking three bottles was completely cured. She, being in the store, said to me, "I dou't want no doctors 'round me so long as I can get the Discovery ; it beats all your doctors." And so I might 60 OD.

I am, most respectfully, yours, ATHA B. CROOKS.

Attention has been called to the fact that innsmuch as salts of Hypophosphites are more readily absorbed by the system, they are better indicated as auxiliaries with which to improve the Blood, and generally to cure wasting diseases, than all other preparations from Phosphorus.

And since Phosphorus enters so largely into the animal economy it becomes par excellence the best vehicle with which to associate the other vitalizing ingredients of healthy blood, nerve and muscle, In Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites are combined all the substances found necessary to insure robust health, and, whereas, it was invented with a view to supply every deficiency, it certainly has performed some wonderful cures.

his feelings in a series of prolonged and exasperat ing howls.

Butterwick was indignant. Neglecting the sheep. be leaped from bed and began to bombard Mix's object he could lay his hands on. He hit the animal at last with a plaster bust of Daniel Wedster, and induced the dog to retreat to the stable and think about home in silence.

It seemed almost ridiculous to resume those sheep again, but he determined to give the almanac man one more chance, and so as they began to jump the fence he began to count, and after seeing the eighty-second sheep safely over, he was gliding gently in the land of dreams when Mrs. Butterwick rolled out of bed and fell on the floor with such violence that she waked the twins and started them crying, while Butterwick's mother-in-law came down stairs, four steps at a time to ask if they felt that earthquoke, The situation was too awful for words. Butter-wick regarded it for a moment with speechless indignation, and then seizing a pillow he went over to the sofa in the back sitting room and lay down on the lounge.

Hefell asleep in ten minutes without the assistance of the almanac, but he dreamed. all night that he was being butted around the equator by a Cotswold ram, and he woke in the morning with a terrible headache and a conviction that sheep are good enough for wool and chops, but not worth a cent as a narcotic .--- Phila. WHICH SHALL I TAKK ?

This is often a serious question with the invalid. He finds the market flooded with proprietary medicines, scores of which are recommended as certain cures for his peculiar ailment. He reads the papers, circulars, and almanacs, and finds 'cach' sustained by plausable arguments setting forth its virtues and specific action. The recommendations are as strong for one as for another. The cures claimed to have been wrought by another. In his perplexity and doubt, the sufferer is sometimes led to reject all. But it should be borne in mind that this condition of things is one that cannot be remedied. In a land where all are free, the good-the truly valuablemust come into competition with the vile and worthless, and must be brought to public notice by the same instrumentality, which is advertising. In such a case, perhaps the only absolute proof that a remedy is what it claims to be, is to try it. The "test of a pudding is the eating of it." "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good," is the apostolic injunction. There may, however, be stronger presumptive evidence in favor of one remedy than there is in favor of another, and this should be allowed its due weight. A due regard to this may save a vast amount of experimenting and a useless outlay of money. As presumptive evidence in favor of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, the Proprietor desires to say, that they are prepared by a new and scientific process by which the virtues of the crude plants and roots are extracted without the use cf.a. particle of alcohol. Not a particle of this destroyer. of our race enters into the composition of either his Golden Medical Discovery or Favorite Prescription. This consideration alone ought certainly to rank them high above the vile compounds saturated with alcohol, Jamaica rum, sour beer, or vinegar, which are everywhere offered for sale. Again, they are of uniform strength, and their virtues can never
