

them, and they would be very much displeased, if I were to go without; there is no use in talking about it,—I must go to school.” (To be continued.)

TEMPER AND TEMPERANCE.

A NUMBER of men and boys were resting in the shadow of the great barn of Fernshaw, discussing a hasty lunch in the noon of a busy harvest day, while the