

great responsibilities that this post in the University of Toronto involves. I have found that many students in the University would like to pursue historical studies more thoroughly than they are encouraged to do under the present curriculum, and I should hope, if appointed, to see the course of study in History enlarged and improved at an early date.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed) GEO. M. WRONG.