Are You Able to Out-guess This Fellow?

IN the world's series that is now going on, the players who can out-guess their opponents are the ones who will do most toward winning the championship. It's because Lajjie and Cobb are the best guessers in the big leagues, that they're each being presented with an automobile.

But there's one man that no human being has yet succeeded in out-guessing. He goes by the nickname of "old probs." and is officially known as the weather man. Especially at this time of the year, you never know when he's going to strike you out. He may be putting straight ones over for a week, and when he's teased you back into your Summer suit, he'll "swat" you with a blizzard.

There's only one way to beat the weather man—be prepared for anything, and being prepared for anything is just another way of saying "buy one of our new College Ulsters," the kind that has made such a hit already this season.

Come and pick yours out to-morrow from the most attractive stock in town.
